Summer Camps

By ERIC FITZSIMONS
SILVER FALLS V CAMP—

While the three-day hike was the outstanding feature of camp last week, many other forms of excitement entertained those who remained in camp during the period. Wednesday morning 17 campers under the leadership of Jim Cole, Eric Fitzsimons, Ward Miles, Bob Shunke and Tom Medley left camp for Hoodoo Butte, from where they embarked on a three-day hike along the Skyline Trail. Wednesday afternoon, the group hiked six miles in to Duffy lake, where they made camp for the night. Thursday morning they broke camp at 10, and started on their trip through the Eight lakes basin to Marion lake, a distance of seven miles. Many beautiful moving pictures were taken by Jim Cole, who had the Y's camera along on the hike. Shots were taken of Duffy lake, Three-Fingers lake and scenes at the campsite. Camp Director Fred Smith met the hikers at Marion lake, and Friday afternoon the group packed their camping supplies in preparation for the return trip to Camp Silver Creek. Tom Medley, Jack Poush, Gordon Weller and Earl Cooley, the hike anglers, failed to make any good catches until the departure Friday afternoon, when, during a thunder shower, Tom Medley began hooking good-sized trout right and left. However, since the hikers had already started on their journey back to the truck, Tom only had the opportunity to bring four of the larger ones home with him.

Meanwhile, the heavily-laden hikers, led by Jim Cole, made the 3 1/2 mile trip from the lake to the truck in the record time 50 minutes. After reaching the truck and piling their baggage on top of it, the entire group started on the 70 mile ride home, arriving at camp in time for a hot supper served by Frank D. Sharp, who took the three-day hike were Horace Beldin, Gordon Weller, Earl Cooley, Malcolm Marsh, Conrad Cook, Ron Jones, Phil Heppner, John Dowd, Dick Turner, Doug Yeater, Roland Daily, Norman Willis, Jack Poush, Robert Willis, Albert Costello, Richard Nelson and "Rip" Van Winkle.

Saturday morning was indeed a busy one for the campers who got up in time for flag-raising, because many individuals chose to sleep in and receive a free bath, rather than crawl out of their cozy beds. Shortly after breakfast the early-risers triumphantly marched their hapless prisoners down to the pool, where, amid much cheering and laughter, the unfortunate ones were promptly launched.

Seven of the campers went on the all-day horseshoe ride Saturday morning, and although they were caught in a thunder shower during the ride, the rain failed to dampen their spirits whatsoever.

Raggers taken into the organization last week were John Doves, Dick Turner, LaVerne Jackson, Norman Willis, Richard Van Winkle, Earl Cooley, Jim Loder, Phil Heppner, Bob Mack, Lloyd Jackson, Burton Wilson, Jim Armstrong and Boyd Watson.

Green Raggers for the week ending July 13 were Mike Lovell, Hal Cuffel, Pat Taylor, Norman Smith, Eugene Knopf, Granville Perkins, David Pindexter, Alan Miller and an honorary award to Mrs. Jackson.
