By RON GEMMELL

Dotting a few doings and don'ting, and wondering if the Mussolinians aren't pretty well convinced that the Greeks, like Sherman, not only have a name for it but also a way of accomplishing it? . . . Notice that my dear old Slippery Rock Teachers, bless 'em, have won four, lost three and tied one for the season . . . Why hasn't Stanford given the Slipperies the Rose Bowl consideration due 'em?

Vic Sears

Frequently, since the Pacific and Whitman games, I've heard Bombing Buddy Reynolds criticized for failure to get off his passes quick enough to keep from getting trapped for losses . . . Bombing Buddy deserves no such criticism, for it's a darned sight better to hang onto that apple than to throw it before receivers have opportunity to cut out in the open.

Reynolds has had but six flips intercepted all season, and the reason is very evidently because he waits until his receivers have had opportunity to cut where the play calls for 'em to cut . . . In the Pacific and Whitman games the under-footing was so treacherous these receivers had trouble cutting at all, hence Reynolds, waiting for them, was trapped for losses as often as he got passes away.

Gridiron Too Long for Oregon Webfoots

Paul Hauser, the front page columnist, says he's glad he doesn't have to crawl one of the sports section's miles . . . The Bearcats, according to sports page mathematics, have moved the football 2486 yards—"164 yards short of a half mile" . . . Hauser's mathematics claims that is 1.41227 miles, better almost thrice the distance of the sports page's assertion . . . Now that he mentions it, I believe I do remember the arithmetic books said there were 5280 feet instead of yards in a mile.

Will Connolly advances the real reason, so he claims, that Portland's Bearcats weren't invited to train at Fullerton this year . . . "Because," said Connolly, "the Beaver secretary neglected to issue comps to the mayor and aldermen for spring exhibition games after the administration went to the expense of refurbishing the park . . . Sounds like a typical Beaver neglect."

An all-opponent team devised by the Trojans following their game with Washington lists two Oregon States and one Oregon—Guard Sears and Tackle Younce of OSC and Tackle Stuart of Oregon . . . Standlee, Kmetovic and Albert of Stanford, plus Orv Hatcher of Cal, makes up the backfield . . . Standlee nosed out Kieselburgh for the fullback spot by one vote.

Dick Strite of Eugene has figured out that Oregon would be the Pacific Coast conference champ if Webfoot opponents' ends of the grids had been 10 yards shorter . . . He finds the Ducks to have been stopped inside the 10-yard line no less than 10 times, twice against Cal, once against UCLA, twice against Montana, once against USC, twice against Washington, once against Stanford and twice against the Marines.

Borleske Beat Bearcats Back in '06

Nig Borleske defeated Willamette the first time the Bearcats played the Missionaries . . . It was back in 1906, recalls Herb Owen, the rascal promoter, who was quarterbacking the Willamette team that had beaten Oregon State, tied Washington, had been nosed out on a field goal by Oregon and had beaten the biggie of the times, Multnomah club.

Owen says he especially recalls the game in that it was he who contributed to Willamette's downfall by dropping a punt that Borleske promptly recovered . . . "It was the first punt I ever dropped, that I can remember," says Owen. "Borleske pounced on the ball and on the next play kicked the field goal that beat us."

A super athlete is Jim Wender, young Parrish husky who is to be graduated into high school this year . . . Wender is a four-sport star at the northern junior high school, and would probably be a 10-sport star if there were that many sports in which to participate . . . For two seasons he's captained and played a good enough end position to win all-star honors, he was first string hoop center last season and bids fair to repeat this, he handled first base duties in softball and took track wins in the hurdles and broad jump.

