

House Passes Measure to Raise Age Pensions to $40 Maximum

Ways and Means Given Vote Of Confidence on Bill Clearing Need Basis

Committee Revising Measure to Meet US Federal Social Security Objections; National Guard "Kicks" Aired

The house passed with but two dissenting votes Monday a bill to raise the maximum grant for old age assistance from $30 to $40 and later voted confidence in the ways and means committee's handling of social security legislation by refusing 34 to 23 to recall a bill to define need in pensions.

Democrats charged that the measure to raise the pension ceiling, sponsored by the administration, was "another fraud on the old people," but voted for the bill. Reps. James A. Rodman (R-Lane) and Giles L. French (R-Sherman) voted "No."

The second pension battle was on Rep. George Duncan's measure to clarify the "need basis" for pensions by permitting each recipient to earn up to $15 monthly from private sources and allow pensioners exceptions on real property up to $5000.

Chairman A. Rennie (R-Benton) of the ways and means social security subcommittee, said the bill had to be revised to meet federal social security board objections. Rennie said his committee was working on the bill and would report it out as soon as possible.

Rennie explained that the bill to raise the pension maximum would permit Oregon to obtain the maximum $20 federal match money in the most needy cases and in connection with hospitalization costs now borne by the state alone.

Rep. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Multnomah) charged that past legislatures have been making "200 gestures" by memorializing congress to "do something for the old folks" while failing to enact a tax program to provide increased pensions.

"It's up to the legislature to stay here," Neuberger said, "until it enacts a tax bill that will provide adequate pensions."

Rep. Rodman told the house he had been informed that Oregon national guardsmen at Camp Murray are being required to do "menial work" for draftees coming into cantonments. He suggested it might be a matter for legislative inquiry.

Rodman said that guardsmen are occupying tents while draftees are being quartered in cantonments. Vet Reveals "Method"

Rep. Harvey Wells (R-Mult.) one of two Spanish war veterans in the house, said he believed it was common practice in the army to "wine and dine" new men. "You show them how to do things and pretty soon they get used to them and you can start borrowing money from them," he said.

Debate among members of the Multnomah county delegation on measures to elect representatives from Multnomah by positions and to increase the salary of the Multnomah county auditor took up a major portion of the house session time Monday.

The house passed and sent to the governor the bill to raise the salary of the Multnomah county auditor from $3600 to $4600 after a 45-minute parliamentary workout.

The house passed and sent to the senate a bill to provide appeal through the courts from rulings of the state liquor commission.

Expense Bills Passed
Appropriation bills to pay expenses of the Oregon national guard and to maintain the Battleship Oregon were passed and sent to the governor.

The house labor and industries committee reported out "do pass" a bill by Rep. J. D. Perry (D-Columbia) to combine functions of the unemployment compensation commission, the industrial accident commission and the state labor department in a state department of labor and industry.

Lottery Law Letup Asked

Liberalization of the lottery section of the Oregon laws is provided in a bill introduced by the senate judiciary committee Monday. Gifts or awards of money, property or anything of value which is awarded by lot or drawing as a trade stimulant by any mercantile establishment, theatre, radio broadcasting station, newspaper or other concern which charges no price and collects no fee for participation in such lot or drawing, other than its regular prices, would be exempt from the lottery provision.

A public hearing on this bill probably will be sought later in the legislative session, Dickson indicated.

Bill Would Increase Log Truck Weights

Under the provisions of a bill by Sen. Lew Wallace (D-Mult.) the combined weight of trucks and load in log hauling operations would be increased from 54,000 to 68,000 pounds.

Wallace said this measure is in the interest of the logging and milling industry. Certain restrictions are contained in the bill.

Pay Hike for Yamhill Sheriff Is Sought

A bill introduced Monday by Sen. W. E. Burke would increase the salary of the sheriff of Yamhill county from $2000 to $2400 a year. The salaries of the county commissioners would be increased from $4 to $5 a day.

US Navy Orders Tanks

The U. S. navy has awarded a $3,240,000 contract for the purchase of troop-carrying, seagoing tanks, similar to the one pictured above, to Donald Roebeling of Clearwater, Fla. It was believed approximately 200 tanks would be delivered under the contract.

Gas Tax Law now 22 Years of Age

Today is the 22nd birthday of the gasoline tax—the motorist's friend, if you look at it that way.

