Fireman Ted Williams? Now That's a Laugh CAPTAIN HAL

By WHITNEY MARTIN NEW YORK, Aug. 15-(P)-Once upon a time there was a very smart and popular pupil who decided he wasn't being graded high enough, and knowing the school wouldn't think of expelling such a bright lad he put tacks on the teacher's chair, tore up his books, and set fire to the schoolhouse. Once upon a time there was a very smart pupil.

Ted Williams, third from the left in the Red Sox outfleld, is a very smart young man, speak-ing with a baseball accent, but how long he will remain popular is, as they say, an open question, A guy can't go around singing sour notes without inviting bouquets of pop bottles.

Hee's working for two of the finest gentlemen in baseball in Tom Yawkey and Joe Cronin. He's on a pennant-contending club. He has as teammates such players as Jimmy Foxx and Lefty Grove. Yet, as he told Austen Lake, Boston sports writer, he doesn't like Boston, doesn't like Boston newspapermen, and doesn't like his salary. In fact, there is a suspicion that he is hinting that he isn't happy.

This embryo Ducky Medwick came up from Minneapo-lis last year with a roll of drums, and he lived up to the ballyhoo. He hit a long ball from the tee, and that loose, rag-doll, nonchalant way of his provided a certain color.

Sure, it harts, but there would seem to be better ways of staying in the good graces of his bosses and the fans than by crying out loud over his hapless state. When a fellow gets the reputation of a popoff everyone stands around hopefully waiting for him to pop, like a windstuffed toy balloon.
