May Queen Honored

The members of the royal court for the May festivities on the Willamette campus were honored yesterday with a tea given at the Delta Phi sorority on Court street. Calling hours were between 3 and 5 o'clock. Friends and students of Willamette university called during the afternoon. Miss Martha Rose Roddy greeted the guests at the door and Miss Rowens Upjohn introduced to the line, which was composed of Queen Betty Starr, wearing a white brocaded taffeta gown trimmed with royal blue, Princess Lois Herman wearing a frock of white faille and Princess Verna Vosper wearing a pink net dress. Others in the line were Mrs. Mabel Vosper of Portland, Mrs. C. L. Starr of Portland, Mrs. Frank James and Miss Olive M. Dahl. Each one carried old-fashioned nosegays.

The tea table which was covered with pink organdy cloth was coverentered with a bouquet of pink Book for and white tulips guarded by lighted pink tapers. Mrs. Daniel Schulze and Mrs. E. C. Richards poured during the first hour and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson and Mrs. J. C. Harrison poured the last hour. Those assisting with Elizabeth James, Miss Margaret Miss Eleanor Perry and Miss Doris I-riggs.

and Mrs. George H. Otten, is in the cast of "Robin Hood," which is to be presented by the students Goucher college as part of the May day celebration on May 4. The May day festivities will be held on the new campus on which the college plans to break ground for the first dormitory unit on June 8.

Patricia Otten, daughter of Mr. Although, we of Western Oregon, know a great deal more about the pleasures of fresh caught fish than the average American, the Browns tell us a lot about ways of cooking familiar treasures from the sea and write chapters of information about the less familiar piscine Prizes.

To make "Fish and Seafood Cookbook" a practical one for the cook, methods and descriptions have been arranged alphaetically with actual recipes included in the pages.

Making the book far above the verage for readability, the authors, noted for their humorous style in writing, have given a short history and description of each listed fish.

General directions for cooking fish, simple sauces, stuffing and dressings, some famous fish dishes and sea food take up the remaining instructive and highly entertaining chapters.

Although such recipes as jellied eel, frogs' legs saute, pot roasted sugar and flour, add to eggs and alligator tail and Peruvian sebihe are not of universal appeal, the authors generously offer such baking sheet and bake in hot practical suggestions as recipes even (425 degrees) 15 to 20 min-
