Mr. Jahn is expected to arrive in the capital late Friday and there will be many out-of-town guests from Washington and Oregon here for the wedding on Saturday. The bride-elect's brother, Mr. Phillip Barrett, will come by plane on Friday from Sacramento, Calif., and will return Saturday night after the wedding to San Francisco where he will enroll at San Francisco Theological seminary for his sophomore year.

Art Center NOTES

The Art Center exhibition of 200 photographs of historic arms and armament, which was shown at the state fair as part of the US navy exhibit, has been returned to the Center and will be hung in the galleries the first part of the week.

This collection of photographs, obtained from the Baltimore Museum of Art, together with a related exhibition of ships and airplane models and other military objects, will comprise the "Arms and Armament" exhibition scheduled at the Art Center September 8 to 27.

The three weeks program will also feature weekly radio talks, numerous evening lectures and motion picture programs. The coming week will be in charge of the marines, September 15 to 20 will be observed as Army week, and the third as Navy and Coast Guard week.

Marine week will be officially opened Tuesday by Major James B. Hardie, who will speak on the Art Center radio program at 2:15 Tuesday afternoon and present a lecture and motion picture program at the Art Center that night at 8 o'clock. A second motion picture and lecture program will be given Friday night at the Center.

Gallery space is still being reserved for a few additional ship models. Any person who has in his possession ship models or other military pieces of historic interest and would be willing to lend them to the Art Center during the defense show is asked to call the Center as soon as possible.
