Milk Argument Time Set Back

Hearing on Three Cases Here now Scheduled for August 14

Arguments in three pending cases in which the state milk control board is the defendant will be held on August 14 instead of today as originally planned, Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling stated yesterday.

All three of the cases involve an attempt to have the court impose an injunction preventing the milk board from revoking distributors' licenses of local milk dealers for non-payment of the plaintiffs' milk. The plaintiffs were improperly charged against them, and that they ignore a settlement made between the dealers and the control board in June.

Judge Lewelling will hold motion day proceedings according to custom despite his order continuing the milk cases.

In the fraternal society division the Salem Elks club won a first. The vocational education department entry was a winner in the best individual department class and the Salem Realty board entry won a prize as the best organization entry.

New Bank Unit to Start, Mid-Month

Ladd & Bush-US National's Addition to Its Present Building Described

Word from the architects employed by the United States National bank to improve the Patton property recently purchased by the bank for expansion of quarters and facilities of the Ladd & Bush-Salem branch is to the effect that work will start about the middle of August, when detailed plans on the structure will have been completed. The new property will increase the area of the banking quarters about 40 per cent, inasmuch as more than 2500 square feet will be added. The building now occupying the former Patton property adjoining the present Ladd & Bush building will be demolished and a new building erected in its place, with an additional entry way on State street, thus making three entrances along the front, including that on the corner.

The frontal plan of the new unit completed as having an extremely modernistic effect. A wall of smooth granite will extend to the height of the doorway and above this across the entire front will be the latest type of glass brick or blocks, with the granite appearing in the top trim. No details are as yet released as to the interior arrangement, but in a general way the new addition will house the savings, collection, installment loan and statement departments, and a present banking room with the new.

As stated by the bank officials, the utmost attention is being given to banking accessibility for the convenience of customers. It is estimated that the banking quarters as a whole will greatly exceed in size any in the state outside of Portland, the entire area to be over 12,000 square feet.

Calls for First Aid Number 14, Sunday

Only One Is Emergency; Cuts Are Frequent in Busy Day

Walter Dahlen, 990 North 17th street, was treated by first aid men yesterday after he had stepped on a piece of glass while swimming in the Willamette river. A piece of glass an inch long was removed from his right foot.

Geraldine Peters, 13 month old, 432 Marian street, received a cut at the base of the right hand. It was sutured by a doctor.

First aid men were called Sunday after Basil Warnock, 3 years old, swallowed a number of barbitol tablets which he had found. The child was unconscious when first aid men arrived and his condition was reported "unchanged" at the Deaconess hospital yesterday.

Jerry Kuescher, 6 years old, 1140 Union street, was treated Sunday at the first aid station for a badly cut forearm received from a fall. Mrs. J. E. Lamb, Tillamook, was treated for a minor forehead cut received in an automobile accident at 13th and Gaines streets.

The first aid car made 14 runs over the weekend with all but one being trivial cases.

The car made one run of five miles to the Chamaw four corners only to find the supposedly seriously injured person had received only minor scratches in an automobile mishap.
