

Cluster Bombs Fall in London

Many Are Killed in Bar of Hotel When Bomb Falls Outside

(Continued from page 1)

that King George II of Greece abdicated, Premier-Dictator John Metaxas resign to make way for a pro-axis government. Greece broke off trade with Britain, cede territory to Italy and Bulgaria and give the axis rights to air bases.

Existence of such demands was denied in Berlin but in Rome, the usually well-informed Fascist weekly, Relazioni Internazionali, hinted they might be impending. And, for the second time since trouble for the Balkans began brewing, Premier Mussolini started out to inspect his built-for-battle army, this time on the Yugoslav frontier.

The German view apparently was that Greece and Turkey, both British-guaranteed, could be expected to fall into line with axis plans without extreme pressure. If they don't see that their bread is buttered on the side of the axis, one authorized Nazi commentator observed, it is just too bad for them.

British Hurry Counter Moves

But British counter-moves evidently were being organized to try to checkmate the axis "new order," possibly by urging Bulgaria to reject territorial claims against Greece and to reject any Rome-Berlin bid to join it against Greece and Turkey.

While confidential documents in the British legation at Sofia were reported being burned last night, the legation be forced to beat a hasty retreat from Bulgaria, British minister to that kingdom, George Rendel, and her ambassador to Turkey, Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen, conferred at Istanbul.

After a mysterious lull in bright daylight, German air raiders began the 43rd night of consecutive air attack on London with a violent onslaught.

Bursting bombs and the throb of an endless chain of raiders made the first hour after night-fall as fearsome as that of Oct. 15, which is ranked as London's worst so far.

Although there was only one daylight alarm in London and few bombs either there or elsewhere in England, the Germans claimed "the greatest and most successful mass submarine attack yet accomplished."

In the war at sea, the naval high command said 31 ships totaling 173,650 tons had been sunk by U-boats recently, all but five of them out of a single British convoy in one night.

On their own credit side, the British reported that RAF bombers dived down from thick clouds Friday night to blast Hamburg's Blohm and Voss shipyards "where German warships are known to be under construction."

Hits also were reported on the German shipyards at Hamburg, the naval base at Kiel, commercial docks at Emden and Lubeck and many other industrial targets in Germany.

A reminder that "the peace of the world is a missionary aim of the church" came from the Vatican in a radio broadcast in English by Pope Pius XII appealing to Americans to open up their purses liberally to "help rebuild what has been damaged and to reassure those who are discouraged."

Homecoming Is Today

The Pratum Methodist church is inviting all those who have at some time or other attended the church to a basket dinner at the church at noon today. Special services will be held both morning and afternoon, with several former pastors present.

Fete Dates Told

Chester A. Moore, president, who has announced June 11 to 14 as dates for next year's 53rd annual Rose festival in Portland.

Dies Asks Action On Foreign Spies Proposes to Reveal All Evidence if Nothing Is Done

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—(AP)—Rep. Martin Dies (D-Tex.) declared tonight that "if the government doesn't define or adopt a firm and uniform policy putting an end to political activities of representatives of foreign powers in the United States, I propose to make public all the evidence I have on the subject."

"I want a clear definition of policy from the federal government as to what it plans to do about consular representatives of Russia, Germany, Italy, England and other countries engaged in political activities in this country," Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, asserted in an interview.

He added he referred to "activities" not connected with their official functions.

Dies said that while much evidence had been made public concerning un-American activities, recent evidence obtained by subcommittee in New York, Texas, Los Angeles and other parts of the nation had been turned over to the state department.

This evidence, he said, included "documents showing that consular officials of foreign powers have been very active in the United States in building organizations to spread their ideology," etc.

The Texan said he would be in Chicago several days interviewing witnesses "to continue the chain of evidence we have obtained regarding activities of these consular agents."

Mrs. C. D. Childs Dies Early Today

Mrs. C. D. Childs, 62, died at the family residence, 374 North 18th street, at 12:45 o'clock this morning. She had been ill for the last six weeks.

Mrs. Childs was born at Brownsville, Mich., in January, 1878. She came to Salem 20 years ago. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Surviving are the widower and five children, Dr. Thomas W. Childs, of Portland; Mrs. E. C. Isom, of Brownsville; Isabel, of Salem; Mrs. Franklin Delaplane, of Adrian, Ore., and Frank.

Funeral announcement will be made by the Clough-Barrick company.

