

Three Important Bills Signed And Three Other Measures Vetoed by Sprague Friday

Legislators and Municipal Officials See Governor Put Into Effect New Speed Law; State Building, UCC Bills Signed

Gov. Charles A. Sprague signed important unemployment compensation bills, the measure authorizing construction of a $1,000,000 office building in Salem and the prima facie speed law Friday. He vetoed three bills.

Three of the speed bill's authors, Sens. Dorothy McCullough Lee and Douglas McKay and Rep. Harvey Wells, and a group of Portland and Oregon City municipal officials, witnessed the signing of this measure.

The governor's signature was affixed to the two most disputed unemployment compensation bills of the recent legislative session, HB 400, eliminating a majority of the seasonality exemptions, and HB 414, revising the experience rating schedule.

Executive approval also was given a bill providing for investigation of voters registrations in Multnomah county.

One of the vetoed bills, by Sen. Coe McKenna, Multnomah county, would have extended the so-called "fair trades" law to persons engaged in service trades.

Difficult to apply in the selling of merchandise it seems to me it would be quite impossible of general application to the service trades," Gov. Sprague's veto message read.

Another vetoed bill authorized the vacation and relocation of county roads on or near airports.

The third disapproved measure was designed to cure defects in deeds and conveyances.

Other bills signed by Governor Sprague: SB 355, by Zuercher—Relating to county road districts.

SB 387, by Kenin—Relating to vocational schools.

HB 108, by Bolvin—Relating to compensation for counsel when appointed by the courts in criminal cases.

HB 559, by counties and cities committee—Providing for the incorporation and government of cities.

SB 353, by counties and cities committee—Relating to limitation upon bonds issued under public works act.

HB 494, by counties and cities committee—Relating to the limitation on improvement bonds of cities.

HB 418, by March—To preserve the rights conferred upon municipal corporations.

SB 385, by revision of laws committee—Relating to investments by state bond commission.

Two senate bills were filed with the secretary of state to become laws at the expiration of 90 days without the governor's signature.

One of these provides an additional method for the foreclosure of certificates of delinquency in irrigation districts.

The other provides for cooperation of adjoining cities in municipal governmental affairs.

Realty Board Hears Dean On "Income"

Requiring everyone to contribute directly in some measure to support of the federal government would quickly bring about a demand for retrenchment but the national administration seems disposed to continue loading the burden upon corporations and individuals whose incomes are above the average, Dean George McLeod of the Willamette university law school said in addressing the Salem Realty board at its Friday luncheon.

Federal income in the first year after the government was created, amounted to $208,000 and in the first decade it was less than the amount now expended in a single day, McLeod asserted.

The speaker analyzed the findings in a number of court cases involving income tax appeals to point out some of the principles established by the courts to answer the sometimes knotty questions "what is income?" and "whose income?"

The Realty board voted to support Willamette university's request that a stamp be issued commemorating the university's centennial in 1942.

Sprague Holds Wine Measure Hears Both Sides at Public Hearing; to Decide in Few Days

He also contended that "many persons now drinking fortified wines would turn to the lighter drink" if it were made available "by the drink."

Mrs. Nevia Buck, state president of the WCTU, on the other hand, said the berry growers would profit more by building a market for "healthful, unfermented fruit juices," because "the real wine drinker wants grape wine."

"You'll have to train your Oregon boys and girls to drink berry wines if you want to build a market for this type of drink," Mrs. Buck charged.

Receiving only 2 1/2 cents a pound for their loganberries, the growers are able to pay pickers only about 75 cents day, "a disgrace to the people of Oregon," asserted Antonio M. Vistica, Woodburn grower.

Ed Jory, Salem farmer, said he was "a dry, but if we're going to have wine, I don't see why our Willamette valley growers shouldn't have the benefit of it."

A Portland winery representative, J. C. DeShazer, declared he would order 50 tons of berries "right away and give 4 or 5 cents a pound for them" if the Jones bill was signed.

The present is "a very poor time to increase consumption of alcohol, when we are undertaking a national defense program," Mrs. C. W. Stacey told the governor.

Many others of the 104 persons attending the hearing expressed strong opinions for or against the bill.

