Bounty on Infant Cougars Refused

The state is not obligated to pay bounty on predatory animals killed before such time as their eyes are naturally opened, Attor- trict, Multnomah county. ney General I. H. Van Winkle ruled Saturday.

The state game commission advised Van Winkle that hunters sometimes kill the mother and obtain cougar kittens by a caesarian operation. Van Winkle held that slaying of cougar kittens too young to survive after eradication of their mother would in no way be a protection to game or fur bearing animals. The opinion was asked by game commission.
