time. He was squirmed around by National Committeeman Ralph Cate part of the time, was interviewed by David Hazen of The Oregonian and was pointed out often as the most steadfast republican editor of the state, Dorothy, by the way, was seated behind a set of amplifiers pointed in the opposite direction. Her comment on the speech was, "It was a fine speech—I didn't hear a word of it." Dorothy repeated her conviction that the republicans will win in November.
Little Charlotte McNary sat quietly and chewed gum while Representative Martin and Governor Stassen spoke, but when "daddy" went to the lectern she climbed from her chair, sought a mint from her nurse and then was led out. She came back later, chewing on a candy bar.

Trailing the McNary party as it ascended the stage at the fairgrounds was a messenger boy. Breathlessly, he inquired of a national guard officer: "Could you tell me where I could find Senator McNary?"

Not the least triumph of the notification ceremony was its inexpensiveness, some of its planners pointed out yesterday. One story was told, on good authority, that the notification committee telegraphed the national republican committee that the total cost of the ceremony would be in the neighborhood of $1800. Shortly after an inquiry was received from the national organization to this effect: "Believe error. Is not cost $18,000?"

man government indefinitely. The people want to retain democracy." Senator Townsend said he had served with McNary in the senate for 13 years and had found him "able, courageous and honest—amply qualified for the position to which the republican party has elevated him."

State Senator Douglas McKay, toastmaster, introduced several outstanding guests at the luncheon, including Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Sprague, Ex-Governor Frank T. Merriam of California, Senator Rufus C. Holman of Portland, Ex-Representative W. C. Hawley of Salem and National Committeeman Ralph Cate.

Lake Is Dragged, Policeman's Body

BEND, Aug. 27—(AP)—Suttle lake was dragged today for the body of John Svetic, 25, state police officer missing since an outboard motorboat drifted away as he swam with Miss Helen Mirich yesterday.

Wind swept the boat away as the couple swam in mid-lake. The officer weakened on the swim to shore and told the girl to forge ahead. Miss Mirich looked back and saw Svetic still swimming, but a moment later he had disappeared.

One of the largest men on the force, Svetic weighed 265 pounds. He formerly played football at Bend high school and Southern Oregon College of Education. He joined the state police January 1 after a period with the Bend police department.

man army. Notified by two straight nights that Berliners have been aroused from sleep by air raid alarms, authoritative nazis said that "criminal attacks" on civilian objectives in the reich would draw full repayment in kind.
The Germans also said their new Dorniers successfully strafed British points while flying low to avoid anti-aircraft fire.
The British air ministry reported bombing raids on 87 air-dromes in Germany, Holland, Belgium and France as well as bomb attacks on Italy. Rome officially acknowledged that the British bombers had scored hits on the important Fiat motors factory at Turin.

The fascist press played up news of a coming desert offensive to drive the British out of Egypt. British sources in Cairo, Egypt, had a word on that also, declaring that the Italians must soon march against the British in Egypt because they could not stand up long under repeated bombardments from British warships.

The British submarine Spearfish, which torpedoed the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer off Norway last April was given up as lost by the British admiralty last night after her failure to return from a mission.
New air alarms in Switzerland indicated British bombers were again heading for attacks on northern Italy.

Political Meeting Record Is Set Up

arrived at noon. The club was organized at Oceanlake last winter soon after Governor Charles A. Sprague suggested Senator McNary as a presidential candidate, and celebrated the fruition of its hopes with a victory dinner held during most of the day.

The state capital, mecca for visitors from all parts of the state and from across state lines, drew an estimated 1000 persons during the morning hours, it was reported. Governor Sprague's office was swamped with callers during most of the day.

Salem stores and all state offices were closed by 3 p. m., allowing employes and officials to attend the fairgrounds ceremony. A large number of Corvallis and Albany stores were also closed for the occasion, and large delegations attended from each city.

Hundreds of telegrams, wishing Senator McNary success in his campaign, were received here during the day, according to telegraph companies' reports. Many of these were from the senator's congressional colleagues.

Senator McNary said yesterday that he would probably spend today in Portland, and later would go to a beach resort for two or three days' rest. The senator said he was also hopeful of visiting Timberline lodge and Bonneville dam before returning to Washington, DC, early next week.

Merriam in Salem For Notification

Ex-Governor Frank T. Merriam of California, here for the McNary notification ceremony, was a caller at the executive offices yesterday. He conferred briefly with Governor Charles A. Sprague and other state officials.

Merriam said general business conditions in California were on the upgrade due in part to speeding up of the airplane industry in connection with the national defense program.
"If Willkie and McNary are elected this fall I look for this improvement to continue and spread to all lines of industry," Merriam said.

Ex-Governor Merriam was accompanied here by James C. Dolan of Los Angeles.
"I am just a good republican working for the success of the republican party," Dolan declared.
Both Merriam and Dolan attended the recent ceremonies notifying Wendell Willkie of his nomination for president of the United States at Elwood, Ind.

