New Jersey Home in Path of Forest Fire

—J. I. N. Phonograph
 Greatest concentration of firefighters in five years battled a forest fire near Lakewood, N. J., where the blaze threatened the resort town's business and main residential section until it was checked. The Lakewood fire, in the New Jersey pine belt, was only one of 145 fires which raged in several eastern states, leaving hundreds homeless and causing great property damage. In this picture, a southern New Jersey home is almost completely ringed by fire as occupants, on road at right, pile belongings into cars to flee to safety. Two-week warm spell had made the forests tinder-dry.

Special Legislative Session Seen Here if US Nears War

The Oregon state legislature may be called into special session within the next year, provided the United States gets any closer to war, Robert S. Farrell, jr., speaker of the house of representatives, declared here Thursday following his return to Oregon from Washington, DC.

Cash Incomes From Oregon Farms Shown

Cash income from Oregon farms during 1940, excluding government payments, aggregated $109,648,000, the state agriculture department announced Thursday. Of this total, $49,556,000 was from crops and $60,292,000 from livestock and livestock products. Government payments totaled $5,799,000. On the basis of the 61,829 farms in Oregon, as shown by the 1940 census, cash income per farm from farm marketings in 1940 was $1777 and from government payments, an additional $92 per farm. The state agricultural department release was based on a report of the federal bureau of agricultural economics.

Civic Club Hears Blind Musician

Pierce Knox, young blind musician, who won the national championship among high school xylophone players, drew repeated calls for encores when he played before the Salem Lions club Tuesday noon on a program arranged by the National Transcribers society of Palo Alto, Calif. The young player who lost his sight following an attack of spinal meningitis when he was four years old, became his town band's drummer at seven and took up the xylophone only four years before he won his title. H. C. Cooper, president of the society, told the club men. Buell Field, blind Salem man, who transcribes books into braille, the alphabet of the sightless, for the society, demonstrated his reading ability, and Richard McCoy, blind college graduate, showed how braille is written. Members of the Hollywood Lions club and wives of members of both groups were guests at the meeting.

Hospital Unit Architect Fee Set by Board

Architects for the new $325,000 reception unit to be erected at the Oregon State hospital here will receive a maximum fee of 6 per cent, based on the cost of the structure, the state board of control decided at a special meeting Thursday. The contract for architectural services was awarded Wednesday to A. E. Doyle and associates, Portland. Two members of the firm, P. Belluschi and D. M. Jack, conferred with the board here Thursday and later discussed the new building with Dr. John Evans, hospital superintendent. The formal contract with the architects probably will be signed within a week. Before the plans are completed a member of the architectural firm will spend several weeks in the eastern states inspecting a number of state hospital plants. Jack told the board it would be two or three months before actual construction operations will get under way.

Money Raised at Church Social

About 50 young people attended a basket social at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday. Baskets were auctioned off by Don Douris, youth director, and enough money was secured to send nine delegates to the State C. E. conference at Klamath Falls.

Monmouth Man Chosen Grader

The state agricultural department Thursday announced the appointment of George Dickinson, Monmouth, and Marion Schulz, Clatskanie, as cream graders. Dickinson has been assigned to Klamath Falls, while Schulz will work in Linn, Lane and Benton counties. Schulz succeeds Cleo Fogleman who has been promoted to district representative, with headquarters at Pendleton.

Cramped Space and Funds Lack Makes "Bottleneck" in Tax Collections, Asserts Burk

Marion Sheriff Declares Personal Property and Forest Tax Work to Suffer; Deed Dispute Continued

Failure to budget funds for services of an extra man for summer personal property and forest tax collection will cost Marion county several times the amount of the saving, Sheriff A. C. Burk declared Thursday. Cramped space in the county courthouse office of his tax collection staff makes addition of further work for that body of employes well-nigh impossible, he said, maintaining that tax collection headquarters here are the "smallest bottleneck" in the area for any $2,000,000 business. What collections on personal property taxes might be with the services of a man for that particular tax, Burk did not estimate, although he and at least one representative of the county court agreed that a considerable sum would be lost were such collections not made by autumn. Settled outside court, the case of Wilkinson vs. Zolsky will not be tried. It had been scheduled for hearing before Judge L. H. McMahan today. Credit Service Bureau vs. Quan will be tried Monday before Judge McMahan at 10 a. m. Continued today is the case of C. C. and Mary Russell vs. Otto W. and Emma A. Russell before Judge L. G. Lewelling. Plaintiffs seek to cancel a quit claim deed to certain real property, declaring it was intended as a mortgage, terms of which have not been fulfilled. Defendants declare they paid sums totaling more than $1000 for the property and lawyer's fees in connection with the purchase, that relying on the deed they built thereon a $3000 house. —CIRCUIT COURT— Herbert E. Norton vs. Salem Baking company; motion for order allowing amended complaint. Lawrence N. Brown vs. Maryo McKinney and Mary E. McKinney; voluntary non-suit petitioned by plaintiff ordered after court had ordered addition of United States National bank, Ladd & Bush, United States National corporation and Flavius Meyer names added as defendant parties. Emma Rentschler vs. Duane W. Griffith and Thelma E. Griffith; order dismissing suit. S. Z. Spitzer vs. C. D. Courtner and Florence B. Courtner and others; judgment for plaintiff to amount of $1480, plus attorney's fees, costs and specified interest charges and foreclosure of mortgage. Lydia Piel vs. William Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Brabec; motions to strike out described portions of complaint. Archie Bones vs. Robert J. Herrell and Zola L. Harrell; answer denying certain allegations of plaintiff and alleging plaintiff negligent in collision October 11, 1940, at the corner of Bush and Liberty streets, Salem. Janet F. Brooks vs. Martin G. Willich; complaint seeking $1000 general damages and $254.90 for car repairs as result of alleged collision on Salmon River highway one mile west of Otis, August 18, 1940. Credit Bureau, Inc., vs. C. A. Blake; transcript of judgment from Salem justice court. Duane Effenberger vs. Donald W. Neal vs. William Winett Hindman; order by Judge McMahan permits payment of the judgment entered in case at rate of $15 a month. L. M. Lambert and others vs. Washed Sand & Gravel company and others; continued for future consideration; was to have been heard in Judge Lewelling's court today; motion for dismissal on grounds that gravel company had been adjudicated bankrupt this week in federal court overruled. —PROBATE COURT— Gladys L. Wiedler estate; supplemental inventory by Appraisers J. C. Evans, A. Krefl and F. Harlan brings value to $3678.21. Anton Henry Lies estate; semi-annual account by Pioneer Trust company shows disbursements of $542.03; receipts of $653.80; credits of $7228.30. George A. Wood estate; W. L. Meeker, Henry Palsal and Roy Buchanan named appraisers. —MARRIAGE LICENSES— Joe W. Adams, legal, mechanic, and Maxine Ferguson, legal, housekeeper, both of route four, Salem. Steven Joseph Bauman, 23, mechanic, route two, Woodburn, and Ora Mae McDowell, 21, typist, route four, Salem.
