Poultry Man Will Speak

Extension Official To Consider Farm Cage Problems

DALLAS — A poultry meeting scheduled for Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the city hall in Independence should be of particular interest to a large number of poultrymen in this county, states W. C. Leth, Polk county agent. N. L. Bennion, extension poultryman, will show the motion picture "Poultry—A Million Dollar Industry." Mr. Bennion will discuss the matter of laying cages compared with laying pens on the floor. Three years of experimental work comparing laying cages with regular standard floor pens has been completed at the experiment station, at Corvallis, and from the results obtained there Mr. Bennion has interesting information to offer.

County Agent Leth says Mr. Bennion is planning to work with him in the county on that date and any poultrymen having special problems are requested to contact his office as soon as possible.

The meeting will also offer an opportunity for poultrymen to ask questions on other matters along the poultry keeping line not covered in Mr. Bennion's talk. A round-table discussion will probably be held as a part of the meeting.

Future Farmers and 4H club members have been invited to attend as well as adult poultrymen.

New Zealand Ram Shipped

MONMOUTH—William Riddell received a Romney Marsh ram direct from New Zealand, Saturday. It was shipped by train to Salem from San Francisco. It is the third importation from New Zealand in the past month, the other two rams going to Clarence Bishop of the Pendleton Woolen mills. They were all selected by Professor Wilson, of the California State Agricultural college. Riddell's ram is from the Wheeler flock.

Riddell was the original Romney Marsh importer to the United States from New Zealand. He became interested in this breed of sheep, which is native to the English moors, and was found there when the Romans invaded Britain hundreds of years ago. Romney sheep are distributed throughout the northwest now with many flocks in the Willamette valley. This climate, seems ideally suited to them. Riddell made a trip to New Zealand in 1928, and selected sheep for several west coast breeders.

Utility Refused Franchise

Bike Problem and Old Buildings Discussed

WOODBURN—The city council met Tuesday and voted down the proposed Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company franchise to operate telephone lines on Woodburn city streets.

The requested franchise would have been for 20 years and would have brought the city an estimated revenue of $10 a month, at the same time eliminating free service on three telephones, for which the city would have to pay $9.50 a month.

Vote to table the proposed franchise was unanimous.

The bicycle problem was discussed and City Attorney Gorman was instructed to draw up an ordinance for the councils consideration. The questions of condemning various old buildings in the city was given attention.

A petition was received for the improvement of Gatch Street by grading, graveling and curbing, all provided WPA labor can be obtained for the project. The petition was signed by 15 property owners along the street. It was reported that all Gatch street property owners except four were signers of the petition.

Numerous places where sidewalks could be repaired, replaced or put in now to advantage were found by Councilmen Shorey and Hecker in a recent survey of Woodburn. They made a detailed report.

Seventh Anniversary for Salem Jewelry Firm

Today marks the seventh anniversary of Stevens-Brown, jewelers, in Salem. This firm had been in the jewelry and optical business since March, 1934, when it started as a small establishment at 184 North Liberty street. Growing steadily since that time, it now occupies four times as much as the original space, has entrances on Liberty and Court streets. "We have striven to build our store to its position of leadership by serving the people throughout this district," said S. L. Stevens, partner-owner with Dr. Harry A. Brown, Thursday. "The people have done their part faithfully in patronizing us."