Win Climaxed By Long Dash

Gene Walters Frances 61 Yards to Pay Dirt as Gun Sounds

(Continued from page 1)

McAdams' kicking of McAdams kept the Beavers in the hole throughout the first half and it wasn't until the third period that OSC was able to penetrate Washington territory. He put a punt out of bounds on the Beaver 15-yard line and two more were downed on the 9 and 10.

McAdams shared passing honors with Steele, and Steele was the ground gaining star of the day—until Walters came along. McAdams played the entire game and Center Rudy Mucha played 57 minutes.

The Beavers showed flashes of power on drives over center and the guards, but the light half-backs couldn't track on the slippery turf. Their drives bogged down four times because of fumbles at critical points. Bob Olson, Kinsburgh, and Joe Day were the fumble artists, and a bad pass from center which Kinsburgh fumbled later, set up the second Washington touchdown.

Game summary:
 Oregon State 0 0 0 0 0
 Washington 10 10 0 0 0
 Total 0 0 0 0 0
 First downs: Oregon State 10, Washington 10
 Total yards: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Passing yards: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Rushing yards: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Punting: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Fumbles: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Interceptions: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Penalties: Oregon State 100, Washington 100
 Time of game: 100:00

Refer to: L. G. Conlan (St. Mary's University, Dick, who had been a man, Roy Hall (Washington State college), Field Judge: Eldon Janna (Washington State college)

First downs: OSC Wash.
 Tackles gained by rushing (not) 100 100
 Forward passes attempted 10 10
 Forward passes completed 5 5
 Yards gained by forward passes 100 100
 Yards lost by forward passes 10 10
 Forward passes intercepted 0 0
 Tackles gained, runback of fumbles and punts 10 10
 Punting average (from scrimmage) 30.0 30.0
 Total yards, kicks returned 100 100
 Opponents' fumbles recovered 10 10
 Yards lost by punts and kickoffs 10 10
 Includes punts and kickoffs.

Tribute Is Paid To Fielding Yost

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 19—(AP)—Two thousand University of Michigan alumni and admirers of Fielding H. (Hurry Up) Yost paid tribute tonight to the silver-haired athletic director, who next spring will step down after 40 years of football coaching and athletics administration here.

In pennant-bedecked Waterman gymnasium the 69-year-old Yost received acclaim from high public figures and friends who sat down with him around huge dinner tables.

Yost, elected by Michigan's 28 to 10 victory over Illinois this afternoon, chuckled when he was greeted by Robert C. Zuppke, Illinois coach and himself a veteran of 23 seasons.

"It was another great big Meechegan day," said Yost, nudging Zuppke playfully. "Another Meechegan peacemaker."

Seated near Yost were the legendary Willie Heston, high school star Yost's point-a-minute team, and Adolph "Germans" Schulz, regarded by many as all-time all-American center.

More Bids to Be Sought, Highway

PORTLAND, Oct. 19—(AP)—The state highway commission said today it would readvertise at its November 12-13 meeting for bids on improvement of the Sexton mountain section of the Pacific highway.

It accepted a default yesterday from M. L. O'Neil & Son, Eugene, on their bid of $194,922.50 for the southern Oregon job. The firm, which forfeited a bond of $24,613, said the bid was too low. It was $50,000 under the second bid.

The commission conferred with District Federal Engineer W. H. Lynch on plans for strategic defense highways.

5000 Boy Scouts Pay Honor to TR

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 19—(AP)—Five thousand Boy Scouts from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania today made their 21st annual pilgrimage to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt, "Chief Scout citizen."

They were led by Daniel Carter Beard, 89, national scout commissioner whose advanced years compelled him for the first time to forego a mild walk to the grave and seek the comforts of a cart drawn by a pair of oxen.

W. Winslow Dies At Aumsville Home

AUMSVILLE—William E. Winslow, 68, died at his home Saturday at 6:15 p.m. The funeral will be held Tuesday at the local Christian church at 3 o'clock.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Alvin Winslow, and a foster son, Elbert Winslow, Dr. E. F. Pound, Mrs. Minerva Holcomb and Mrs. Ruby Gilson of Salem are nephew and niece.

No License Charged
 Oscar Sealey, 235 North Fourth street, Salem, was arrested by Salem police last night on a no driver's license charge.

Waters' Death Blow to Salem

Baseball Booster Wanted to Give City Best Available

(Continued from page 1)

the public announcement that he had purchased a professional baseball franchise and had made arrangements to build a ball park for Salem. "I've been in business here for 48 years and I owe my town something. I like my town."

He went on to relate how he had borrowed money to start his business nearly a century before, and proudly produced the note upon which was marked the monthly payments until it was retired.

