

Meetings Set For County Farm Program

Qualification for the 1941 agricultural conservation program requires Marion county farmers to fill out estimate sheets in the immediate future; otherwise, no compliance check will be made for farms this year. Community meetings have been arranged for this purpose, Acting County Agent Robert E. Rieder stated Wednesday.

Each farmer, who has signed under the program, is urged to attend the meeting in his community to find out how much he may earn in 1941. Community committees will be at their respective district meetings with the information for figuring payments for farms in their districts.

Schedule of dates (all sessions afternoon and night) and places follow:

Berry Growers Face Hallock Condemnation

Oregon strawberry growers and shippers face the possibility of having to purchase entire new hallock supplies, Director J. D. Mickle of the Oregon department of agriculture announced Wednesday.

Mickle stated that the department had been advised by federal food and drug officials that the standard container, which has been in use since 1933, is looked upon as deceptive because of the raised bottom of the hallock.

It has been pointed out to Senators Charles McNary and Rufus Holman, who are seeking full hearing for the Oregon growers, that the hallocks contain the full 12 ounces in spite of the raised bottom, which has the advantage of allowing one full box to be stacked upon another without crushing berries.

Department officials state that hearings must be held and 30 days notice given before new container regulations can become effective. Senator McNary has wired Mickle to the effect that adequate notice will be given growers in event such change is necessary.

Ram Sale Set For August 1

ALBANY—August 1 has been definitely decided upon as the date for the pure-bred ram sale in which sheep men of Linn and Benton counties will participate. O. E. Mikesell, secretary of the ram sale committee, has been instructed to proceed with plans for the event. Committee members are Gene Hubbard, Corvallis, who is also sale manager; C. P. Kizer, Harrisburg, C. H. Davidson, Shedd; and S. A. Jackson, Benton county club agent, and Mikesell, who is Linn county club agent. Jackson was named secretary of the committee.

Breeders from the entire Willamette valley will be invited to consign rams, and breeds will represent Corridales, Southdowns, Romney, Oxford, Shropshire, Suffolks, Lincolns, Cotswolds and Hampshires. All rams entered must be pure-bred and registered, and there is to be no by-bidding. All rams are to be guaranteed by breeders providing they are properly cared for by the purchaser. Preliminary entry blanks will be sent to all pure-bred breeders during the next month.

Farm Is Sold At Bethel

BETHEL—Henry Nelson, recently of eastern Wisconsin, has purchased 50 acres of land adjoining the A. C. Spranger farm on the north. This land had been heavily wooded, and Mariott county bought it some years ago and cut the wood for use in the county institutions. This place and the A. C. Spranger farm were originally part of the Katherine Hagey donation land claim. Mrs. Hagey, grandmother of the Sappenfield family, took up the land in 1854; and when the land was proved up on, it was necessary to go to Oregon City for that purpose. Nelson is busy clearing his land and is having a drilled well put down.

Wool in Boston

BOSTON, March 5.—(AP)—(USDA)—The market for spot domestic wools was mostly quiet in Boston today. Occasional inquiries, Kila matts being received for small lots of fine wools needed to piece out stocks on hand. A considerable quantity of the new clip wools have already been contracted in the western states and a large part of these contracts have been turned over to manufacturers. Demand for the finer grades of South American wools continued good.