Harold Hank's five-year football record at Salem high:

	W	L	T	Pct.	Pt.	Pts.
1940	6	1	1	.857	191	41
1939	6	5	0	.549	169	90
1938	6	2	0	.800	227	82
1937	6	1	0	.889	205	38
1936	3	4	2	.429	86	105
	31	13	4	.705	878	356

Plunges for First Down Through Window

On the recent trip to Bend, Fullback Bill Elsey of the Vics made 20 yards for which he was given no credit in the statistic columns . . . When the bus in which the Vics were transported had to stop for another car that had the road blocked, the bus began skidding toward the ditch and Elsey promptly plunged for a first down through the window.

Nucleus of next year's Viking football team: End Rollie Haug, who did a sweet job of winging this; Halfbacks Dutch Simmons and Rex Hardy, the reverse twins; and Fullback Bill Pettit, who did a bang-up job of understanding Elsey this season . . . Tackle prospects at the current writing are as scarce as Italians in Greece.

Best college prospects for this year's Vik squad: End Les Pearmine and Center Bob Boardman . . . Both should be heard from in college . . . Pearmine was easily the best high school end this observer saw this season, while Haug wasn't far behind . . . The lanky youngster favors Oregon State, so I understand.

Four consecutive beatings in a traditional game is a bit tough on the esophagus of him who has to swallow them, not exempting a tough-guiled Duck . . . Hence, it will be with some gusto that the Ore-gons go into their 44th game with the Oregon State Beavers next Saturday at Corvallis.

The records show the Webfoots are still far ahead in total number of victories, 23 to 13 with seven ties, but many more skins like that put together for the last four years and the Beavos will soon have caught up . . . They won 18-0 in 1936, 14-0 in 1937, 14-0 in 1938 and 19-40 in last year's donnybrook.

Corral Canadeo; Sewell Pitches Passes; Hare Makes Long Run

SPOKANE, Nov. 23—(AP)—Washington State's hard hitting Cougars smothered Gonzaga's ace halfback, Tony Canadeo, to a "fare thee well" to defeat the Bulldogs, 14 to 7, before 8900 post-holiday football fans here this afternoon.

The state college squad rode Canadeo's neck the entire game and never let him get loose for more than a couple of yards. Cecil Hare, Canadeo's shift running mate, scored the Gonzaga touchdown in the first quarter when he broke through tackle on a reverse and galloped and twisted 62 yards to the goal line. Canadeo place kicked the extra point.

Sharpshooting Billy Sewell passed to Halfback Felix Fletcher for WSC's first touchdown in the second quarter and then in the final period set up the final score of the game with a pass to Quarterback Don Greeley before he finally bucked it over from the two-yard stripe. Tackle Stan Johnson place kicked both extra points for WSC. Sewell completed 14 of 23 passes attempted.

The Gonzags rocked the Cougars back on their heels in the entire first period as the Bulldog line outcharged the WSC forwards. Two-thirds of the way through the period Sewell quick-kicked to the Gonzaga 35 from his own seven and Canadeo returned it three yards.

Northwestern Is Winner by 20-0

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats, with blond Bill De Correvont giving the greatest performance of his collegiate career, handed the Bears, Notre Dame a decisive 20 to 0 kicking before 45,000 spectators at Dwyer stadium today.

Northwestern, in closing its season with a sixth victory in eight games, held the upper hand throughout the duel, scoring once in the second period and twice in the third. And it was De Correvont, the most highly publicized prep player in the nation in 1937, who was the principal cog in the powerful Northwestern attack which kept the Irish back on their heels most of the afternoon.

The former Chicago high school sensation played for the first Wildcat touchdowns, set-up and then scored the second on a speedy dash off tackle and punted brilliantly as Northwestern scored its third win over the Irish in 20 games. His performance had to be brilliant to overshadow the play of his team mate Don Clawson, who scored two of the battle's three touchdowns.

Bowes, who placed second in the same event last year, is believed to stand a good chance of winning the event this.

The club will elect officers at a meeting to be held in the Santiam room of the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock Monday night. Retiring head is Bob White.

There will be a limited membership, based on skiing participation.

