In One Ear...

We were walking past a bakery last night when we noticed a sign that said, "Come in and hear our musical cakes."

When the girl came to wait on us we told her we wanted to hear a musical cake.

The girl got out some of the musical attachments (the cakes come extra) and played them for us.

The girl told us they have quite a call for the musical cakes, but that the music boxes aren't sold.

Lots of people like music with their cakes, but it's more fun than a picnic when you have a birthday," she said.

Fatal Rioting Is Made to M... Ballot

Candidates Assert Bloodshed Is Certain as Votes Are Cast

Newspaper Demonstrator Is Victim; Almazan and Camacho in Race

MEXICO CITY, July 6.—(AP)—The killing of one newspaper and critical wounding of another in a pre-election street riot late today brought a warning from the newspaper Ultimas Noticias of a "savagely fatal tomorrow" when Mexico's estimated 2,000,000 voters vote for a new president.

While government officials insisted "There can be no revolution," the camps of the rival candidates predicted widespread bloodshed and Ultimas Noticias asked:

"If this (the shooting) took place in the vicinity of half a dozen newspapers and news agencies, what will happen in regions beyond the frontiers of civilization?"

The riot occurred when 200 newspaper supporters of the anti-administration candidate, Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, demonstrated in front of the headquarters of the marine department workers, who, with Mexico's other unions, are backing the administration candidate, Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho.

In addition to the one death, three boys were injured, one so severely he was expected to die. Police tonight imprisoned 10 union members, after rescuing other occupants of the building from the angry boys.

Substantially the entire army of 52,000 was kept to barracks and police were on the alert.

General Almazan and President Lazaro Cardenas, who is backing General Manuel Avila Camacho as his successor, exchanged congratulations in newspaper statements.

Saloons were ordered closed and a complete shutdown of streets, bus and taxicab service is expected tomorrow—a shutdown which Almazan people asserted was ordered by the unions to keep Almazan's chances from reaching the polls.

15 Japanese Gendarmes Held for Violation, Zone Agreement

Suggestion That Indies Become Independent Voiced in Tokyo

SHANGHAI, July 7.—(Sunday)—United States marines, patrolling their Shanghai defense sector, arrested 15 plain-clothes Japanese gendarmes today.

All were armed and were scattered along streets of the American sector in violation of an agreement not to enter that area. They were locked in the marine brig, and marine authorities indicated they would be held until Japanese authorities tendered apologies.

Japanese officials explained the gendarmes were in the American sector "to protect" Lieut. Gen. Toshizo Nishio, commander-in-chief of the Japanese expeditionary forces with headquarters at Nanking, who arrived at Shanghai this morning.

Marine authorities said however, that if previously had not agreed the Japanese were not to enter the area without informing American officials, and said they were capable of supplying Gen. Nishio with guard.

A few of the Japanese gendarmes attempted to resist arrest, but were overpowered quickly, deprived of their arms and rushed to headquarters in trucks. One of the group was permitted to telephone his superiors.

OPERATES for the Ethyl Gasoline Corp., of New York. Adjacent to it is the nation's largest oil refinery operated by the Standard Oil company, where much South American petroleum is refined.

Discovery of the attempt followed an anonymous telephone call to a night watchman from a man who said that while hunting frogs late last night, he discovered three men attempting to invade the plant. The watchman investigated and found the hole and dynamite, on which fingerprints were found. Sheriff DeBretton said he was tracking the unknown caller.

Huge tanks of tetraethyl lead, an ingredient of airplane fuel, were near the place where the dynamite was found. Three months ago an unexplained explosion in one of the buildings there killed three workers, injuring others. Precautions were tightened then, inasmuch as Baton Rouge is a river port, visited by numerous foreign seamen.

Craft Trapped At Alexandria To Demobilize

Elsewhere French Fight Back Due to Earlier British Attacks

Grounded Dunkerque Is Fired Upon Again to Insure Crippling

LONDON, July 7.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Reuters (British news agency) said today in a dispatch from Vichy that the French naval ministry had acknowledged that French planes had participated in raids on the British base at Gibraltar yesterday.

The news agency said the following communique had been issued by the naval ministry: "Two naval air squadrons which were being demobilized were rearmed and attacked at their moorings at Gibraltar British vessels which took part in the cowardly attack at Mers El-Kehir. At least one British vessel was hit."

LONDON, July 7.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Vichy, France, today quoted an Algiers dispatch as saying the French battleships Dunkerque and Provence and the destroyer Mogador lost 200 killed and 150 seriously wounded in the naval battle with British warships last Wednesday.

The dispatch also said there were only 200 survivors from the French battleship Bretagne. Her commander, Capt. de la Penne, was in port at the time of the battle and probably many of the crew were ashore on leave.

The four ships were reported ashore as a result of the fight. It was said engineers were studying means of refloating them.

(By the Associated Press) The British struck again Saturday in their new-found spirit of aggressiveness, punishing the remnants still afloat of the French fleet, bombing a French battleship already stricken, and hammering from the air at Italy's sea power.

Both navy and air force were at work. Two of France's remaining warships were sunk. Commanders of the French warships at Alexandria, Egypt, under the guns of British ships and shore batteries, were reported to have agreed to make certain their vessels, apparently not caring to fight either for or against Britain.

At least one battleship, two heavy cruisers, one light cruiser were under demobilization of lesser craft were affected by this decision, which a Cairo broadcast said was amicably made.

The French, temporarily freed by Germany and Italy from their obligations to disarm in the Mediterranean, prepared to depart from their bases what navy is left. That they were doing so was indicated when two British planes attacking French naval units in the Mediterranean failed to return.

The 1869-ton gunboat Rigault de Genouilly was torpedoed, the French said, and the 1367-ton destroyer Proutier was sunk by two British cruisers off the island of Crete.

The British returned to the attack on the 24,000-ton French battleship Dunkerque—already grounded and put out of action in the engagement off Oran, Algeria, last Wednesday which followed the opening of the British campaign to sink French war vessels refusing to surrender.

The admiralty announced that warplanes had scored six hits on the Dunkerque, the intention apparently being to make certain beyond any possibility of doubt that the vessel was out of action for good.
