

Memorials Hit By Legislators

Willkie and Roosevelt Finally Get Good Wishes of State

Wendell Willkie winged Wednesday across the Atlantic toward embattled Britain with the blessing of the Oregon house of representatives upon his journey, and President Roosevelt belatedly received the Oregon legislature's felicitations upon his third inaugural.

But while tossing off these expressions of good will toward outsiders, members of the legislature generated a certain amount of internal ill will.

The state senate unanimously approved the Roosevelt memorial, with its admittance to the president and congress to keep the nation at peace. But, the inaugural being two days past, it was necessary to change the tenor of the memorial and that necessitated its return to the house to concur in the amendments.

There its progress became stormy again, for Rep. Giles French (R-Sherman) moved that the house refuse to concur. But he was voted down, 31 to 27.

Extends Best Wishes
The resolution extending to Willkie "best wishes for a safe and successful voyage to the British Isles" was introduced by Reps. Harvey Wells (R-Mult.) and Warren Erwin (D-Mult.), the latter explaining that in addition to being a sincere compliment to a defeated candidate who had demonstrated his patriotism in these trying times, it might "assuage troubled waters" by proving that the house would support felicitations to public leaders, regardless of party.

Reps. John Steelhammer (R-Marion) and James A. Rodman (D-Lane) objected to the resolution as frivolous and wasteful of time, and agreed that such procedure explained one reason "why Marion county hesitates to raise the pay of legislators."

Erwin insisted that consideration of such matters wasted "not one red cent" of taxpayers' money in the absence of bills up for final consideration, the twice-daily sessions of the house are brief and perfunctory.

"Peculiar Manner"
Even in the senate the Roosevelt memorial inspired querulous comment. Sen. Law Wallace (D-Mult.) remarking that it had been handled in a "peculiar manner." Both he and Sen. Thomas E. Mahoney (D-Mult.) objected to the house amendments which deleted mention of the third term and brought in mention of congress.

"It is my opinion that this memorial should have been handled in a non-partisan way," Sen. W. E. Burke (R-Yamhill) said. "The outstanding issue at the last election was the defeat of Hitler. This memorial should have gone further and urged more assistance to England. If England is defeated in this war the United States will stand alone."

Dorothy McCullough Lee, (R-Mult.) denied there was any objection to the memorial among members of the senate resolutions committee.

Senator Requests Measure Change

Brief debate developed in the senate Wednesday afternoon when Senator Law Wallace moved to take his bill defining the word "need" in the old age assistance law away from the ways and means committee and refer it to the judiciary committee of which he is a member.

Senator Charles Childs asked if this wasn't out of order. Wallace replied that he intended to return the bill to the ways and means committee after it had been "doctored" by the judiciary committee group. The request was granted.

The Wallace bill defines "need" as the difference between income and the maximum pension.

Non-Resident Law Repeal Approved

The senate roads and highways committee Wednesday reported out favorably a bill repealing the motor vehicle non-residence registration law which has been in operation in Oregon for many years.

Similar laws previously were repealed in the states of Washington and California.

Assessment Date Change Proposed

A bill to change the tax assessment date from March 1 to January 1 will be introduced by the house assessment and taxation committee.

The bill, sponsored by the tax commission, would make the date of tax levy in June instead of December and would change the beginning of the fiscal tax year to July 1.

Under the measure quarterly tax payments would be changed to November 5, February 5, May 5 and August 5, so that they would not fall at the same time as other tax payment dates.

Rep. W. B. Morse (R-Crook) said in committee that the bill was opposed by eastern Oregon assessors who would be obliged under its terms to make their assessment rounds in the rainy and muddy period of the year.

Change of Name In Law Is Asked

A bill introduced by Senator Douglas McKay, Marion county, would change the name of the proposed "anti-price discrimination law" to the "unfair practices act."

The bill would give associations and individuals the right to institute injunction suits to prevent violations of the law.

The Oregon law, under the proposed amendments would be the same as acts now in operation in California, Washington and Colorado.

Provision that prevailing wage scales shall be the basis of determination of costs of labor in below or above cost also is included in the new bill.

Forgets to Ask For Equipment

Principal discussion at Wednesday's board of control meeting centered on the omission by George Alexander, warden of the state penitentiary, of an appropriation request for $20,000 to equip a new building now nearing completion at the prison annex.

Alexander declared that at the time he prepared his budget he overlooked this item. He has ample funds to cover maintenance.

The board of control suggested that Alexander place the matter before the joint ways and means committee.

Bill to Restore Rights Sought

Amendments Asked to Aid Released Prisoners Completing Term

A resolution introduced in the senate Wednesday would amend the state constitution so as to restore the civil rights of penitentiary prisoners after they have served their sentences.

The resolution received the approval of the state parole board, several of whose bills also were introduced Wednesday in the senate.

Ten of the 17 forestry program bills were dropped into the senate hopper. The most important of these provides for the development of burned-over and logged-off lands taken over by the state from the counties. Gov. Charles A. Sprague recommended the approval of this series of bills in his message to the legislature.

Sen. Joel C. Booth (R-Linn), introduced a bill changing the time of holding one of the semi-annual meetings of the state board of medical examiners.

A bill by the senate game committee would make it unlawful to catch or fish for salmon, shad, striped bass, sturgeon or other anadromous fish in Alaska bay or its tributaries at any time with hook and line. Reports indicated that this bill would be opposed by a group of fishermen living in the Alaska bay vicinity.

The bill, sponsored by the secretary of state to cause to be printed annually in book form a list of motor vehicle registrations. Copies of the book would be sent to state police and other peace officers.

Public Hearing Slated on Bills

Truck Size Increase and Combination Measures to Be Considered

A public hearing will be held Monday night on two important bills now in the hands of the senate roads and highways committee.

One bill would increase the size and weight of trucks.

The other bill would authorize the state highway commission and county courts to issue permits for the continuous operation of combinations of motor vehicles for the transportation of logs, poles or piling having an overall length exceeding 50 feet.

Restrictions would be authorized under certain conditions.

The bill increasing the size and weight of trucks was sponsored by the truck operators. The railroads were expected to oppose its passage.

This measure has the support of Governor Charles A. Sprague and the state highway commission.
