Jones to Call Back Wine Bill

Plans Withdrawal as Governor Expresses His Opposition strict sales of wines exceeding 14 per cent of alcohol by volume to state stores). This bill, however, should be amended, he said, to allow such sale at state agencies as well as state stores.

"There is a strong public demand for this amendment to our laws," the governor added, as to restricting sale of fortified wines. "The Sheriffs' association, individual police officers and judges strongly recommend that fortified wines should no longer be made available in retail package stores."

Saying he would seek the recall of his bill "because of the governor's disapproval," Rep. Jones added:

"I don't mind taking on the Portland bottlers as well as all of the wine interests of California, but I would not push this bill any farther if it would cause embarrassment to Gov. Sprague."

There are two major wine bills in the senate, SB 27 zy Sen. Mahoney outlawing fortified wine, and SB 200 by Sen. Burke, restricting its sale to state stores. Both are before the senate alcoholic committee.

Details Told Of Air Crash

wreckage, imprisoned by crumpled metal and beyond the help of the injured and shocked survivors.

Rescue crews didn't find the wreckage until about dawn although EAL officials reported just after midnight the plane had undoubtedly crashed. Passengers Jesse Rosenfield of New Orleans and N. Hansell of the Bronx made their painful way to farm homes and then to telephones, the latter being guided by a dog.

CAA started its own inquiry on this worst mishap in EAL's history but declined any report on preliminary findings.

Kickenbacker Directs Survivors to Prevent Fire

Still pinned in the cabin when rescuers clambered into the broken hull was Rickenbacker, No. 1 American ace pilot in the World war and present president of EAL.

Left hip broken, several ribs smashed, head gashed, he still was conscious, had been shouting warnings to shivering passengers outside to strike no matches lest the gasoline-soaked wreckage be wrapped in fire avoided on impact by the pilot's last-minute turning off of ignition switches.

Taken to Piedmont hospital, he was given slightly better than an even chance. His wife drove to Atlanta over slippery highways from Charlotte, NC, where she had been visiting.

Also listed as seriously hurt at Piedmont was H. A. Littledale, assistant managing editor of the New York Times, who was en route from his Short Hills, NJ, home to Mexico for a vacation. Mrs. Littledale, who is editor of Parents' Magazine, also was in serious condition at Crawford Long hospital.

Pinned under wreckage and a tree, rain-soaked and in pain, she still urged rescuers to look to others before releasing her.

Dead with Byron and Captain Perry were Co-pilot L. E. Thomas, Steward Clarence Moore, both of New York; A. Leibowitz, Atlanta; Juan Maria, San Salvador, Central America; B. C. M. Van Der Hoop of Scarsdale, NY, vice president of the Tin Processing corporation of New York.

Capacity Crowd Sees Rink League of Nations Fete

Nearly a capacity crowd saw the second performance of the "League of Nations Rink Festival" at the Mellow Moon rink last night in one of the most outstanding programs of its kind ever held in Salem. The show included 15 acts representative of as many nations all performers in colorful costumes of their homelands.

Seven Indian youths from Chemawa opened the program to the accompaniment of one of their native drums. Leo Alexander demonstrated the famous "Hoop Dance" and then joined the others in an Indian war dance.

The Czechoslovakian group from Scio was interrupted several times by applause during their presentation of native Czech folk dances.

Mr. Robert Hutcheon, well-known to Salem people, provided a bit of humor with Scotch songs and yarns.

Two Japanese boys from Hazel Green performed "Kindo," the duel with clubs. Their picturesque shields and head dresses won the immediate interest of the audience.

Miss Lucille Shannon and Mr. Paul Armstrong, popular local dancers, delighted the crowd with their "Adagio Waltz."

Louis D. Ragione, concert baritone, was called back to sing "O Sole Mio" as an encore.

A number of interesting skating features were included in the program for which Sidney L. Stevens acted as master of ceremonies.

Competing with seven other couples in Thursday night's waltz contest, Toni and Gene Pohlman were the winners. They will compete with Wednesday's winners, Eleanor and Danny Wagner, and tonight's winning couple to determine the winners of the two wrist watches offered by a local jewelry firm.

Mayor and Mrs. W. W. Chadwick and other mayors from nearby towns were honor guests on Thursday night.

The third and final performance will be held tonight.

Five Boys Held For Disturbance Over Pet Dog

Five boys, all 'teen-aged, were brought into juvenile court Wednesday after they were alleged to have created a disturbance Tuesday night at the H. B. Speck home on route seven.

No formal charge has been filed against the youths, whose names were not disclosed by authorities.

They were reported, however, to have become antagonistic toward Mr. and Mrs. Speck when the latter refused to allow one of their number to inspect three dogs belonging to him.

The youth had lost his own pet, and had not found it among two stray dogs which the Specks, officers of the Marion-Polk county humane society had shown them.

The visit of the boy in question, together with four friends, on Tuesday night was believed to be an attempt to force inspection of all five dogs on the Speck place.

tive from Linn county. He visited the upper and lower houses this week. He's not related to Sen. Marshall Cornett of Klamath et al.

Which reminds that the 1903 session was the first at which Murray Wade drew and published his first book of sketches of legislative personalities. Since that time he's missed only the sessions of 1905, '07, '09 and '11, in this undertaking, from which he says he gains as much satisfaction as profit, if not more.

Sen. Lew Wallace (D-Multnomah disclosed to the senate Wednesday that the hatchet which Sen. Walter E. Pearson (D-Multnomah) gave to President of the Senate Dean H. Walker was made in Japan.

"When I was a boy," Wallace told the senate, "I was told that the Indians were believed to have come from Asia via Alaska. I was also taught that Indians originally were Chinese.

"Now this hatchet, which Senator Pearson says was used by Washington to cut down the cherry tree, must have belonged to the Indians, and brought by them from the Orient.

"It has a label "Made in Japan" on it, so that proves the Indians came from Asia."

HB 343, a bill "to regulate the sale of second - hand watches", is on the house calendar for third reading today.

Sen. Harry M. Kenin (R-Multnomah) asked the senate to correct the mural in the senate chamber. Kenin said that the man on the horse actually is three feet away from the horse.

"That's all right, senator," President Dean H. Walker replied. "That's the same way that senators here take positions which they really do not have."

Better than a dozen hankies for opening STUFFY NOSTRILS

What's the use of soiling so many hankies, trying to blow mucus out of stopped-up nostrils? It only piles up the laundry bill. And remember, a lot of violent blowing only makes your nose more sore, red, unsightly, and it very often injures the delicate membranes.

A more economical and gentler way to relieve congestion in your nostrils due to a cold is to insert a little Mentholatum.

This delightful ointment will soon break up congested mucus, relieve the smothery feeling, and permit you to breathe normally through the nose. It also relieves sniffling, sneezing, swelling, soreness, and redness.

Mentholatum helps in so many ways that you should always remember this: For Discomforts from Colds—Mentholatum. Link them together in your mind.
