

Colorful Flax Festival Ends

Children Troop Streets in Pied Piper's Parade; Awards Presented

MT. ANGEL—Smiling and excited children in every imaginable disguise trooped past the reviewing stand, distinguished speakers gave messages of serious import to a troubled world, an all-star baseball nine took the starch out of the Willamette league champions, boys and girls exerted their athletic prowess in all types of minor sports, Queen Dorothy and her court reigned at a farewell banquet, and lastly the Mt. Angel firemen put on a grand clowning act to end with meriment the last day of the three-day flax celebration at Mt. Angel Sunday.

Sheriff A. C. Burke and Vic Kelley of the Marion county sheriff's posse carried American flags to lead the Pied Piper parade, in sharp contrast to their military aspect, they were followed directly by the youngest members of the royal cortege, little Jeanette Wavra and Bobby Lee Withers in court attire. Then came the contenders for the various prizes. Afoot, on tricycles, bicycles, in wagons and cars came the youngsters in outfits that must have taxed the ingenuity of many a parent.

Lad in Wheelchair Wins
The sweepstakes winner, Francis LeDoux, III with an infected leg for many months, guided his wheelchair, decorated with flax and a great scythe, through the cheering throng. Flax fiber beard and hair inspired his title, "Old Man Flax."

Other entries that aroused special interest were a Scott's Roper Harris who rode his simulated seed in Indian warrior fashion with only a breechcloth and feather headdress to supplant nature's dress; Bobby Ebner as an organ grinder, monkey and all; Larry Ebner as a Scotch lad with bagpipes, and Patsy Withers as the Dutch palat boy.

Cash awards for first, second and third prizes in the various divisions were as follows: Juniors—decorated floats and tricycles, first, Anita Wilde; second, Roderic Harris; third, Tommy McGee. Salem; characters—first, Patsy Withers; second, Larry Ebner; third, Virginia Ebner; pets—first, William Duda; second, Lotia McKee and Virginia Newman, and third, Mrs. Victor Carlson. Seniors: Decorated floats and bicycles—Juanita Drysdale, Lola Travis and Marlene Prosser; second, Jeanette Hoffer; third, Jimmy Geisenauer; characters—first, Francis LeDoux; second, Ed Drescher and Leonard LeDoux; third, Jeanette and Jimmy Bentz.

Queen Presents Prizes
The youngsters received their prizes from Queen Dorothy Brockhaus who with her court and escorts watched the parade from the reviewing stand. Also present at the short speaking program that preceded it were Dr. P. O. Riley and Senator Douglas McKay of Salem; Father Aulain, Mt. Angel; Mayors Zetia Schador of Silverton, G. J. Bennett, Gervais and H. M. Austin, Woodburn. The last three acted as judges for the parade.

Handwoven linen towels were awarded to the following: G. W. Potts of Jefferson, for the largest flax acreage, 30 acres; B. J. Bennett, for the flax-grower with largest family (nine children) present at the festival; Miss Pauline Saalfeld and Mrs. John Windischlegger for their linen dresses; W. A. Inbody of Sidney, Iowa, and Wesley C. Lyons of Shelbyville, Mo., for the flax-grower from the farthest distance; Mrs. Dennis Stevenson and Mrs. Claude Stevenson, wives of visiting Whiskerinos; and J. A. Kaiser and Morris Fuchs of Mt. Angel for the best decorated windows.

Court Honored at Banquet
At the banquet for Queen Dorothy Brockhaus, Crown Princess Elizabeth Schechtel, Princess Gladys Nevill, La Verna Swindell and Ruth Hassenstab, their respective members, at the Mt. Angel hotel Sunday night, the crown princess was presented with the diamond ring, donated by Morris Rogoway, which she receives as her reward. The queen will have her choice of $100 in cash or a trip to Treasure Island. All the girls received a 10 per cent commission on their sale of buttons.

Removal of Rev. Zook to Grants Pass In Exchange Is Approved at Silverton

SILVERTON—Rev. Frank W. Zook, of the Christian church, reported Friday that arrangements were still pending but that no definite action had been taken in the suggested exchange of his and Rev. W. I. Palmer's Grants Pass, congregation. The suggestion of the exchange originated at Grants Pass, Rev. Zook said, and came as a surprise to both him and his local pastor.

The local congregation has consented to the exchange as the Grants Pass congregation is larger, numbering some 500 members, thus giving Rev. Zook an opportunity for broader work. Definite action will likely be taken early in the week, Rev. Zook said.

Rev. Zook came to Silverton four years ago from southern Oregon. Just recently he was re-elected for another three-year term. He has been active in both church and civic circles since his arrival at Silverton. Rev. Palmer came to Grants Pass recently from the mid-west.

Heavy Straw Slows Harvest

Veteran Bundle Hauler Revises Age Limit to 75 Years

WALDO HILLS—Grain harvesting is being wound up this week on most farms than anticipated. Growers gave as a reason that the straw was much heavier than expected and had to be run through slowly. Only small amounts of grain were harvested to show for the big strawstacks.

K. O. Roe, veteran bundle hauler in the hills, has changed his age limit from 70 to 75. Some years ago Mr. Roe made the statement that health permitting, he would continue with the threshing machine until he was 70. As he has now passed that mark and, in his own language, "still going strong," he has set 75 as his retiring goal. Younger bundle haulers are still trying to pattern after Mr. Roe's loading system which provides for the unloading to be done as easily as the turning of the pages in a book.

Andrew Jackson King of Waldo Hills had the honor of being the oldest member present at the King-Cox club meeting at the Silverton park Sunday. Mr. King is 75 and was born on the place on which he still lives. This is the farm on which his parents, William and Marcella (Cox) King, settled when they came to Oregon in the middle of the 1840's. The King family was one of the first to settle in this community. Andrew King is the last living of 13 children.

Hop picking got underway this week in some of the yards in the Evergreen district.

THE SPIRIT OF

by JOHN CLINTON

Did this ever happen to you—you go in to get 5 gallons of gas, and a guy springs out at you from back of a pump and tries to sell you 4 tires, 6 spark plugs and a battery. Doesn't it get your goat? Me, too!

Well, Union Oil Company's got that licked, I think. They have what they call "Minute Men Service." It gets the idea that the boys will measure their service according to what you want. If you've got a date, they'll whip you through in a jiffy. But if you've got time, they'll go to town, public telephone, cool drinking water and so on.

Thirty radiators neatly filled, tires and oil checked, all the glass cleaned up, and anything else that needs doing. On top of that you can get free road map, natural-color post-cards, and the convenience of really clean rest rooms, public telephones, cool drinking water and so on.

But no "Minute Men" will ever try to sell you a whole lot of truck you neither want nor need. Of course, I suppose they would break down and sell you a tire if you really insisted! But none of this super-super salesmanship is allowed in the Minute Men Service.

So just for fun, drive into a Union Oil station in the next day or so and see what a swell job these "Minute Men" do.

And incidentally when you're there, don't forget to ask for these free post-cards. They're really a swell thing, and the prettiest I've ever seen. They're free, and your folks back East'll like 'em.