Win Is Predicted By Senator Ellis

State Senator Rex Ellis, Pendleton, republican nominee for representative in congress from the second congressional district, was among those here yesterday for the McNary notification ceremonies.
"I am going to win over Walter E. Pierce, the democratic incumbent," Ellis told newspapermen.

of a form of government distasteful to many people and not in accordance with American ideals.
Lieutenant William Brown, head of the Portland police subversive activities squad, declared the "best organized group in the United States today is the communist party" and urged the veterans to perfect a better organization.

Hugh Rosson, Portland, assistant to Kern Crandall, state republican chairman, said the future of America depends upon the result of the election this fall.
Kenneth Cooper, Portland, state chairman of the Willkie-McNary clubs of Oregon, said that for the first time veterans of all wars can come together in a common cause.

Other speakers included George F. Jamieson, Portland, chairman of the Portland Willkie-McNary Veterans club; Senator Rufus C. Holman; Kern Crandall, Portland Mayor Ed Bayless; Sheridan; Jack Eakin, Dallas; Mrs. Zoe McCormick, Paul Tharleson, Carl Abrams, Phil Ringle and Karl Stetler of Salem and Art Lofts, Hood River.

Woman Diplomat Visits in Salem

Margaret Hanna, first woman to head an important division of the United States department of state, came to Salem this week as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Martin, 390 Richmond avenue, for the McNary notification. She also became one of the first major women consuls, serving for two years at Geneva, Switzerland.

Senator McNary "is regarded in Washington as one of our very finest men, regardless of politics," Miss Hanna said. She has met the McNarys only casually.
Before coming back to the United States from Geneva a year ago last June, the visitor observed that the present war was generally considered as certain to break out. What surprised Geneva observers was that it did not start until September, she added.

Miss Hanna, widely traveled on state missions, such as peace and inter-American conferences, said she found Oregon very much to her liking, particularly the activity noted among its peoples.
Retired from government service, Miss Hanna plans to visit relatives en route to Washington, DC, which she considers as home.

made this power available, should have an indisputable right to control its utilization and distribution."

Continued development of hydroelectric power by the federal government and sale of it "at the lowest (rate) level consistent with sound amortization" received his approval.

The senator also approved the system employed in the case of the Tennessee valley authority in purchase of private companies taken over by federal power grid systems such as TVA and Bonneville.

Broader Forestry Program Advocated

The nominee's forestry proposals, of particular interest to Oregonians called for a revamped and broadened program that would obligate the federal government to pay half of the cost of fighting fires, insects and disease; adopt a taxation system that would not "compel uneconomic exploitation and forced liquidation" of forests, and would return unproductive land to public ownership. He urged regulation of the timber crop that may be harvested each year.

His defense declaration drew fresh rounds of applause as he pledged opposition to "involvement in foreign military adventures." While he wants no part in a "peace of appeasement, nor the surrender of our national dignity, our independence of action, our political freedom or the civilized values we cherish," he declared, "we are not a docile people and we propose to work out our destiny on our own terms."

America still has a choice in the present world situation, Senator McNary asserted, continuing: "We shall be strong, in which case we shall deter our enemies at home and abroad; or, we may remain weak and thus invite their aggression. For my part, I prefer the part of strength."
The republican party, he said, in conclusion, "offers to lead America out of doubt, negation and disunity."

Hiram Johnson Is Landslide Winner

Nomination is tantamount to election. Unofficial return from 1125 of the state's 1600 precincts gave Bilbo 76,491 votes to 53,767 for Former Governor Hugh White.

Bilbo, from his "dream house" residence in Poplarville, said he was "happy to know that the people of Mississippi have shown by their votes that they appreciate what I have done and tried to do for them."

COLUMBIA, SC., Aug. 27—(AP)—Dry advocates rolled up a steadily increasing majority as returns were tabulated from today's advisory referendum on whether the state should return to prohibition. With 696 precincts reported out of a total of 1523, the vote for a return to a bone-dry regime was 66,107, against 50,650 in favor of retaining the present system of package stores and saloons.
Liquor and practically unrestricted sale of beer and wine.

In itself, the referendum will not affect the present law, which was enacted five years ago, but the result was intended to serve as a guide to the 1941 session of the legislature.
Five representatives in congress, who had opposition, were renominated upon the face of incomplete returns. Nomination is equivalent to election.

Allen Advocates Sending of Ships

PORTLAND, Aug. 27—(AP)—Niel R. Allen, Oregon American Legion commander, advocated immediate sending of 40 obsolete American destroyers to the aid of Britain today.

"Let's get those destroyers steamed up, put Canadians on to run them and send them on over right now," Allen said in a speech to the Rotary club.
He supported the selective service act, calling it "the only democratic method of raising an army," and added that "all men and all property should be placed on call during national emergencies."

Allen warned that the United States is "confronted with the possibility of national death," adding "there is only one language you can talk to those fellows across the water, and that is organized force."