"That's how I made my money, right here in Salem," he said, "and now I want to do something for Salem."

Everything had to be the best. When he started "doing something," nothing was too good. Although his advisers would have had him cheapen some of the construction, "it was beautiful to him that stands as a memorial to him out in southeast Salem, he would have none of it. Everything had to be the best."

Waters, when he began his baseball venture, knew full well he'd never realize a cent on his investment. He never entered it with any thought of financial gain in mind.

"I don't give a damn if the club never makes a nickel," he told the writer. "If the people like the club, that's all I care."

Even then Waters, who didn't enjoy the best of health, knew his days were numbered and laughed about it. He thought it a huge joke "for a man of my age, with one foot in the grave, to be going into the baseball business."

It wasn't a new business for George E. Waters. Forty-eight years before, he and Doug Minto, a lifelong friend and for many years a business partner, organized a baseball club in Salem.

Waters, who kept many pictures of that old 1891 club about his offices, laughingly remembered that he and Doug had lost $1500 on it.

He was justly proud of the ball park and of the players. The latter were "the players of the town," he said, "that's all I care."

Because of the fact that he was justly proud of the plant and club, and because he was so bent on doing a "right thing" for the town, it is more than probable that he was things fixed, as he would say, it for the plant and club to continue.

A man close to Waters last night said that he was certain everything in regard to the plant was fixed, and that the club was a "right thing" for the town.

While the baseball park may long stand in commemoration of the man whom everyone who came in contact with him admired, it will probably be many a year before future generations of Salem citizens will find "Santa Claus" as was George E. to dozens of present day kiddies.

He was that kind of a man.

County's Wealth In Land Lowered

(Continued from page 1)

The assessor said. The total valuation on horses and mules, correspondingly, fell from $129,040 to $110,780, although the number of animals assessed rose slightly.

Another marked increase was recorded on hotel and office furniture, from $209,045 to $222,145.

The roll lists the 1940 veterans' exemption at $208,590 as against $201,370 last year.

Livestock classifications were assessed as follows, showing, first, number of animals, second, valuation, third, change in value, and fourth, unit valuations.

Horses and mules $209,045, 780, down $18,260, 339.44; cattle 13,094, $333,375, down $5125, $25.44; sheep and goats 19,790, $45,608, up $1748, $2.30; swine $296, $25.44, 11,630, up $5940, $5.44; poultry $2,903, $13.07, up $1015, 34 cents; dogs, foxes and mink 1783, $11,600, up $1590, $6.55.

Wants Increase in Limits on Trucks

PORTLAND, Oct. 19—(AP)—State Highway Engineer R. H. Baldock urged in an address here yesterday that the Oregon 50-foot length and 54,000-pound load limit on trucks be increased.

Addressing the Oregon Motor Transportation association, he also advocated uniformity of truck weight and measure standards at state lines.

Baldock said the prosperity and wealth of a community rests on its transportation facilities and asserted that farmers are "just as dependent on daily deliveries as city dwellers."

Lucky He Jerked On the Rip Cord

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19—(AP)—It was lucky for Capt. Chester G. Orcutt, Des Moines, that he was wearing a parachute today.

Captain Orcutt, a navy reserve officer, was flying upside down during a maneuver, and his safety belt came unstuck.

The plane crashed in a field, while astonished officers floated earthward.

Shrine to Dedicate New Children's Clinic
 PORTLAND, Oct. 19—(AP)—Shrine officials from several other Pacific coast cities will participate in dedication tomorrow of a new clinic at the Shrine's hospital for crippled children.

Waters' Death Blow to Salem

Baseball Booster Wanted to Give City Best Available

(Continued from page 1)

the public announcement that he had purchased a professional baseball franchise and had made arrangements to build a ball park for Salem. "I've been in business here for 48 years and I owe my town something. I like my town."

He went on to relate how he had borrowed money to start his business nearly a century before, and proudly produced the note upon which was marked the monthly payments until it was retired.

"That's how I made my money, right here in Salem," he said, "and now I want to do something for Salem."

Everything had to be the best. When he started "doing something," nothing was too good. Although his advisers would have had him cheapen some of the construction, "it was beautiful to him that stands as a memorial to him out in southeast Salem, he would have none of it. Everything had to be the best."

Waters, when he began his baseball venture, knew full well he'd never realize a cent on his investment. He never entered it with any thought of financial gain in mind.

"I don't give a damn if the club never makes a nickel," he told the writer. "If the people like the club, that's all I care."

