

Draft to Get 250 Baseball Men, Estimate

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Feb. 22—(AP)—At the present rate of exchange of civilian suits for soldier suits, baseball figures to lose around 250 athletes to the army before the 1941 season is completed.

Naturally that is a rough, very rough, guess, but we have at least a foundation on which to build in estimating the inroad of the draft on organized baseball.

The Brooklyn Dodgers organization includes 12 clubs, and to stymie the possibility of getting caught unprepared by an abrupt departure of numerous players simultaneously, the local draft boards of the members of the various teams were checked to get an idea as to the approximate time Uncle Sam might beckon to the different individuals.

The check revealed that an even dozen players could expect to finish the coming season in the army, if they can pass the physical examinations which are uncovering dental troubles and flat-foot floppies in the most unexpected places. We sometimes wonder what they would find with a fellow like Max Baer, for instance, "I" strain, no doubt.

Anyway, the fact that 12 clubs stand to lose a total of 12 players might, for want of a better yardstick, be taken as the general situation over the baseball field. That figures one man to a club.

There are approximately 40 minor leagues, and as a conservative estimate of an average of six clubs to a league, that would be about 240 clubs. On the basis of one draftee to a club, that's 240 draftees, not counting the major league eligibles.

Naturally, the players aren't divided one to a club. Most of the eligibles will be found in the class "A" to class "C" leagues inclusive.

Those are the boys who in many cases have just reached draft age, and who are unmarried. When a player reaches the affluent state which follows this advancement to class "AA" or the majors, he usually takes his first paycheck and the little woman by the arm and goes to the little church on Maple street. The players in the class "D" leagues mostly are youngsters not yet of voting age.

It will be more than an ordinary hardship for a player who is drafted during the season. He loses practically two years' work, figuring that baseball is his major occupation, and also that it is work.

A player drafted on June 1, for example, would have most of his 1941 season taken away from him, and when he returned on June 1, 1942, he might be straight as an arrow and sound as a bell, but he couldn't expect to be taken on by a club which had gone through spring training and was well organized.

That season would be entirely lost to him, and, if some past instances of players remaining away from the game for a season are any gauge, he might be a loss in future seasons. Sometimes it's hard to regain the touch after a long absence.

It's doubly tough on the athletes—a year's loss—because they are losing a year at the height of what is a short career at best.

Hartman Five Increases Lead In Industrial Bowling Loop

By ED DONNELLY
Statesman Bowling Editor

It's still a horse race in Salem's Industrial bowling league, but the Hartman Jewelers took off some of the pressure by taking two out of three from Standard Oil Thursday night, taking a one-game lead over the rest of the pack and dropped the Oilers from second to third. In other feature matches of the night, Coca Cola started like ABC champs in their match with Rices, rolling a first muffed their chances of going to the top by dropping two out of three to Woodburn. Ramp led the scorers with a game of 234 and series of 586.

"Pappy" Cline's coffee shoppers took over the lead in the City league, pasting Nashs three times to take a two game lead over the rest of the field. Red cross, formerly tied for first, was dumped unceremoniously, two out of three, by the last place Parkers five. Acme auto moved into a tie for second by taking two out of three from Keapo lunch, while Pades continued their dizzy

The Ladies League continued to be a topsy-turvy affair, with the Coca Cola Red Coats taking over first place by virtue of sweeping their series with the top spot Capital Bedders, to drop the latter to third place when Keglettes continued their winning ways, continued their winning ways by taking two out of three from McKay Chevrolet. Garbarino, with a 186 game and Barnica with a series of 496, topped the scorers. The Sundin tailors in the Mercantile league had to spot too many pins to the US Bankers and the "lucky" boys took their series 2-1, to cut into the leaders lead and take over second place from the Statesman printers who dropped their series to the Salem brewery by one game. McFarlane was high for the night with a 231 game and 579 series.

The Paulus Taggers continued to make a run-away race of it in the Commercial loop, taking two out of three from the Senator barbers to stay nine games in front of the field. State street market continued its upward surge by winning three straight from Friensens, to take over second place from a stumbling Straw & Straw team which was dropping a like number to Nicholsons. Gustafson had high game with 224,

Oregon-Bred Midland Wins 'Nita Race; Flamingo Stakes Taken by Dispose

Salem, Oregon, Sunday Morning, February 23, 1941

$20,000 Canter Makes Him Derby Favorite

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 22—(AP)—Dispose, the commuting colt from South Carolina, set himself up as a good Kentucky derby candidate by winning the $20,000 Flamingo stakes by a head over Curious Coin today before 29,541 fans, the biggest crowd seen at Hialeah Park since the boom days.

Dispose won a thrilling, breath-taking race, in which he and Curious Coin fought it out right down the stretch, yet the promising three-year-old was forced to divide the crowd's attention with Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, which made his 1941 debut with an impressive victory.

The "big boss" of 1940, running against three horses in the event just before the Flamingo, looked handsome as a silver dollar. He took the lead almost at the start and led the rest of the way without Jockey Don Meade ever having to use his whip.

Greentree stable's Hash, which will oppose Bimelech in the $50,000 Widener next Saturday, challenged the favorite in the stretch, but he didn't quite have it. As they went under the wire Bimelech was three quarters of a length in front, with Shot Put another five lengths in the rear.

Dispose might have had his job in the Flamingo made easier by the scratching of Warren Wright's Whirlaway just before post time. It was discovered that Whirlaway had "popped a splint," a leg injury that requires long attention and that might keep him out of the Kentucky derby.

Dispose in winning $20,500 of the purse ran the mile and an eighth in 1:48 4-5, a full second less than Bimelech required for the same distance.

The King ranch colt returned to his backers $4.20 for each $2 mutual ticket, while Bimelech paid off only $2.70, as there were only four horses in Bimelech's event, they didn't take anything except win bets.

Dispose paid $3.40 to place and $2.80 to show. Curious Coin refunded $3.80 and $3.10, with the Rhymer, three lengths back in third place, paying $4.20.

Final week of City Intramural league play opens with the sophomore Giants of Salem high virtually assured of the pennant, with Hough of the Giants equally well assured of the loop's individual scoring honor and with Leslie and Parrish evidently destined to battle it out for second position.

The Giants have left clashes with the two cellar-dwellers, the Reds and Greens, and Parrish and Leslie meet Friday night after Parrish first takes on the Yankees and Leslie meets the Greens.

Should both junior high teams win their Tuesday games, Parrish would then need a win over Leslie to clinch first place, while a Leslie win would throw the two teams into a tie for that spot.
