Demaret and Mangrum Still Lead Masters' Golf Meet

1-Stroke Lead Held by Jimmy

Snead and Wood Are Close on Heels of Leaders; Others Trail Badly

By BILL BONI

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6—(AP)—It's still Jimmy Demaret and Lloyd Mangrum, the "laughing boys" of the golf links, in the Augusta masters' tournament.

Going into tomorrow's final round of this climactic tournament of the winter season, the wide-grinning kid from Houston will be leading Mangrum by one shot. They were tied at 36 holes, but this afternoon Demaret, even though he wasn't feeling any too well, clipped the exacting Augusta National Golf club course for a 70, two under par, to post a 54-hole total of 209 compared to Mangrum's 210.

They aren't the only horses in the race. Coming fast down the stretch are slugging Sam Snead and Craig Wood, the man who was beaten by a nose in the first two masters' tournaments in 1934 and 1935.

Snead, starting four strokes off the 36-hole, moved up a notch on a 69 for 212. Wood, six shots back at the halfway mark, cut that deficit in two with a brilliant five-under-par 67 that tied him with Snead for third place and included a 31 that was the best first nine score of the tourney so far.

Also in a contending position is Henry Picard. The PGA champion from Hershey, Pa., has been moving along in unspectacular but steady fashion. Today he had a 71. It was his third straight 71, and it brought him in alone at 213.

Back of these five men, the pack stretches out with little hope for anything but minor shares of the prize money and a chance of finishing in the first 30 and thus qualifying automatically for next year's tournament.

Mule Saves Life Of Thoroughbred By Transfusion

LOS ANGELES, April 6—(AP)—This is the story of an humble mule named Tijuana Red who saved the life of a valuable thoroughbred race horse, Profundo.

The big mule, it was learned today, gave two blood transfusions which saved the South American 5-year-old from death by lockjaw.

Several days ago Profundo, owned by Bing Crosby and Lin Howard, developed lockjaw. Howard, the trainer, gave him up to die, but learned that a mule in nearby Buena park, once similarly stricken, might be found and his blood used as a counter-attack on the disease.

Tijuana Red was finally located, and a blood transfusion—probably the first attempted on a thoroughbred of Profundo's rank—was made and the Argentine promptly rallied.

Silver Falls CCC Camp to Receive

Veterans to Commemorate Anniversary With Open House

SILVER CREEK—Open house in observance of the seventh anniversary of the establishing of CCC camps in the nation will be held today from 1 until 4:30 o'clock at the Silver Creek Falls camp S-P-9, Veterans' company.

The 162 veterans enrolled at the camp will act as guides to show visitors through the buildings and grounds and also through the recently completed facilities for campers in the state park. Among the newer buildings is the concession building constructed of natural rock and logs, 112 feet by 55 feet, in the state park.

The Silver Creek camp is on the main highway of the Salem loop from Silverton approach to the Silver Falls state park and is located several miles before the picnic grounds of South Falls.

Army personnel of the camp include Lin Shields, company commander; Dr. Johnson, company doctor, and C. D. Wallace, educational advisor.

A similar open house was held last Sunday at the Mill City CCC camp.

Otto Jaretz Wins AAU Swim Title

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—Otto Jaretz, Chicago "boy wonder" of swimming circles, turned on the heat in the last 15 yards tonight to win the national indoor 100-yard title, first final of the AAU's championship meet.

The 18-year-old husky, representing the Chicago Towers club, took over the lead coming down the last length of the New York AC's 25-yard pool and finished inches in front of the national collegiate title holder, Gus Sharemet of the University of Michigan. Jaretz was clocked in 52.3 seconds.

Frosh Down Jeff, 14-4

EUGENE, April 6—(AP)—University of Oregon freshmen hammered out 11 hits and cashed in on nine Jefferson high school errors today to defeat the Jeffs, 14-4. Robertson, frosh catcher, hit a home run with the bases full.

That Man Dumont Has new Wrinkle: Would Wire Umpires for Sound, so Folks Could Hear all Those Things

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Ray Dumont, who took the squat, stoop and squint out of the umpire's job by installing an automatic home plate duster, has come up with another idea. He's going to wire the players and umpires for sound.

Dumont is the sputtering little cigar-eating maestro who built the national semi-pro baseball congress from a peanut into an elephant. Last year about 125,000 persons saw his district champions battle it out in the national finals at Wichita, and he put on a show that made a world series pallid by comparison.

His latest innovation is a pneumatic microphone which will pop up the moment a player starts arguing with an umpire. The words will be carried to the fans in the stands, which would seem quite unnecessary. Most of the words used in such debates are strong enough to walk alone.

In fact, it is the sulphuric nature of the words and phrases some of which even drift to the stands to singe ears and bring color to the cheeks of feminine patrons, which would seem to doom the loud-speaker idea to an early death.

Don't Say Please

Even the most naive fan does not believe that a pitcher rushing up to a plate umpire with gestures promising first-degree mayhem is saying: "Please, Mr. Umpire, I'm quite certain that was a strike. Pardon my interruption."

Or that all managers are as considerate as Casey Stengel, who has been known to hoist himself from the dugout, place his hands in his hip pockets, thrust out his jaw and amble menacingly toward a boy in blue to bellow:

"Isn't this a lovely day for a game."

Whether or not the idea of making the disputes between players and umpires public property ever will be practical remains to be seen, but Dumont says his plate dusting idea proved its merit in its debut last year.

He agrees that major league umpires probably would object to the device. A whisk broom is as much a part of a plate umpire as his mask, and many an argument has been ended by the umpire reaching in his hip pocket, bringing out his personal duster, and walking over to the plate to offer himself as a target for a well-aimed No. 10.

We never saw the automatic duster in action, but it apparently includes the best attributes of a street sweeper and a threshing machine.

McCarthy Thinks Yanks Can Do It

MEMPHIS, April 6—(AP)—A cold spring rain forced the New York Yankees into their first postponement of the exhibition season today and as the players sat around the hotel lobby Manager Joe McCarthy took issue with persons who think the pennant will elude the Yanks.

"I'm just reading an argument," he said, "to prove we can't win this year because no team ever won five straight pennants. A year ago they said we couldn't win four straight and we couldn't win the world's championship four times in a row.

"Why not? Who's got anything better than we have?"

The Yanks were scheduled against the Memphis Chicks today and again tomorrow.

Baltimorean Wins Marathon Junket

BALTIMORE, April 6.—(AP)—It was just like the old marathon master would have liked it today when another Baltimorean won the first annual Annapolis-to-Baltimore, Pat Dengis memorial marathon race.

Don Heinicke, 22-year-old Baltimore chemical worker and a close friend of the late Pat Dengis, covered the 26-mile, 385-yard course from Annapolis to Baltimore city hall in 2 hours, 41 minutes and 3 1-5 seconds.

Jonas, Stickle at Spokane

SPOKANE, April 6.—(AP)—Pete Jonas and Ned Stickle, former teammates at Whitman college and now the property of the Seattle Rainiers baseball team, reported today at the Spokane Indians' training camp.