Twenty two years ago Oregon made legislative history when this tax, one cent a gallon at first, was devised as a means of raising revenues to build highways. Since that time the state has collected $115,316,000 from motorists' purses for this purpose. The rate in some states, of which many have followed Oregon's lead, has risen as high as seven cents, but here it stands at five.

Chamber Hears Industry Tax Group Asked

Resolution in Senate Seeks Board to Study Situation to 1943

Washington, DC, is a "horrible example" of what centralized federal government may some day mean for the entire nation, Rep. James Rodman of Eugene told members of the Salem chamber of commerce at their luncheon Monday noon.

Pointing out that Washington's crime rate is high, its health rating poor, housing deplorable and educational system below standard while the cost of city government is the highest per capita among large cities of the nation, Rodman said this was because of the "remote control" system under which the city is governed by members of congress who have no personal interest in it.

The speaker in discussing the present legislative session, objected to the proposed increases in relief and unemployment funds, while employment is gaining; and particularly to the bills which make relief records secret so that budget committees may not inspect them with a view to making savings.

Rodman was introduced by Rep. H. R. "Farmer" Jones of Marion county.

Faculty Will Present Play

Willamette university faculty members will present the famed farce "Dulcy" Monday night, March 10, in the Leslie auditorium, Professor William C. Jones, production chairman, announced Monday.

Mrs. Genevieve Oppen, Willamette dramatics director will direct the production and play the title role. Rehearsals are in progress and casting is completed.

In the cast will be Mrs. Oppen, Dr. Jones, Professors H. C. Hutchins, Maurice Brennan, Daniel Schultze, Robert Wilson, Egbert Oliver, Kenneth McLeod and Richard Liebes, and two wives of faculty members, Mrs. Maurice Brennan and Mrs. Herbert Rahe.

Production staff will be composed of Dr. Charles H. Johnson, state manager; Constance Fowler, art director; Maurice Brennan, music; Lorena Jack and Lois Latimer, furniture; Richard Liebes, tickets; Robert Wilson, programs; Earl Brown, electrician; Mrs. Herbert Rahe, costumes; and Coach R. S. Keene, head usher.

"Dulcy" is the first play to be presented by the faculty for seven years. In 1934 they produced "So This is London," and in 1931 "The Thirteenth Chair."

Juvenile and Probate Work Change Sought

Juvenile and probate court work in counties having more than 35,000 population, which embrace one judicial district, would be transferred from the county judges to the circuit courts under the provisions of a bill approved by the senate Monday.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Allan Carson, Marion county, and would affect only two counties.

Industry Tax Group Asked

Resolution in Senate Seeks Board to Study Situation to 1943

Sens. Coe McKenna (R-Mult.) and W. H. Steiwer (R-Wheeler) Monday introduced a joint resolution providing for the creation of a taxation and industrial development commission.

The resolution carries an appropriation of $5000.

The commission would be composed of seven members, two to be selected by the president of the senate, two by the speaker of the house and three by the governor. The committee would report prior to the 1943 legislative session.

Studies outlined for the commission include:

Progressive reduction in assessed value of real and personal property subject to taxation.

To make comparison of the proportionate part of the cost of government upon both real and personal property taxes with that of adjoining states.

Investigate and determine the relative tax cost or burden upon new industries which contemplate locating in this state as compared with the costs and burdens in adjoining states.

To determine the possibility of so revising the tax structure of this state as to make its advantageous for industry and business to locate within its borders.

To make complete survey of the tax system methods of assessing, collecting and administering the entire tax structure of this state and to make recommendations for a revision thereof.

To report amount of real and personal property within the state which is subject to taxation by reason of ownership by the federal government or its agencies.

Lines Inspection Measure Killed

The senate Monday disapproved a bill by Sen. Ashby Dickson (D-Mult.) and others, providing for the regulation of construction, operation and maintenance of telephone, telegraph, power and other transmission lines.

Sen. Thomas R. Mahoney declared that this legislation was desired by both employers and workers and had been the subject of a well-attended public hearing.

The bill also was favored by Sen. J. W. Wipperfurth, (R-Josephine) who explained that the regulatory rules would be promulgated by the state utilities commissioner while the inspections would be under the state labor department.

Sen. W. E. Burke (R-Yamhill) opposed the measure on the ground that the inspection charge of 50 cents per pole mile was excessive.

Tax Bill Withdrawn

A bill by Senator Coe McKenna, Multnomah county, providing for waiving penalties and interest on delinquent taxes for 1939 and prior years when the current taxes are paid in full, was withdrawn Monday.