Even then Waters, who didn't enjoy the best of health, knew his days were numbered and laughed about it. He thought it a huge joke "for a man of my age, with one foot in the grave, to be going into the baseball business."

It wasn't a new business for George E. Waters. Forty-eight years before, he and Doug Minto, a lifelong friend and for many years a business partner, organized a baseball club in Salem.

Waters, who kept many pictures of that old 1891 club about his offices, laughingly remembered that he and Doug had lost $1500 on it.

He was justly proud of the ball park and of the players. The latter were "the players of the town," he said, "that's all I care."

Because of the fact that he was justly proud of the plant and club, and because he was so bent on doing a "right thing" for the town, it is more than probable that he was things fixed, as he would say, it for the plant and club to continue.

A man close to Waters last night said that he was certain everything in regard to the plant was fixed, and that the club was a "right thing" for the town.

While the baseball park may long stand in commemoration of the man whom everyone who came in contact with him admired, it will probably be many a year before future generations of Salem citizens will find "Santa Claus" as was George E. to dozens of present day kiddies.

He was that kind of a man.

County's Wealth In Land Lowered

(Continued from page 1)

The assessor said. The total valuation on horses and mules, correspondingly, fell from $129,040 to $110,780, although the number of animals assessed rose slightly.

Another marked increase was recorded on hotel and office furniture, from $209,045 to $222,145.

The roll lists the 1940 veterans' exemption at $208,590 as against $201,370 last year.

Livestock classifications were assessed as follows, showing, first, number of animals, second, valuation, third, change in value, and fourth, unit valuations.

Horses and mules $209,045, 780, down $18,260, 339.44; cattle 13,094, $333,375, down $5125, $25.44; sheep and goats 19,790, $45,608, up $1748, $2.30; swine $296, $25.44, 11,630, up $5940, $5.44; poultry $2,903, $13.07, up $1015, 34 cents; dogs, foxes and mink 1783, $11,600, up $1590, $6.55.

Jachetta to Head State Republicans

(Continued from page 1)

ger, Grants Pass, members of the advisory board.

Second—J. H. Pearce, La Grande, vice-chairman; Ben Little, The Dalles; Lowell Stockman, Pendleton, and E. L. Knight, La Grande, members of the advisory board.

Johnson Arrested For Salem Police

Donald M. Johnson, route two, box 392, Eugene, was arrested yesterday by Salem city police sworn out by Salem city police in Marion county jail. He will appear Monday in Salem justice court.

Johnson was arrested here October 3 on a charge of violation of the basic rule. He went to his car to get back, he told the police judge. He did not come back.

World Famous AKRON TRUSSES
 Correctly Fitted
 We Guarantee Comfort and Security
 CAPITAL DRUG STORE
 404 State Corner Liberty

In One Ear ..

Paul Hesser's Column

(Continued from page 1)

Cyclops, the fate of the Mary Ochs (this was somewhat earlier and he was merely practicing) and, strangely enough, the invention of the rumble seat.

Our path crossed that of this great man again at the Annual Chamber of the Organ Grinders society where he put on a show entitled "Able's Irish Rose," which he said he wrote that morning before breakfast. He didn't think it would last. His previous works included "Romeo and Juliet," "Macbeth" and a thing called "Hamlet." His claim to fame was that as some people said Shakespeare wrote them and some said Bacon did it. At the time we were the only one who knew all about it was Thronson.

Through Ochs' previous contacts with him we were able to learn that he had found time in the midst of all that hubbub to write the Zimmerman note, the Hiss telegram and the Gettysburg address. It was not possible that he also had a hand in the message to Garcia, but this was unsubstantiated.

The last time we met him was at a wrestling match in Xanadu (in Xanadu did Kubla Khan a wrestling match decreed between Hercules and the Bright Angel. The Bright Angel won but Thronson took them both on in the afternoon. His powers were obviously failing because he could only get a draw, although there was an extraordinary circumstance in the fact that he had built the Panama canal that afternoon.

Thronson died in 1931 from a cold contracted the day after he came back from a week at Mt. Everest. He was a great man. Ah, the thrills of the profession of journalism!

Hambro to Speak Four Times Here

(Continued from page 1)

Williamette university students and faculty, to be broadcast over KJLM.

From there the president of the League of Nations assembly will go to the Salem chamber of commerce luncheon. He will meet state and city officials from 1 to 2 p. m.

The International club of the Oregon College of Education has arranged a special meeting at Monmouth at 8 o'clock for an address by Hambro, who will be a dinner guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Jensen.

All persons of Norwegian extraction are invited to special reception for Hambro at 6:30 to 7:30 in the chamber of commerce.

