Rebekah District Meet Held at Scio

Mill City Woman Elected as District Chairman; Oldest Member Is Present

SCIO—Maud Montgomery of Scio was succeeded by Millie LaVine of Mill City as chairman of the Rebekah association of district seven, composed of Scio, Lyons, Stayton and Mill City.

Theresa Crabtree of Lyons is the new vice chairman and Gertrude Mason of Mill City succeeds Eunice Bartu of Scio as secretary-treasurer of the association for the ensuing year.

At the annual district convention at ZCBJ hall in Scio Saturday more than 100 members of the Rebekah order were in attendance, representing, in addition to the local unit, members from Stayton, Lyons, Mill City, Albany, Oakridge, Amity, Jefferson, Sweet Home and Glendale. Orchards, Wash. sent Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Snyder, former residents of the Scio community. The only surviving charter member of Scio lodge, Mrs. Riley Shelton, attended. Scio lodge was instituted 44 years ago.

The 1941 convention is to be held at Mill City on a date to be determined following the Oregon Rebekah assembly next May.

Routine and new business was taken up at the afternoon session following welcoming words by Wilma Crow of Scio. Reports of member lodges indicated a healthy condition of the Rebekah which was verified by the address of Vernishia Newby of Amity, state president, who complimented local district officers and members for the "fine spirit of fraternal cooperation."

Scio Baptist Ladies Aid society served turkey dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the Oddfellows club room, following which a brief program preceded resumption of business at the convention hall.

The convention adopted reports of the following committees: resolutions, Blanche Syverson, Lorene Trollinger, Hazel Lewis; thanks, Alice Huber, Margaret Shafer, Ethel M. Kirby; press, Elizabeth Westenhouse, Maude Beauchamp, Bertha N. Lytle; memorial, Theresa Crabtree, Gertrude Mason, Agnes Stupka.

Lyons lodge conferred the Rebekah degree upon Garnet Bassett of that lodge and also upon Katherine Mundt from Mill City.

Georgia Foster, new member at Scio, was among the four unwritten-work contestants receiving certificates of perfection, awarded by the assembly president.

Myrtle McAlpin, assembly vice president, and Grace Christensen and May Jones, past presidents, were in attendance.

Leone Rebekah lodge, Scio, was complimented both by the assembly president and by the press committee upon its handling of convention plans and its participation in their execution.

Keizer 4H Clubs Plan Activity for Year; Social Studies Are Arranged

KEIZER—The Keizer school is busy with the different projects under 4H club work. The second grade plans to visit the Keizer store as a part of its social study unit "The Community."

In honor of national art month they plan to make a frieze illustrating community helpers and their duties.

Third grade pupils who were on the honor roll for the first quarter are Roberta Hamilton, Dolores Qdor, Vera Nell Wilmot, Nona Lee Rappe, Blanche Bechtold, Roma Rae Teets, Merle Knowles, Vernon Minty, Floyd Allen and Wayne Glover.

Interesting booklets about the pilgrims have been made by the third grade. Subjects written are "Squato," The Mayflower," the pilgrim boy and girl, the pilgrim home, the fireplace, wild turkeys and the cradle.

The fifth grade has organized a hobby club. First they talk of hobbies, then read of other people's hobbies.

Officers of the club are Irwin Lewis, president; Ruth McCall, vice president; Elaine Elwood, secretary; Carolyn Weeks, treasurer. The club plans to have a hobby exhibit in the spring.

The fifth grade has been studying the New England states. Various New England scenes are depicted on the bulletin board. The class plans to make a news book which will include local, national and foreign news.

The sixth and seventh class room has undergone a change in decoration to portray a Thanksgiving atmosphere. The work has been done by a committee of pupils.

A short play was given Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

The seventh social studies class is completing a study of the struggles of the early colonies in gaining their independence.

The eighth social studies class is finishing the unit on Oregon history. They have been studying Oregon agriculture in various localities.

All of the 4H clubs meet on Friday with their leaders with the exception of the third year sewing group which meets Mondays.

The clothing I group under direction of Mrs. Paul Yung has decided on the name Happy Little Fingers. Their news reporter is Aijaji Numata.

Another Clothing 1 group under supervision of Mrs. McLoughlin, has started on its first article. Barbara Carrow was a new member added at the Friday meeting.
