Mt. Angel Students Elect Officers, Plan Musicals

MT. ANGEL — As its contribution to Music week, Mt. Angel college will give its annual musical and oratory contest in the college auditorium Sunday at 2 o'clock.

The college orchestra, directed by Alexander Scharbach, will give three selections: "Grand Festival Overture," "Stepping Along" and "Country Gardens."

The college quartet, under the direction of William Dooley, will sing two songs. The college glee club, also directed by Mr. Dooley, will contribute two songs.

Competing for the gold medal in the oratory finals are Andrew Charvet, James Duyn, Francis Greiner and Joseph Zenger. The judges of the contest have not yet been announced.

MT. ANGEL — Juniors and seniors of Mt. Angel academy and Mt. Angel prep will hold their annual spring dance May 2 at the academy. General chairmen of committees are: Mary Jeanne Bauman, academy forum president, and Bob Diehl, vice president of the prep student body. A country garden theme is being planned by the decoration committee.

MT. ANGEL — The new officers of the associated students of Mt. Angel college, elected last Wednesday and headed by Walter Poepping of Mt. Angel, took office Friday at a student meeting. Poepping was opposed in the race for the presidency by Frank Van Driesche, Baker, ace Angel pitcher.

Other officers elected are Oliver McClure, Woodburn, vice-president; Leo Quessel, Woodburn, secretary; Virgil Gooley, Mt. Angel, treasurer, and Jeno Bean, Mt. Angel, sergeant-at-arms.

Poepping is a junior, majoring in English. He is business manager of the newly established literary quarterly "The Rock," and manager of the news bureau. In his high school days he was vice-president of the Mt. Angel prep student body. In his sophomore year in college he was class representative on the student council and chairman of the college senate.

McClure, new vice-president, is chairman of the social committee and sports editor of the Pacific Star, school paper.
