

Service Club Hears Talk On Juveniles

Juvenile delinquency is a functional disturbance resulting from childhood inhibitions, frustrations and maladjustments of the mind, Dr. Max Friedman, Portland psychiatrist, told members of the 20-30 club Thursday night.

"A child is nothing more than a selfish piece of flesh," Dr. Friedman said. "Give him a chance and he'll drive you crazy."

Stating that children live in their early years in a "dream world," Dr. Friedman warned against allowing the child to get in a position where he does not want to come back to reality. "A child not able to shoulder responsibility," he said, "becomes a delinquent."

Dr. Friedman praised the 20-30 club's program of issuing warning tickets to drivers who leave their keys in parked automobiles as a sensible way of getting at the base of crime.

Students Given 1941 Wallulaha

Wallulaha for 1941, printed by The Statesman Publishing Company, were issued Thursday to Willamette university students on their student body tickets.

Dedication of the book is to Bishop Bruce R. Baxter, who is closing his term as president.

Features of the annual include a greatly changed cover design and finish and a full-page four-color photograph.

John Hathaway of Tillamook was editor, and Ralph May of Denver, Colo., manager.
