Club Hears Talk On "Inflation"

Inflation seems almost inevitable following a war which destroys a country's wealth and best men, Dr. William C. Jones, professor of public and business administration at Willamette university, told the Salem Lions club Thursday.

Now is no time to live on emotional oratory and "hot air," he warned, nor to incur debts, but one in which to pay off obligations.

Economic conditions accompanying war are demonstrated in small scale by rising prices and curtailment of some manufactures for civilian use, Dr. Jones said. Defense can not be financed by "soaking the rich," he declared but only by taking more from those in the lower income group.

Sprague Asks Board Probe

Investigation of the circumstances under which Dr. Virgil MacMickle, Portland naturopath and a witness at the Bridges deportation hearing in San Francisco, obtained his license to practice in Oregon, was urged by Governor Charles A. Sprague in a letter sent to Dr. J. L. Bounds, president of the state board of naturopathy examiners Thursday.

"According to press reports," Governor Sprague wrote, "Dr. MacMickle admitted that an important statement on his application for a license was false in certain respects, and that he was a member of the board which passed upon his own application."

"I regard this as a very serious matter. It is requested that your board make a careful investigation of this and other matters which were referred to in his testimony relating to his professional conduct, and take whatever action may seem appropriate in the circumstances."

"It is not my desire to persecute Dr. MacMickle for his political views but his own testimony appears to warrant review of the circumstances attending to his being granted a license to practice naturopathy in this state."
