Jellied Soup on Summer Menu

A combination vegetable and chicken jellied soup becomes a summertime dish when chilled in gelatin. JELLIED SUMMER SOUP. 1/2 cup finely diced carrots. 1/2 cup finely diced onions. 1/2 cup finely diced celery. 1 cup cooked tomatoes. 3 cups water. 4 chicken bouillon cubes. 1/2 cup chopped dill pickles. 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Gelatin. Place vegetables, 2 1/2 cups of the water, and bouillon cubes in kettle. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 1/2 hour longer. Add dill pickles and Worcestershire sauce. Measure and for each cup use 1 teaspoon plain unflavored gelatin. Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water 5 minutes. Re-heat soup to boiling point, add gelatin, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Chill. When slightly thickened stir to prevent vegetables from settling to bottom. Chill until softly set. Serve in bouillon cups. Yield: 6-8 portions.

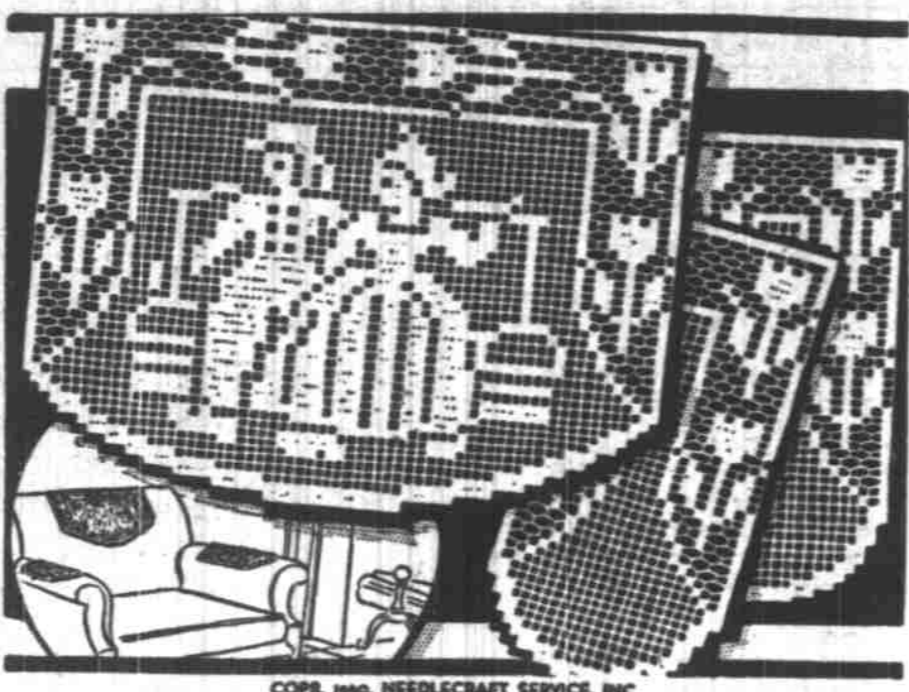

Cereal in Little Boxes Attracts

Choosing one's own breakfast cereal from the menu is fun for even a grown-up and a well-known manufacturer has indulged both adults and youngsters by putting up their breakfast special in a long carton of 10 packages. The package is ideal for small families, because a new package is always fresh and crisp. Each member can have his own favorite kind, because there are five different varieties. Children will eat prepared cereals better from a small package. The new packages are handy too for tray breakfasts and bedtime snacks.

WOMAN'S ANGLE

By MAXINE BUREN

That women of England are taking a vital part in the defense of their island is revealed in a feature story which appears in a San Francisco paper about Dorothea Hancox, a University of California graduate. Her soft voice relayed orders to the squadrons of the RAF from a booth somewhere in England last week, while screaming bombs were dropped on England.

Mrs. Hancox, born Dorothea Teebay, came from England with her parents in 1923 and became a naturalized citizen. She attended the Ursuline convent in Santa Rosa and later University of California.

She was visiting relatives in England at the outbreak of the war, and enlisted in the Women's auxiliary to the RAF. Two months after that she married Flight Officer Peter Hancox. Her husband was somewhere aloft as Dorothea Hancox directed the action of the British planes last week.

Pepper Relish Is Canning Recipe

Red pepper relish time is here, if indications from the markets mean anything. Those bright red beauties always hold a fascination for the housewife, and here's one thing to do with them. RED PEPPER JAM (or relish). 12 red peppers (or some green). 2 medium onions. Chop fine, cover with boiling water and let stand for 5 minutes. Drain, pour boiling water over them again and let stand for 10 minutes, drain again. Add 1 pint not-too-strong vinegar, 2 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon salt and fill together for 15 minutes. Seal. Another good recipe has other spices and a different method of preparation. RED PEPPER RELISH. 2 dozen sweet red peppers. 7 medium onions. 2 tablespoons salt. 2 cups vinegar. 2 cups sugar. 2 tablespoons mustard seed. Grind peppers and onions, combine with juice and other ingredients and boil 30 minutes, pack in sterilized jars.

