

Soo Yong, Chinese Actress Captivates Salem Audience

By MAXINE BUREN

To hold a large audience spellbound for almost two hours is proof of the success of a performance. Such was the accomplishment of Soo Yong, Chinese actress, who appeared last night at the Salem high school auditorium in a program of monologues and impersonations.

The Chinese actress completely captivated those who saw her performance. Alone, she created an entire cast of performers in a sketch, "Out from the Inner Apartments" which depicted the Chinese woman before and after the revolution. She was the young girl, the old servant, the great-grandmother and the brave Chinese mother of modern days.

Her second group included several impersonations of typical Americans, a comic sketch of a Chinese and a Japanese statesman at a banquet and a scene from a Chinese opera.

The final part of the program was devoted to an amusing drama, "The Rainbow Pass," based on an historical play of the 7th century. She was the warrior, the heroine, the villain and the commentator.

While most of the performance was serious, flashes of unexpected humor kept the audience always on the alert. Her exquisite costumes were worn with grace. Her figure was lithe, her gestures subtle and her performance completely fascinating.

This is the final in the series of Crescendó club performances for the winter.

Supreme Court Hears Arguments In Judge Case

Arguments of attorneys were heard in the state supreme court here Thursday in the quo warranto proceeding filed by Newton C. Smith, Portland attorney, challenging the right of Probate Judge George Tazwell, Multnomah county, to continue in office.

Judge John Mears defeated Tazwell at the last general election but was killed in an automobile accident before he qualified. Governor Charles A. Sprague later appointed Smith to succeed Tazwell but the latter refused to retire. Smith then launched the quo warranto proceeding.

Attorneys for Tazwell stressed a provision of the state constitution which provides that officials, other than members of the legislature, shall continue to serve until their successors have been elected and qualified. They charged that Mears had not qualified and as a result Tazwell is entitled to continue in office until the next general election.

Smith's attorneys contended that Tazwell was elected for a definite six year term which expired on January 1 of this year. Further argument was made that when Mears died a vacancy in the office existed.

"There is no provision providing that the term of a judge can be extended or modified by law," Smith's counsel declared.

Attorneys for Smith also charged that the constitutional provision cited by Tazwell does not apply to supreme court or circuit court judges.

A decision in the case probably will be handed down by the supreme court within the next month.

High Students Halt Strike

BROWNSVILLE, March 20-(AP)—Brownsville's high school student body was back in classes Thursday after the school board promised to reconsider its vote on Principal E. S. Stultz.

The board voted 2 to 1 Wednesday against retaining Stultz and 100 students, virtually the entire student body, went on strike. Later, the board called a public meeting on the Stultz issue.

Church Group Plans Jaunt

The call of Spring will send 38 young people from the First Presbyterian church put-of-doors Saturday on the Little North Fork of the Santiam river for a picnic. Leaving the church at 8:30 a.m.

the group will go by car, visiting the Girl Reserves at Camp Santiam and the site of the old Boy Scout camp formerly known as Camp Santiam.

A seven mile drive up the Elk-horn road, to an interesting rock formation known as "King Tut's Tomb" which the group plan to explore, will be made. Lunch will be eaten at Camp Santiam then a visit is slated to Mehama for an inspection of property owned by the Salem church, which the group will investigate as a possible camp site.

Don Douris, church youth director, who will be in charge of the group, states that forty young people made a trip to Indian Prairie Lake last month, showing such enthusiasm that month-long trips are now being planned. Next month the group will hike to Moss Lake and Abiqua Falls located near Silverton.

Any young people desiring to go Saturday are asked to register at the church so that transportation can be arranged.
