Burglars Admit Guilt and Given Sentence of Two Years Each; One Released to Parole Board

Circuit Judge L. H. McMahan Saturday sentenced Dan W. Butler and Edward L. Smith to serve two years each in the state penitentiary when they pleaded guilty before him to burglary not in a dwelling of "Bob's Place," a confectionery at St. Paul, Thursday morning.

Smith was committed at once to the institution, but Butler was allowed to go at large under the jurisdiction of the state parole board. Smith previously served a term for assault and robbery in this state.

The case of Robert Hartley, who pleaded guilty to passing 19 bad checks, was continued for sentence, Hartley being held meanwhile.

French Relief Groups Agree On Red Cross

Agreement of various agencies dealing with French war relief to turn over their supplies to the American Red Cross for shipment and direct distribution in unoccupied France is announced by A. L. Shafer, manager of the Pacific area, in a communication to Judge George Rosman, chairman of the Marion county chapter.

The plan, Shafer explained, is based on the usual rulings of the U.S. state department and the neutrality act, which strictly limits supplies to milk concentrates, essential vitamins, medical supplies and new children's clothing. These are provided, under direct supervision of Red Cross representatives, only to children and sick adults in the unoccupied territory.

In taking over responsibility for handling the Red Cross pointed out to Robert Lacour-Gayet, coordinator of French war relief work, that the American Red Cross has well in hand the present and future requirements for milk concentrates, vitamins and medical supplies. A $1,250,000 cargo of these materials is now enroute to Marseilles aboard the Red Cross chartered steamer Exmouth.

The French relief groups were urged to concentrate on obtaining funds for purchase of standard food packages or clothing for prisoners of war and on new clothing for distribution to French children. A goal of $22,000, which would purchase 10,000 prisoners' food packages, was suggested, plus a cargo of 200 tons of new clothing, which would include layettes, stockings, rompers, shoes and boys and girls clothing for all ages up to 14 years.

Questions of down payments, open accounts and related subjects were considered by Hugh Adams, Mrs. Medora Hyatt, Miss Ruth Weldon, Mervin Fiddler and Oscar Sederstrom. Ralph Glover was in charge.

Announcement of a joint meeting of credit associations from seven counties to be held Monday at the Methodist church in Independence was made. The 7 o'clock dinner is sponsored by the Independence-Monmouth Retail Credit association.

Winners in the association's essay contest will be named May 5 at a joint meeting with the chamber of commerce, according to Dr. Floyd Utter. Several hundred high school students have already entered the contest.

Levell to Speak—The Balkan situation will be the topic of Dr. R. Ivan Lovell, professor of history at Willamette university, Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Salem Y forum. George McLeod will be chairman. Secretary C. A. Kells said the forum meetings have generally attracted over 100 participants.

Deserter Picked up—Leslie Catterson, 245 Division street, was picked up by city police Friday night for military police from Camp Murray and later turned over to them.

Barber's Hairbrush Ruled "No Soap" ST. LOUIS, April 12.—(AP)—The barber's hairbrush—that familiar bristly tool used to slick down your hair after a trim—has disappeared from St. Louis barber shops.

Bristles of the brush conceal skin and scalp disease germs and possibly could spread dandruff from one customer's head to another, says the Missouri state board of health.

President Sydney L. Stevens of the cooperative said Saturday that the cooperative has not yet obtained permission for a right-of-way across river front property owned by Paul Wallace and may bring a condemnation suit to gain the right.

The cooperative is now serving 30 establishments in West Salem with the Bonneville power it delivers from the Eola substation.

Just Eight More Weeks Of School

Students of Salem public schools return Tuesday morning to classes for eight weeks before the close of the year, following a two-day Easter vacation, Supt. Frank B. Bennett said Saturday.

Sacred Heart and St. Vincent de Paul academies resume work Wednesday morning, according to Rev. T. J. Bernards and Rev. Robert S. Neugebauer. The students did not have classes Friday but attended Good Friday services.

Willamette university students will return to classes Monday after a week's vacation.

Electric Co-op Plans Meeting On River Lines

Members of the Salem Electric cooperative and other persons interested in the cooperative have been called to a meeting to be held at the chamber of commerce next Wednesday night to consider means of financing installation of transmission lines across the Willamette river to serve Salem members of the cooperative.

President Sydney L. Stevens of the cooperative said Saturday that the cooperative has not yet obtained permission for a right-of-way across river front property owned by Paul Wallace and may bring a condemnation suit to gain the right.

The cooperative is now serving 30 establishments in West Salem with the Bonneville power it delivers from the Eola substation.

What "FLUORESCENCE" Means to Wearers of DENTAL PLATES

Science now matches the appearance of natural teeth.

New translucent teeth absorb and reflect light, giving them the "live" appearance of your own natural teeth.

DR. PAINLESS PARKER Says:

"Artificial teeth sometimes look 'dead' because they lack a natural lustre called 'fluorescence.' As a result of years of continuous research and recent discoveries, this 'fluorescence' is now reproduced in artificial teeth, imparting a 'live' appearance that makes fine natural teeth so exquisitely beautiful. These teeth can be obtained in the precise sizing and diffused tint of natural teeth... making detection difficult." The luminous quality of natural teeth is revealed under certain rays of light. They actually gleam and shine! That is why under some kinds of artificial light, they look different from artificial teeth. Now this "fluorescent" effect can be had in artificial teeth for your dental plates. These teeth have a "hidden" glow, or sheen that all natural teeth possess.

Let Us Demonstrate "Fluorescence" to You

Call at any Dr. Painless Parker office and we will gladly show you how YOUR OWN NATURAL TEETH ACTUALLY GLOW in certain light. We will also show you how the new artificial teeth approximate the same three-dimensional effect as natural teeth—how they match this natural "fluorescence" in a way to make detection difficult. See the FINAL ESSENTIAL STEP in sizing and color matching of these translucent teeth with those of Nature. Color guides are now used so that artificial teeth can be obtained to correspond with the soft tint of the individual's natural ones.
