

Apples Combine With Ginger

The combination of apple and ginger flavors is one of the world's most loved ones, and here's a way to give ginger flavor to the apple pie. Use this crust under the regular apple mixture.

GINGER SNAP CRUST

1 1/2 cup ginger snap crumbs
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup butter
Roll ginger snaps to a fine crumb consistency. Mix thoroughly with the hands and pat into a pie tin. Save about 1/4 of crumbs to sprinkle on top of filling. Cool two hours or more in refrigerator before filling with apple mixture. Makes one 9-inch pie and serves six.

Low Cost Food Ideas Given

Milk, eggs and butter all have prominent places in a list of low-cost menus for one month just issued in bulletin form by the extension service at Oregon State college. The bulletin not only includes menus, but also recipes for the foods recommended.

The food value a family receives from its meals does not depend entirely on the amount spent for food, the bulletin points out. A homemaker who is a good manager may frequently keep her family well fed on a very meager income, while another may have her family undernourished while spending

Dairy Industry Aids Discussed

Sales Promotion Favored by two Groups Which Meet in Corvallis

CORVALLIS, Feb. 22.—(P)—An industry-wide sales promotion campaign was endorsed by the Oregon Dairy Manufacturers' association at the final meeting of its annual convention today.

Improved dairy products, laboratory facilities at Oregon State college were demanded. A resolution describing the college creamery laboratory as deplorable and criticizing former resolutions and committees for failure to get the laboratory modernized was adopted.

The association approved appointment of a special committee to work with producers in getting the legislature to levy a small assessment on all forms of butter-fat, the funds to be used in a state and national sales campaign.

Milton Hult, Chicago, National Dairy Council president, led a discussion of producers and manufacturers in which the necessity for more consumption because of a certain increase in production was pointed out.

Officers Elected
Andrew Tachella, Portland, was elected president and U. S. Long, Tillamook, vice-president. Others elected included F. F. Moser, Corvallis, treasurer; G. H. Wilater, Oregon State college, secretary, and John D. Goss, Kenath Poolton, Lyle, Hammond, all of Portland; J. H. Bigler, Mount Angel; Percy Murray, Klamath Falls, and J. H. Runners up in the fresh butter contest included George Meier, Curley's dairy, Salem; P. A. Bales, Sunnybrook dairy, Corvallis.

Herd Improvement Test Interests Polk Dairy Farmers; Program Will Be Double to Serve More Members

DALLAS—Interest of dairy farmers in Polk county has been centered on a herd improvement association testing to the extent that it now appears necessary to employ a second tester.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Polk County association it was decided to put the association on a double program basis in order to permit several who had applied for membership to join the association and begin a testing program. It is interesting to note that during the past two years cows in the association herds have increased in annual butter fat production over 60 pounds per cow. This amount of increase assists materially in adding to the profits of a herd, states W. C. Leth, county agent.

At the meeting of the board of directors it was brought out that by increasing the size of the association that approximately 15 new herds can be accepted. The directors agreed to accept them in order in which membership applications are received and also give some preference to larger herds or those taking a full-day of testing work, if necessary.

Application blanks may be received at the county agent's office or by contacting some of the present members of the association. The cost of testing varies from 20 cents per cow to 10 cents per cow per month depending on the size of the herd. There is an initial membership fee of $3.

Complete records are prepared on each cow in each herd. Not only is the total butter fat production given but also the complete cost accounts and the money value of the product credited to the animal. The testing book which is supplied to each owner gives complete information, the total cost for each animal as well as the total return from each month.

Officers and directors of the association can supply complete information to anyone interested. They are: H. N. Dickinson, Independence; M. E. Findley, Rickreall; George Woods, Dallas; Fred Werth, Williams; Dick De Jong, Ballston.

It is planned to start the new unit of the association in April providing an experienced tester can be hired by that time and also providing a full time membership is secured.