Workers Return To Their Jobs

First Group of Strikes Given Mediation Body Ended by Unions

The Vanadium strike involves 400 workers who protested employment of non-union plant guards. Some 2,200 are involved in the Cornell-Dubilier strike, called by the AFL electrical union when contract negotiations broke down.

There were 1500 workers on strike at Universal-Cyclops. The settlement was understood to include a wage increase.

MILWAUKEE, March 28-(AP) —Governor Julius Hell fraternized with strikers outside the Allis-Chalmers company plant Friday and promised to buy them 50 barrels of beer when the strike was settled.

He handed out dollar bills to two young daughters of one of the strikers, had a CIO button pinned on his lapel, gave a dollar to another worker, and played chauffeur to a striker who wanted a lift to strike headquarters.

One of a group called out to the governor: "When this strike is over will you give us a barrel of beer to celebrate?"

"I'll give you 50 barrels," the governor promised. "Yes, and I'll make good on it too."

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, March 28 - (AP) —The American Federation of Labor was favored over the CIO Friday by 90 of the 175 lumber mill workers who balloted in the Rutledge unit of Potlatch Forests, Inc. to select a bargaining agency.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 28-(AP) —Instructions to open negotiations with AFL workers who struck at the Portland store of Montgomery Ward & Company three months ago were received Friday by Frank Brown, attorney.

OAKLAND, Calif., March 28-(AP) —A new conference was arranged Friday between representatives of Montgomery Ward and Co. and AFL unions on strike against west coast units of the concern, following appearance of display newspaper advertisements in which each side spread its case before the public.

CORVALLIS, March 28-(AP) —Rocks shattered windows of Montgomery Ward & Company store here and at Albany early Friday, police reported. Police Chief Perry Stellmacher of Albany said he believed the window-breaking was connected with the three-month strike of union employees against Ward's store in Portland.

Shortly after this report, the air ministry news service in a review of British air activity over Germany declared 1000 persons were killed and 7000 injured in recent raids on Bremen, German port and industrial center.

In night attacks on Hanover, the report added, 250 persons were killed, 250 houses destroyed and 500 seriously damaged and an area in the town center laid waste by explosives and incendiaries.

The service added: "German cities do not escape, morale of civilian population suffers and casualties are sometimes heavy."

Young GOP Plan Party at Meet Tuesday Night

Young Republicans of Salem will observe All Fools day with business and pleasure at their regular meeting next Tuesday evening, April 1, 1941, at 8 p. m. in the floral room of the chamber of commerce.

Talbot Bennett will wield the gavel for the first time as president of the organization. Members are urged to be present to welcome their new first officer.

In keeping with the spirit of the day, a program of foolishness and fun has been arranged with Wes McWain as master of ceremonies.

Specialty dance acts and Glen Williams with his mystery magic will entertain. Refreshments will be served.

Police Book Two

Salem city police last night booked Vernon Sheldon, Salem, for violation of the basic rule, and James Hague, Jefferson, for failure to stop.

American Ships May Be Kept in South Seas as "Moral Influence"

(Continued from page 1) Zealand were screened in as complete official secrecy. Both contingents were ostensibly on training cruises from their normal operating bases in Hawaii and they put into the British empire south Pacific ports for "good will and recreation."

The circumstances of the formal "no comment" statement just when Japan's foreign minister was in Berlin, suggested strongly that the state department and the navy's high command were at least willing to keep Tokyo guessing as to American intentions of strengthening anti-axis defenses in the south Pacific.

Suspicion that the cruise to those waters was an attempt to bring pressure on Japan has been voiced repeatedly in Tokyo since the first detachment of two light cruisers and four destroyers arrived March 16 at Auckland, New Zealand without advance announcement. In a Pacific war any attempt to blockade Japan would be based in the south Pacific, strategists agree.

UW Skiers Take Lead in Tourney

PARADISE INN, Rainier National Park, March 28-(AP)—University of Washington skiers jumped and sped to a first day lead in the annual Northwest Intercollegiate championships here today.

The defending champions tallied 199.4 points in the jumps and the cross-country race, with Washington State college in second place with 187.7.

The slalom and downhill events will be held tomorrow.
