

Miss East Is Elected Queen

Miss Emma Lou East was chosen queen of the annual high school Civics club carnival last night and her royal princesses were Miss Phyllis Walker and Miss Margaret Baker. Fifteen princesses, representing the various clubs, ran for queen and were elected by the student body and faculty. The princesses were seated on the high school auditorium stage when the announcement was made known. Miss East wore a dusty rose formal fashioned with full skirt and short puffed sleeves. The candidates all wore pink camellias in their hair and primrose corsages.

Miss East represented the Crescendo club, Miss Walker the German club and Miss Baker the Future Farmer's club. Other candidates and their clubs were Lorraine King, Nurses club; Patricia Fish, Latin club; Shirley Ann Bailey, Archery; Fay Waldorf, Home Economics; Alaine Harms, Junior Crescendo; Helen Zielinski, Pep club; Lorraine Guthrie, Science club; May Oye, Commercial club; Carol Young, Snik-poh; Helen Wilhelm, French club; Janet Haik, Social Science and Luonna Williams, Que Dice.

Carnival Theme
The theme of the carnival was Gay Nineties Medicine Show. Don Bower, president of the Civics club, presided at the coronation which was followed by a style show presented by the Home Economics club. Other numbers included an insanity trial by the German club, the Pep club featured Benny Good Girl and her orchestra; Future Craftsmen presented one of Henry Ford's first cars, Gay Nineties songs by the Junior Crescendo club and a love story of a Dude Ranch by the Archery club.

Judges for the skits were Miss Joy Hills, Miss Kendall, Miss Margaret Burroughs, Miss Vivian Chandler, Mr. Garnie Cranor and Mr. Glade Folis. Fifteen concessions were enjoyed during the evening in the gymnasium and were arranged by the various clubs.

The script was written by Bob Mundt and Keith Hoppes. Don Bower headed the committee in charge of arrangements and others assisting were Margaret Forsythe, Barbara Ann Ricketts, Dick Gahlsdorf, Jim Hatfield, Fred Bradshaw, Joe Bowers, Benny Colbreath, Elaine Evans, Ann Hoffert, Evelyn Collins, Ben Blake, Reed Shelton, Vesita Estey, Dowd Foster and Mrs. Gertrude Shisler.
