One-third of the 450 pieces of property advertised for tax foreclosure last July will have been redeemed by the time the year of grace has passed, William Thielsen, Marion county property agent, estimated Friday.

Redemption of Tax Foreclosure

iod will prove a saving to property owners and county alike if Thielsen's guess approaches fact, and close to one-third of the foreclo-sure lists have already been crossed out, county officials agree. Most of the redemptions were arranged shortly after the properties were advertised July 5, but recent weeks have found other property owners paying the required back taxes and interest to remove their lands
