

Art Center NOTES

The new class schedules for this summer may be secured by the Salem Art Center. Twenty-seven classes and workshops have been planned, with weaving and painting starting Monday.

An innovation in the new class in mosaics, under the direction of George Blais and Virginia Darce. The latter was designer for some of the mosaics at the Timberline Lodge, and is now with the Oregon WPA art project in Portland. She comes to Salem every Tuesday and Thursday to instruct.

On Thursday afternoon, Miss Darce, Mr. Blais, and Miss Isabelle Schmierer will sponsor a class for both professionals and amateurs in outdoor sketching. All interested are invited to attend. Each tour will close with an open forum discussion of the various problems.

The pottery department for the summer will be under the direction of Miss Schmierer who has just returned from a year's work at the University of Oregon. She has planned a close sequence of progressive problems in ceramics and will develop a number of experiments with unusual glazes.

Mr. Blais will continue classes in sculpture. At present, he is conducting a class in sculpture in the grade and junior high school department at the daily vacation Bible school at Jason Lee church. Throughout the summer he will give instruction in ceramic and wood sculpture at the Art center.

Mae Gingrich, who has been an instructor at the Salem Art Center for three years, will continue classes in painting for children. She is also conducting classes in grade and junior high school art work at the Jason Lee church. Her classes have been popular, for she reports an enrollment of 80 varying in ages from the first grade of school through junior high school. Mrs. Gingrich and the children in her classes are planning to make a large screen for future use in the church school, and many religious paintings. An exhibition is to be held the last day of the school, when each child will have his own work presented as a gift to the church.

Special attention is called to the fact that there will be a change in the gallery hour schedule. On Mondays, the galleries open at 1 p. m. On Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, they open at 10 a. m. The galleries will close at 5:30 and reopen at 7, closing at 9:30, with the exception of Fridays when the galleries close for the week at 5:30 p. m. No visitors will be received and no classes held on Saturdays and Sundays.

For those who have failed to see the Camfferman exhibit of oil paintings, they may see them for three more days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This exhibit has been attracting many visitors for the past two weeks.

Woodburn Girl To Wed

WOODBURN—Miss Opal Hasenyager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hasenyager, and Kenneth A. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown of Geneva, will be married at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in the fire-placed room of the First Presbyterian church of Salem. Rev. W. Irwin Williams will officiate.

Miss Agnes Monson of Salem will act as bridesmaid. Sam E. Brown, the bridegroom's brother, will be best man. Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents in Woodburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porter have left for California where they will sojourn in Los Angeles, Hollywood and San Francisco for several weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell and their children have returned from a plane trip to Chicago, Ohio and Indiana.

Slip Covers on Summer List

With the arrival of spring, home-loving women want to brighten up their homes with fresh gay slipcovers which, besides giving cheerfulness and cool comfort, protect the upholstery.

The Cotton-Textile institute makes the following suggestions for slipcover shoppers:

Make certain the fabric is sanforized so slipcovers can be washed without changing size appreciably after laundering. Note the amount of residual shrinkage to be allowed for.

Inquire if both fabric and trimming are color-fast to water and sunlight. Nearly all better-grade cottons are.

Tightly woven fabrics, such as sailcloth, chintz, sateen and cotton twill, are strong and therefore more serviceable and protective against dust. Loose fancy weaves, allow dust to pass through, catch easily, and permit seams to pull out. Permanent finishes on organdie, chintz and sateen assure a fine finish after laundering.

If buying ready-made slipcovers, examine their construction carefully. They should fit smoothly, but not tightly, in order to allow for a slight shrinkage in first washing. Seams should be caught deep enough to hold, edges well finished and the bindings caught on both the right and wrong sides.

Slide fasteners with fast-colored tapes give the best fit for closures and are well worth the cost.

If planning to make slipcovers, take careful measurements and allow for centering floral motifs and stripes, and matching plaids and patterned designs where the parts meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carpenter and Miss Martha Carpenter were among those attending the rose festival parade in Portland on Friday.

Mrs. David Eason and her daughter, Mary, plan to leave on Monday for the Oregon beaches where they will sojourn for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fisher and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher, are spending the weekend at Neskonwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Brown and daughters, Plum and Roxanne, are vacationing at their summer place at Seal Rocks this month.

Welcomed as new Salem residents are Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Linsted and their two sons of Portland.

LEBANON—More than 100 descendants of Isaac, John, Fletcher, Jobe and Morton Crabtree, who settled in this neighborhood in 1845-46-47 and who gave their name to the little village of Crabtree, met for their annual reunion in Bryant park Sunday, June 8. Nellie Young Butler is president of the clan and Robert Summers of Marshfield is secretary. Relatives came from Lebanon, Albany, Sweet Home, Scio, Crabtree, Tangent, Hubbard, Clackamas, Willamina, Eugene, Portland, Maupin, Redmond, Marshfield, North Bend, Spokane and Centralia.

SCIO—The marriage of James Cameron and Evelyn Tangent, of Portland, will be in July. The groom-elect, a son of Mrs. George Gay of Albany, formerly lived in Scio. He is studying for the ministry.
