

Mt. Angel Post To Celebrate

Auxiliary to Serve at Morticians' Convention

MT. ANGEL—Plans for a club supper March 18 to celebrate the Legion birthday were made at separate post and unit meetings at the Memorial hall Tuesday night. The unit is sponsoring a flag code essay contest in the local schools.

The sum of $25.15 was realized on the quilt made by women of the Legion and for which Mrs. Theresa Ueselman donated the blocks. The quilt was awarded to Hugh Emry of Mt. Angel.

A committee of auxiliary members has agreed to prepare and serve the banquet for the undertakers' convention to be held here March 11. The banquet will be served in the Memorial hall. The unit will hold initiation ceremonies at the second meeting in April. Legionnaires are winding up their membership drive this week. Fred Lucht is to receive a gold star for bringing in the greatest number of members.

Circulars for veterans' evidence for family protection were distributed to all the "vets."

MT. ANGEL — Tom Ferschweiler of St. Louis was elected president of the June, 1941, graduating class of Mt. Angel college at a recent meeting of the seniors.

Frater Dennis Marx of St. Benedict's abbey was chosen valedictorian; Lawrence Saalfeld of Mt. Angel, salutatorian; and Conrad Prange of Salem, class secretary.

Tom Bolton, college senior, was elected editor of the Mt. Angel college yearbook, "Tap-a-lam-a-ho", when Harold Odman of Silverton, the former editor, dropped out of school to continue his flying career. Odman was one of the men who graduated from the civil aeronautics course held at Mt. Angel college.

Bolton is from Los Angeles and has had considerable journalistic experience besides being the author of several published articles.
