

Member Hints Churchill Liar

Angry Name-Calling Heard in Commons; Swinton Probe Is Debated

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—For the first time in Winston Churchill's authoritarian war-time regime, angry name-calling swept commons today, with the prime minister trading oral punches with short-tempered members.

Despite his bitter tenor, informed politicians said the quarrel had not appreciably dimmed Churchill's popular lustre. It was cut short by a speaker's ruling after the independent Arthur Hopkins had called the prime minister, by indirection, a "liar."

In his brief statement Churchill asserted the danger of invasion had not passed but "we are much stronger than we were in May." He termed the activities of the Swinton committee "not fitted for public discussion, least of all in time of war."

Refusals to discuss Churchill refused to discuss details of the mysterious committee's secret investigation of fifth column activities.

He said he always had believed fifth column dangers were "exaggerated" and that he now was satisfied they had been reduced to proper proportions.

Then the storm broke.

Laborite James Maxton demanded to know who was going to "watch the watchers."

Other members declared there was wide apprehension because Lord Swinton was selected chairman of the committee to cope with fifth columnists.

Criticism Recalled

(Lord Swinton was air secretary from 1935 to early 1938, when he was ousted by British critics of his failure to rearm the nation adequately.)

Said Hopkins: "We cannot understand why there is so much mystery about this . . ."

Angry, the prime minister replied: "Hopkins has paid half the attention to the full and very respectable statement I just have made as he did when he was accustomed to obstruct my effort to get this country defended before the war, he wouldn't have asked that question."

Furious, Hopkins asked the speaker's protection "against gross and lying innuendo."

Churchill snapped back that he would not withdraw; indeed, he said, he would send Hopkins a copy of a previous intervention by that member "in which he did his very utmost to discredit me."

Sourdoughs Hold Annual Gathering

YAKIMA, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Yarns of bad men and brave men, the Arctic cold, fabulous golden fortunes wrecked from the frozen earth and lost across the gambling tables, spun back and forth across the table tonight as men who had spent a winter in Alaska or the Yukon opened the twelfth annual convention of international sourdoughs with a banquet tonight.

Tex McIlroy of Amarillo, Tex., came the farthest distance to attend. Other registrations were from San Diego, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Fresno, Sacramento, San Francisco, Escondido and Berkeley, Calif., Portland and Seaside, Ore., and points in Washington.

Passage of a resolution advocating an international highway linking the United States and Canada with the Yukon and Alaska was predicted.

Picnic to Honor Baxter Planned

PORTLAND, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Bruce R. Baxter, new resident bishop of the Portland area, will be officially welcomed by Oregon Methodists at a picnic here tomorrow night.

The picnic and reception will be held at Laurelhurst park for the former Willamette university president, Bishop Baxter was elevated to the episcopacy and placed in charge of the Methodist church's northwest territory at a recent western jurisdictional session at San Francisco.

Berlin Reports Thames Attack

Estimated Damage Claimed With Toll of British Planes Set at 98

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Germany threw the weight of her aerial hosts directly at the great throbbing heart of Britain's world empire late today as warplanes swirled over London—where the British admitted Croydon airport was bombed—and smashed hard at the broad Tilbury wharves which stretch down the Thames from the capital.

The attack, pressed home through a veritable hell of anti-aircraft fire amid wheeling British pursuit planes, was part of a synchronized onslaught upon all of Britain's coastal air bases and down her coasts from far northeast Scotland to extreme southwest England Wales, said DNE, official German news agency.

DNE did not say definitely that London, but declared "the entire Thames valley witnessed the methodical, irresistible German air attacks which threaten all military establishments with destruction."

Claim 98 Score

It first listed 32 British planes destroyed against four German, respectively, to 98 and 29. German flyers reported they shot down five balloons and put out of commission eight planes on the ground.

The British listed 144 German and 27 British planes lost.

The raiders scattered their bombs amid the sprawling buildings of the big Vickers Armstrong armament works at Hebburn, Sheerness, Chatham and Rochester, locations of many armaments and arsenals; at the big eastern port of Newcastle-on-Tyne; and at the southeast "bridgeheads" of Dover and Folkestone, the agency said.

The airplane plants of Bristol were threatened in Wales, and to the southwest, got its share, said DNE.

Airports were a particular object of attack, those at Hawkinge and Lympne in the southeast shores areas were scenes of particularly bitter battles with the British defenders.

At Hawkinge alone, 11 British planes were shot down by the Messerschmitts protecting the German bombing squadron, said DNE in claiming victory for the Germans.

Airports Damaged

Repeatedly big German battle bombers swooped out of the clouds to dump deadly tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs on the Hawkinge hangars, the agency related. At Lympne, it said, hangars and runways were smashed and the ground guns fell silent.

A German battle squadron caught the English by surprise at the Driffield airport north of Hull, said DNE, in a raid so swift that "anti-aircraft was not able to do much and before the British fighters could interfere the attack was over." It said the hangars and barracks were destroyed.

The German air fleet hummed over London at 6 p. m. DNE declared, and anti-aircraft fire made a cloud over the city. It gave no word whether London itself was bombed, but the British admitted that Croydon airport was attacked—and Croydon is within greater London, a scant 10 miles from the traffic-choked centers of Charing Cross and Piccadilly Circus.

At Tilbury, a dozen miles from the Thames, which is one great mass of dockyards, warehouses, naval plants and armament and munitions works, the German agency said the Nazi airmen "calmly followed their course, dropping bombs with deadly accuracy on important objectives."

