Grand Jury to Report, Jones

Probers to Make Findings Known Before Weekend, Says Prosecutor

The Marion county grand jury will report before the end of the week on current criminal matters and on the alleged shortages in the office of the Salem city recorder, according to an announcement yesterday of District Attorney Lyle J. Page.

The jury has been at work for more than four weeks and has made no report with one exception which concerned four criminal cases.

A report on the matter of the city recorder will bring to an end an investigation which started last November when Page brought the alleged shortages to the attention of the jury. It was not certain whether a report will be made in the case of William Parker and Orin McDowell, Jr., charged with unlawful use of the remains of a human body, since it is not certain that certain of the witnesses necessary to the case were not available.

Plans for Cootie Hop Progressing

Proceeds to Be Spent Upon Furnishings for new VFW Building Here

With committees working methodically, reports coming in encouragingly of aroused interest in surrounding communities and the advance sale of tickets going on apace, reports of committee chairmen to the regular meeting of Carry On Puptent No. 6, Military Order of the Cootie, honor degree of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, at its regular meeting at Eagles hall, foretell the attendance of a record crowd at the dance and floor show, scheduled for Wednesday night, March 27, at Crystal Gardens, according to the sponsors. The dance and show is sponsored by the Cooties to raise funds for furnishing the interior of the VFW veterans' building, in course of construction at Hood and Church streets.

Both floors of Crystal Gardens will be operated by the Cooties, featuring oldtime and modern dancing, and, besides, special talent has been engaged to furnish entertainment during the rest periods. Written invitations have been extended to 15 VFW posts and their auxiliaries and four Cootie units, in Portland, Eugene and Vancouver, Wash., to attend. Cooties will attend in uniform and it is probable that the Cootie drum corps of Portland tent No. 1 will be present.

A special meeting has been set for Thursday night, March 21, at 288 South Commercial street, where arrangements will be completed and members assigned to important posts to take care of and entertain the guests. Members from Scio, Silverton, Stayton and Silver Creek Falls were present at the last meeting and brought reports of enlivened interest. The standing committee on arrangements is composed of Cooties Ralph Harlan, George Feller and Lester Jones.

1st Bacteria-less Beer Glass Found

Checking of food handlers' equipment recently by Batty Cooper, city sanitary inspector, revealed a beer glass in an unnamed local establishment entirely without bacteria. This was the first ever found within the city entirely lacking bacteria. A count of 50 is the maximum number allowed.

Other utensils had exceptionally low counts, according to Cooper. An excessive number results in investigation of dish-washing methods.
