

Program Is Given As Votes Counted

Solos, Group Numbers in Impromptu Staging at Mt. Angel

MT. ANGEL—All Mt. Angel turned out Wednesday night to listen to an impromptu amateur program while the votes that decided who was to make up the royal court of Flaxaria were being counted.

The entertainment was given on an outdoor stage erected on the north side of the city hall. Joseph Berchold, son of Mayor Berchold, acted as master of ceremonies.

The opening number, "America," was sung by Sam Wells, who also gave a number of other vocal numbers later on the program.

The flaxseed comical band was a big hit. The band is composed of Andy Schmidt, Andrew Wachter, Lawrence Cooley, Ollie Seifer, Bob Diehl, Virgil Gooley and Ed Hanken.

Another popular group was the quartet consisting of Killian Smith, Frank Slaby of Mt. Angel, Ed Lais of Silverton and Johnnie Wymar of Sheridan.

Miss Pauline Jones, princess in last year's festival and an accomplished singer, sang "At the Ballalaka" and "Wishing."

Among other numbers were "Playmates," sung by three little girls, Maxine Schwab, Betty Hasler and Lola Travis; tap dance by Mona Jean Haasing; vocal solos by Mrs. Fred Lucht; chorus by Miss Eustelle Bauman, Miss Pauline Saalfeld, Raymond Rothenfueh, Raymond Terbaar and Tony Bigler; instrumental trio, Killian Smith, Lester Herlitz and Howard Hewitt.

Ed Lais accompanied the vocal selections on his piano accordion. After the announcement of the winner was made and Queen Dorothy and her court were presented the crowd turned to old-fashioned street dancing to round out the night.