Following this Hambro will speak at the Leslie junior high school at a meeting for which educational "right to life" in the area will be guests. Musical numbers are planned for the program, which includes an explanation of a nationwide plan for aiding the people of Norway by Theodore G. Nelson, chairman of the Salem committee. There will be no admission charge, it was stated.

The committee in charge of the affair is Mrs. Eva DuBois, chairman; co-chairman, Mrs. C. Grassman; Mrs. C. Krome, Mrs. L. G. Perschweiler, Mrs. P. Morley and Mrs. Charles Hannagan. Also assisting will be Mrs. Bernard Perschweiler in charge of the dining room, assisted by the young women of the parish.

Lutheran Youth Select Officers

SILVERTON—Officers elected yesterday at the Young People's Federation of the Oregon district at the Lutheran Free church are: Ernest Alne, Astoria, president; Oscar Anderson, Portland, vice-president; Edna Lund, Astoria, secretary; Lorraine Brown, Puget Island, treasurer. The above officers will conduct the offices of the federation for the ensuing year.

Standing committees appointed are: Program, Gudrun Peterson, Astoria; Alf Jacobson and John Vog, Puget Island; music, Oscar Satrum, Silverton, Silvia Kolden, Portland; convention chair, Ed Wahl, Astoria; convention organizer, Myrtle Kolden, Portland; Ocala Bible camp committee, Rev. Ernest Rasmus, Portland, Una Lee, Silverton.

Astoria was chosen as the convention city for 1941.

In anticipation of an overflow crowd at the local church, arrangements have been made to provide a public address system that will enable people on the church grounds to hear the sermon. The concluding service will be held at 7:30 tonight at which time Rev. O. K. Olson of Silverton, Wash., will preach.

Willkie Talks On Farm Plans

Asks FDR how He Can Say He's Liberal With Hague Backing

(Continued from page 1)

instructed to restrict the acreage of corn. They are told that this will reduce the corn surplus. But then we discover that the farmers in the south, who have been instructed to restrict the acreage of cotton, are planting corn.

Producers Crop Money-Go-Round
 "That is bad management. Instead of crop control it produces a crop money-go-round."

"Add what I'd like to know is: Who gets the brass rings?"

Praising the farm record of his running mate, Senator Charles McNary, Willkie declared that "with his advice there will be no lack of an outstanding, forward-looking farm leader as our secretary of agriculture."

While traveling across Wisconsin and Minnesota on route here for his night address, Willkie said he was pleased that Senator Hiram Johnson (R-Calif.) had come out for him.

The argument of Senator Johnson centers largely on the third term. He added, "I think it is the most masterly presentation of that issue which I have ever read."

The nominee voiced a belief that "other outspoken citizens would announce their support for him within a few days."

Four Counted Toll Of Snow Blizzards

Four persons were killed tonight in automobile accidents attributed to blinding snow flurries as winter-like weather made a premature appearance along the eastern seaboard.

At Fort Dix, N.J., two men and two women died and an army chauffeur was critically injured as a passenger car and an army beach wagon crashed head-on in swirling snow.

In Philadelphia, Assistant US Attorney General L. E. W. Schaffel was struck by an automobile and suffered a leg fracture during a snow storm.

The weather bureau in Washington ordered northeast storm warnings hoisted at 11 p. m. EST. from Atlantic City, N.J., southward to the Virginia coast, and warned of moderate, shifting gales moving rapidly eastward from the southern Appalachian region with increasing intensity.

St. Louis Parish Plans Big Dinner

Preparations are being made by the parishioners of St. Louis Catholic church, St. Louis, for the annual turkey dinner to be held on Sunday, October 27, from noon until 2:30 o'clock. On that day visitors will have opportunity to visit the historic church which is the sepulchre for the famous Canadian Indian woman, Madeleine, whose name is linked by history with the early day of the Williamette settlements.

The committee in charge of the affair is Mrs. Eva DuBois, chairman; co-chairman, Mrs. C. Grassman; Mrs. C. Krome, Mrs. L. G. Perschweiler, Mrs. P. Morley and Mrs. Charles Hannagan. Also assisting will be Mrs. Bernard Perschweiler in charge of the dining room, assisted by the young women of the parish.

Astoria was chosen as the convention city for 1941.

In anticipation of an overflow crowd at the local church, arrangements have been made to provide a public address system that will enable people on the church grounds to hear the sermon. The concluding service will be held at 7:30 tonight at which time Rev. O. K. Olson of Silverton, Wash., will preach.

States' Quota Is Announced