Woodburn City Council Meets

Voting Irregularity Rumor Squelched; Salary for Officials Set

WOODBURN—Rumor of a possible irregularity at election polls September 4, at which time the city of Woodburn voted $45,000 bonds for, subsidization of Bonneville power, by the close margin of 22 votes, was squelched at the city council meeting Tuesday night.

It is reported that council members had thrown out a challenge for disgruntled parties to present evidence of irregularity, if such existed. As none appeared, the matter was considered closed. John W. Shuler, Portland bond attorney, was present at the meeting.

Mayor Harold Austin appointed Delbert S. Coyner as the new city marshal. Coyner will take over his duties January 1. Perry Williams has been replacing Kenneth Schooler as marshal since Schooler has been with the national guard.

The council also arranged salaries of the city officials. Mayor and councilmen the receive $1.50 for each regular meeting attended. No pay will be made for special meetings or others in connection with city business. The city recorder's pay is $95 per month, half to be paid out of the city treasury and half by the water department. Other salaries are city treasurer $30 a month; city street commissioner $75 a month; water superintendent $100 per month; city marshal $75; city attorney $30; fire chief $5.50; city health officer $85 per year; city auditor $20 per year.

Two representatives of the League of Oregon Cities were present and explained in detail how codification of the city charter could be accomplished under a PWA project sponsored by the league. Show Dispensed With, Mt. Angel

Santa to Appear at Open Air Presentation of Gifts; Flu Said Less Likely

MT. ANGEL—The usual show and carol singing that form the first part of the program arranged each year by the Business Men's club for the children of the community and surrounding country will be dispensed with this year, nevertheless, Santa Claus will be here at 3 p. m. to hand out the usual bag of goodies to all children present.

It was decided that the auditorium show would only facilitate the spreading of the flu which is prevalent among the children here. It was thought unlikely that the disease would be transmitted in the open air; so the last part of the program which features Santa's appearance at the community Christmas tree, will be carried out as planned.

All children are welcome. Every child who makes his appearance at the Christmas tree at 3 p. m. will be presented with his bag of candy, nuts and a gift.