Zehring Indicted On Theft Charge

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 20-(AP)—The Multnomah county grand jury today indicted Edgar Zehring, 39, secretary-treasurer of the Portland postal employees credit union, on a charge of embezzling of organization funds. He was arrested in Seattle where he abandoned his automobile on a ferry after leaving a suicide note. The indictment charges Zehring with forging endorsements on checks for $500 and $440, but District Attorney James E. Bain said shortages in his accounts ran into the thousands of dollars.

Solemn Last Rites Said at Mt. Angel

For Abbot Placidus Fuerst, Pioneer Churchman of Benedictine Monastery. MT. ANGEL—Solemn last rites for Abbot Placidus Fuerst, OSB, of St. Benedict's abbey here, extended throughout Tuesday forenoon and were attended by Archbishop Edward Howard and Msgr. Arthur Lane, PA, of Portland, and about 40 visiting priests and brothers of the community and those fathers of the abbey engaged in parish work, all of whom returned for the funeral. There were also a large number of sisters and as many lay people as could be accommodated in the abbey chapel. Among the sisters was the Abbot's only living relative in this country, his sister, Sister M. Beatrice, music and voice instructor of the Benedictine convent at Mt. Angel. Services began at 9:15 a. m. when the community assembled in the guest wing of the abbey where the body had lain in state since Saturday, except for the interval from Sunday afternoon to Monday morning, when it was taken to St. Mary's church, Mt. Angel, where the parishioners kept vigil throughout the night and until the solemn requiem mass sung by Father Maurus Snyder at 9 a. m. After the blessing of the body it was carried in procession to the choir of the abbey chapel while the monks chanted the Miserere. Matins and lauds of the dead were then recited. After lauds Father Abbot Thomas Meier was vested at the throne and pontifical high mass followed. Assisting Abbot Thomas at the mass were the Very Rev. Prior Jerome Wespe as presbyter assistant; Rev. Sub-Prior Martin Pollard and Rev. Charles Moser as deacons of honor; Rev. Method Korn as deacon of the mass and Frater Benedict Keber as sub-deacon. The Very Rev. Frater and Thomas Brockhaus were masters of ceremony. After the mass the vesting of the archbishop took place. Then Rev. John Cumisky, assistant pastor at Mt. Angel, preached the funeral oration in which he dwelt especially upon the genial and humble disposition of Abbot Placidus. Absolution over the body was then given by Archbishop Howard in the church and the procession formed while the choir sang the In Paradisum. The funeral procession walked to the abbey cemetery where the pioneer churchman was laid to rest beside the founder of the Benedictine monastery in Mt. Angel, Titular Abbot Adelhelm Odermatt. Abbot Thomas performed the final rites. Medard Fuerst, born in Bremen, near Fulda, Germany on June 8, 1868, was one of the two youths—the other being Edmund Snyder, now Father Maurus—whom Father Adelhelm brought to Oregon with the pioneer group in 1882 from Engelberg abbey in Switzerland to establish a new Benedictine community on the western shore of America. Both joined the ranks of the monks, and on July 11, 1884, Medard made his religious profession and became Frater Placidus. On July 11, 1891, he was ordained to the priesthood. Teaching duties fell to his lot until 1893, when he was appointed rector of the college, then in its seventh year. He held that post until 1899, when he was sent to the Catholic university in Washington, DC, to study chemistry and physics. In 1901 he was named pastor of St. Mary's par-

Marker Honoring Steiwer Planned

American Legion Proposes $1500 Monument; Convention Eyed. A move to place a $1500 monument on the grave of the late US Senator Frederick Steiwer in Arlington national cemetery was begun here Monday night by Capital post No. 8, American Legion. State Senator Douglas McKay, presenting the resolution which the post approved, said there is now only a small wooden marker on the grave. The resolution will be submitted to the state legion convention at Seaside, and then it probably will be submitted to the national legion convention to be held next month in Boston. Filing a complete committee report, Barkley Newman, general chairman of the Fourth of July celebration, reported that event a complete financial success. All delegates and alternates to the state convention in Seaside September 5 to 7 will meet later this week to organize, according to Commander Art Johnson. Only one meeting is scheduled for next month when officers will be installed September 16.

SUZANNE EACHUS

Tips on Washing By Expert

Every once in a while, nationally known manufacturers send around experts to help local ladies with their household problems. This week, the Lux company has sent Suzanne Eachus to Millers' lingerie department to tell customers how to get the most wear from foundation garments and silk underthings.

Her suggestion is that when you find a foundation garment you like, buy two of them. Wear one and wash the other.

Furthermore, frequent washing, with a mild soap and correct procedure, will make the elastic material firmer and keep it in shape. Garments should always be washed at home, as cleaning fluid spoils the elasticity, says Miss Eachus.

This is the procedure for washing foundation garments: First turn them wrongside out, for the underside is that which touches the body and is therefore the most in need of cleansing.

Next wash in lukewarm water and the preferred soap, no rubbing of elastic materials either, says the expert, just squeeze.

Rinse thoroughly at least three times in lukewarm water, press out moisture in a turkish towel, ease (not stretch) into shape and dry in the shade.

Miss Eachus has an answer for every laundering question and gladly gives them to interested women.