Casaba chasers take over at the Viking villa no later than Monday afternoon, when Coach Harold Hauk calls out aspirants for the 1940-41 Salem high hoop team that faces a 26-game schedule which includes, for the first time in several years, home-and-home appearances against the University of Oregon Frosh and Oregon State Roosters.

From his second successive state championship aggregation, Coach Hauk will have but two veterans returning. One is Bud Coons, rugged junior guard who saw rugged service, and the other is Eddie Salstrom, reserve forward who was the squad's top sharpshooter.

Members of last year's junior varsity team expected to make bids for varsity berths this year include Don Bower, Bob Irish, Warren Ling, Dutch Simmons, Don Cutler, Joe Bowersox, Bob Sedestrom, Rollie Haug, Les Pearmine and Ben Gifford.

Bob Irish is probably the top center prospect to replace All-State Russ Satter, while Bower and Simmons are considered prominent candidates for open guard and forward berths.

Up from the sophomore teams will be other promising hoopers, including Rex Hardy, the football halfback, and Jerry Williams.

By ROBERT MYERS
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23—(AP)—The University of California at Los Angeles football team leaped back into a familiar role today. The highly favored Washington Huskies smacked it down, 41 to 0, and buried the Bruin dream of extending its "winning streak" to two games in the worst avalanche of touchdowns seen in many a year by followers of the Blue and Gold.

The business-like Washingtons scored in the first quarter, nursed the lead through the half, and then the touchdowns began to rattle off the field like rain on the roof.

Two scores went up on the board in the third, which more than led the affair, and Coach Jimmy Phelan began dipping deep on the players bench.

Thirty five Huskies in all got into the game, and three more touchdowns went up in the last quarter as the lads from the northwest went wild and the Bruins went completely to pieces for their eighth defeat of the 1940 season.

For the first half it was a close game with the Washingtons out to avenge two successive setbacks by the Bruins—featured by the brilliant punting and passing of halfback Dean McAdams and the line charging ability of Fullback Jack Stackpool.

McAdams passed 16 yards to Don Means, his quarterback, to wind up an 83-yard parade for the first score, and hurled another for 31 yards to end Jay MacDowell for the second. He personally escorted the ball across on the third after a series of beautiful runs, and then turned the job over to the scrubs as the fourth period came on.

Stackpool connects for 39 yards to a reserve, Stacy, and another in to the end zone for a touchdown to Earl Younglove. A substitute fullback, Mark McCortie, rammed the scattered Bruin line for 10 yards and another tally with less than 30 seconds left while the crowd of 35,000 was disappearing. Lloyd Phelps, a halfback, intercepted a pass and raced back 55 yards for a final touchdown. Substitutes Berg, with three, and Mison, with two, accounted for five conversions.

UCLA made one scoring threat. The Bruins traveled from their own 20 to the Washington 7 in the second quarter, but a hobbled lateral was recovered on the five by McAdams and that ended the thrust into Husky territory.

Lineups and summary:
Washington: LE..... Smith
McDowell, LT..... Mison
Coulter, LG..... Pinsky
Frankowski, LG..... Cohea
Mucha, C..... Matheson
Greenwood, RG..... De Francisco
Nixon, RT..... Sommers
Marx, RE..... Simpson

Ito Gets Return Go With Elliott

It's Harry Elliott versus Tro Ito in a rematch at the top of the grapple program at the army all women's night, and once more all women's night. Elliott, pinch hitting for Bulldog Jackson, who couldn't make last week's performance, went in against Ito in his first appearance in two years. He put the bulbous Japanese down with whip wristlocks, causing much suffering of Ito's ego.

"I've figured out a perfect block for those wristlocks," Ito told Promoter Owen, "and I want another chance at Elliott."

"Bring it on," answered Elliott, "and let in all the women free of charge to see me spank that little Jap properly."

Backing up the rematch are two other bouts, featuring Billy Rayburn against Bud Jackson in the semifinal and Jesse James against Elton Owen in the opener.
