West 'not in Bag' Tom Dewey Avers

Notes Roosevelt Has not Visited It; Praises Pioneer Outlook

CALDWELL, Idaho, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Thomas E. Dewey tonight challenged the "not in the bag" slogan for the democratic party. Speaking to a political audience here tonight, the New York district attorney recalled that President Roosevelt has not visited this section of the country in his campaign for reelection. "He thinks you are 'in the bag,'" Dewey explained in his prepared address.

"I do not believe the northwest is 'in the bag' for any man. The northwest has a tradition of energy and independence. It was built by self-reliant men and women who believed in the future of our nation. You know that the future of our nation is not, and never has been, dependent on any 'indispensable man.' Dewey, who campaigned in Idaho last spring as a candidate for the republican nomination for president, tonight urged election of Wendell L. Willkie, the man who defeated him, and of "your own good friend and neighbor," Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, as the vice presidential candidate.

The democratic party, Dewey asserted, "died a tragic death in Chicago last July." Picturing the Chicago convention that nominated President Roosevelt as a strange "conglomeration" of the helpless minority representing the once-great democratic party, "fuzzy minded theorists" from Washington and "hoodlums" from Chicago, Jersey City and the Bronx, Dewey asserted that "the untimely death of the democratic party in Chicago is fair warning to every one of us what a third term means."

Browder's Spouse Ordered Deported

(Continued from page 1) decided that she was subject to deportation and left as the sole question whether she was eligible for favorable treatment under discretionary provisions of the alien registration act of 1940. The law provides that, under certain conditions, the attorney general (1) may permit an alien subject to deportation to leave voluntarily at his own expense, or (2) suspend deportation. If the suspension is for longer than six months, a report must be made to congress. Among the aliens excluded from consideration for leniency are those who have been members of or affiliated with any organization which believes in or advocates overthrow of the government by force.

"Outstanding decisions of the federal courts hold that the communist party is such an organization," Jackson said. "At the hearing the respondent testified that she is the wife of Earl Browder, a leading member of the communist party in the United States; that she met and married her husband in Russia in 1926 at a time when it is assumed he was domiciled there since he had just obtained in a Russian court a divorce from his first wife; and that since coming to the United States she has assisted her husband in research in connected with preparation of his speeches and writings. "Asked whether she herself belonged to any political party, the respondent testified that she did not. Asked whether she subscribed to the aims of the communist party in the United States, she replied, "I never gave it any thought." There she matter rested. "On this record I am unable to make the findings required by the statute if I were to grant the respondent's application (for leniency)."

Oddities

TEMPLE, Tex., Oct. 31.—(AP)—An old, blind mule went for a stroll today down a high railroad trestle.

Along came a fast train, whistle screaming. The mule balked. The train stopped. The engineer and fireman pried out of the cab and pleaded with the mule to get out of the way. The mule adamant. Two hours later the mule still stood there. So did the fast train. Finally in desperation they shot the mule. Then the fast train moved on—two hours late.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 31.—(AP)—When a local draft board finds out what a "costumer" is, it may change its mind. Adjutant General Ben Smith wrote the board he was sending some chairs, tables and other furniture, including a "costumer."

"We don't think we'll need all that furniture," the board chairman wrote back. "Now that costumer, I don't know what that is but I looked it up in the dictionary and that says it is a man who designs dresses, and we don't want him down here."

To furniture dealers and purchasing agents the word "costumer" means a hat and coat rack.

BALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Most businessmen no doubt think there "otta be a law" to prevent kids from soaping their windows on Halloween eve.

But J. H. Pollock is not in this group. The veteran Salt Lake barber has issued a blanket invitation to the youngsters to use his windows for their artistry.

In fact, he offers to pay a dollar for the best cartoon. And there are other prizes, too, including a bottle of hair tonic.

In One Ear

Paul Hauser's Column

(Continued from page 1) Down so fast the government is thinking of converting its energy into electricity and doing away with Bonneville. We are getting so many letters we are even able to keep up with the new stamps as fast as the government issues them and the man who was able to do that was a stamp collector named Roosevelt.

For some reason not yet known to science, the dread plague of letter writing hits the country every time there's an election. People who have not written to their poor, old mothers out on the prairie for those 20 years suddenly feel a tingling sensation in their fingers and take pen in hand to write a letter to the editor. Little children who have not yet passed beyond the "mama see kitty, kitty" stage (the first reader are also taken by the strange malady. Their small vocabulary cramps their style, but the words "kitty" is always expressive to an editor.

People whose last attempt to put two and two together was when as children they pretended to be locomotives write the editor treatises on economics. People who believe The Hague is a kind of whisky write learned discussions of foreign policy and people who are convinced there is a town in Louisiana named Shangri-la write the editor for his gross misunderstanding of the rice crop problem.

As a mere columnist our mail has not had the volume of the editor's, but it has had variety. We have had letters from shepherders, farm wives, schoolteachers, the dean of women of a correspondence school, and a trained chimpanzee to the St. Louis zoo named Joey. We even had a letter from a high government official, which contrary to the editor's Emily Post, was written in red ink, but he apologized by saying it was all he had available at the time.

Were it not that we have been warned off by medical men who have the good of the country at heart (and aren't running for office either) we would propose that presidential elections be held every six months. The country would be in a constant frenzy of letter writing and the revenues of the post office department would be raised to such an unprecedented peak that it could pay off the national debt, build a six-ocean navy and buy new shoes for all the postmen.

Our medical friends have pointed out to us, in urging us not to submit the country to such danger, the tragic fate of one Joseph Z. Pingslap of Cincinnati. Pingslap, a Landon supporter, took up letter writing early in the 1936 campaign. The election came and went, as you may recall, but Pingslap, try as he would, couldn't shake the habit. He wrote letters continuously, learning to write with his feet after his hands were gone, until his sad death in April, 1938.

His is the only death from writer's cramp recorded in medical annals, but until November 5 the medical profession is holding its breath.

British Fire Upon Vessel Is Report

SEATTLE, Oct. 31.—(AP)—An American author, returned here tonight to report that the Japanese liner Linder Helan Maru, told of British shore batteries at Singapore having fired close to the Japanese ship on which she traveled from Bombay to Shanghai. Mrs. Elva Babcock Gardner, author, lecturer and educator, said the incident occurred while she was aboard the Anyo Maru. She was one of the many refugees from Europe and Asia who arrived here aboard the Helan Maru. Her three-year-old daughter was with her. "I don't think they were really trying to hit us," she said. "I think it was just a sort of reminder to the ship that they didn't want her to return. But it was such an unpleasant experience that, if I have any gray hairs, I'm going to blame them on it."

Los Angeles Has Quake; No Damage

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Los Angeles metropolitan area felt a jolting earthquake at 11:26 o'clock tonight. The tremor lasted several seconds and caused in motion. No damage was occasioned. In Glendale, sleepers were awakened and windows rattled. Santa Monica residents felt the shock, as did other beach cities in West Bay area. The earthquake appeared to be local in origin, however.

Portland Woman's Cat Carries Seven Claws

As Well as Nine Lives PORTLAND, Oct. 31.—(AP)—If Louella, the cat of Mrs. H. J. Raymond of Portland, takes a swipe at a mouse and misses with five claws she still may get the rodent. Reason—she has seven claws on each fore paw, compared to the normal four.