It acknowledged that "at Tilbury there was a lively air battle."

In fact, so heavy was the British defense that DNE likened it to an "iron curtain" but said the Nazi airmen pierced it.

The attack on the Vickers plant at Hebburn was executed this afternoon by 35 Dornier bombers, and heavy explosions were observed, said DNE.

North Scotland Hit

A number of airports in the Northumberland district also suffered heavily, and even the north of Scotland was hit hard.

Airports in the Aberdeen and Moray Firth sections were bombarded, and a shipping convoy off Peterhead was attacked, said DNE, but it did not disclose the results.

The new destructive vigor of the attacks on Britain followed a day and night in which bad weather hampered the incessant raiding to some extent, said the German high command.

Nevertheless, it announced, troop concentrations at the big military camp of Aldershot were attacked, and port facilities and electrical plant and munitions works were "effectively bombed" in Cardiff, Weston, Portland, Worcester and Salisbury, the announcement said.

The German campaign is still on schedule, it declared, for advance plans had made full allowance for some bad weather.

Wallace Hands in Resignation Note

To Be Effective When His Campaign Starts; on Aug. 29, Assumed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace handed his resignation as secretary of agriculture today, getting ready to campaign for election to the vice-presidency.

He gave President Roosevelt the resignation letter, had lunch with the chief executive, then left the White House with a broad grin and a picture of the president which was autographed: "For running mate Henry Wallace from running mate Frank D. Roosevelt."

Mr. Roosevelt has said the resignation would be effective when Wallace started active campaigning. The assumption has been that this meant campaigning would begin with the ceremonies in Des Moines August 29 at which Wallace will be formally notified of his nomination.

Wallace, a member of the cabinet since the inception of the Roosevelt administration, said he and the president had discussed a successor but that he could say nothing at this time.

To Answer Wilkie

The democratic national committee meanwhile made plans for a prompt reply to the acceptance speech of the republican nominee, Wendell L. Wilkie, at Elwood, Ind., on Saturday. The committee reserved radio time for a talk by Secretary Ickes on Monday night (8:30 to 8:30 p. m., PST, NBC).

The hatch politics law, interpretations of which have caused much argument recently, was the subject of a formal opinion today by the acting comptroller general, R. N. Elliott. He said that although the act required the dismissal of federal employees for

Was Sunk by a German U-boat, the High Command also Reported. (The British had reported this previously.)

Meanwhile, authorized German sources vigorously denied reports that German parashutists had landed in England. Such reports were declared to be "pure fantasy."

DNE said the Germans attacking Scotland, apparently from Scandinavian bases, had no trouble because anti-aircraft fire was ineffective.

Unearth Skeleton At Historic Mine

Affirms Gold Rush Legend of 60 Years Ago; Man Was Shot in Head

PULLMAN, Wash., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A skeleton was found today by workmen in the "Lost Wheelbarrow" mine on Gold Hill in Latah county, Idaho, some 20 miles northeast of Pullman, providing new evidence to substantiate a legend of gold rush days.

Two prospectors made a rich strike on Gold Hill 60 years ago and only one returned to civilization, according to the legend. He had $20,000.

This man came back after 20 years to relocate the mine, but old trails had vanished and his search was futile. He said a wheelbarrow made of whisky barrel staves should have marked the mine, and from this vanished barrow the lost bonanza took its name.

Last fall Dr. C. Landis Trenchler of Palouse, Wash., found the mine and its wheelbarrow. He found also two human bones and a rusted rifle, and a few months later workmen located the rich vein of gold ore lost for 60 years. The skull of the skeleton unearthed today had been punctured by a bullet which entered from the right side and tore a large hole in the left.

Havana Educator Is Assassinated

HAVANNA, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Ramiro Valdes Dausa, professor of Havana university and a well-known revolutionist, was killed tonight by men who pulled their car alongside his automobile and opened fire.

Five bullets hit him. Valdes Dausa was a prominent revolutionist in the struggle to overthrow the regime of the late President Gerardo Machado in 1935.

The assassination occurred in uptown Havana, at Neptuno and Mason streets.

Two students were arrested, one gravely wounded. Another, who police said tried to escape from the assassin's car, fired several shots at two soldiers before they took him into custody.

A third occupant of the death car was unaccounted for.

Meatime Workers Benefit by Rule

Longshoremens to Receive Time and a Half for Meal-Time Work

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Longshoremens forced to work through the mid-shift meal hour are entitled to a penalty wage of more than double the base wage for that hour, Wayne Morse, coast maritime arbiter, decided today.

In other words, the workmen must be paid $2.10 for that period, which is time and a half of the regular time and a half overtime rate, on a basis of 95 cents an hour straight time. If they are held beyond the meal hour, the regular time and a half rate would apply, Morse ruled.

Morse made his ruling on a complaint filed by the longshoremen's union last July 10. It contended that its contract provided for payment of time and a half of the straight or overtime rate, as the case might be, for all time worked during mealtime, if the meal period came five hours after the shift started.

Morse did not make the award retroactive, he said, because the language of the contract is ambiguous.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pain are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking "poison" and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging at the backache, the rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and weakness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with kidneys.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Backache Remedy. It is made of natural herbs and is safe for men, women and children. It is sold in 40c and 75c bottles. They give speedy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Right.
