

Increased Mill Action Likely

Road Constructed to Timber Holdings in Scio Area

SCIO—Construction of a 16-foot gravelled road through the N. L. Morrison ranch holdings to timber east was the subject of a contract executed this week by Morrison and the Murphy Timber company.

Announced plans of the Murphys contemplate at least four years of logging in the heavy fir timber in that region.

The fall and winter will be occupied in constructing the road, which is to be approximately five miles in length, starting at or near the old Riesterer place some distance south of Jordan and continuing east, tapping large bodies of timber, according to a statement here this week by Morrison.

This move, tied in with operations of several timber cruisers in the foothills east of Scio within the last few weeks, seems to indicate that logging and sawmill activity will open next spring on a scale not equaled in that locality for many years, in the opinion of old-time timber men and brokers.

William Downing and son Edward, were looking over old scenes at Scio and vicinity a few days ago. The senior Downing, a brother of Mrs. George Rodgers mountain, near Scio, was one of the pioneers of the Scio area, but has been making his home near Malin for several years.

Accompanying their son Anupied of McChord air field in Washington, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Bilyeu, Bilyeu Den, 10 miles east of Scio, visited relatives and friends in the vicinity of Los Angeles, where Mrs. Andrew is at present during her husband's federal air service.

Chris Ruettgers, 71, was buried from Sublimity Catholic church last Tuesday. Father Scherbring officiating. Ruettgers died in his sleep, presumably from heart attack. The widow, eight daughters, two sons, two brothers and two sisters are among immediate surviving relatives. He had resided 20 years on the farm on which he died.

LIBERTY — Featured at the meeting at 8 o'clock tonight will be a speaker from the home demonstration agent's committee. The obligation will be given new members.

Faculty Members Announced for Monmouth; Airlie Merger Asked

MONMOUTH—All Monmouth schools will open September 22. Two new faculty members will join the high school staff: Mrs. Sada Chambers McBride, Eddyville, a graduate of OCE and of the University of Oregon, will replace Miss Edith Clark, reis the teacher training center for Oregon College of Education, Elisabeth Rader, Colorado Springs, Colo., will replace Mrs. Dorothy Blake, resigned, as first grade supervisor. Miss Rader who has a master's degree from the Colorado State teacher's college, at Greeley, was a supervisor in the Independence training unit last year.

Renelda Capuzzi, Republic, Pa., will be third grade supervisor. She holds a master's degree in elementary education from the University of Iowa, and succeeds Martha Taylor, who resigned here to accept an eastern position.

Lillian Dedrick, Leon, Kas., will serve as substitute supervisor in the seventh grade here. She has a master's degree from the University of Wichita, Kas.

Mrs. Phebe Cox, regular seventh grade teacher will have eighth grade this year in the absence of Florence Bardsley, who is serving on the staff of the state department of education at Salem.

Other elementary supervisors include Ruth McClure, second grade; Neva Dallas, fourth grade; Dora Scheffsky, fifth and sixth grades.

Federal government officials, connected with the cantonment survey in Polk-Benton counties, this week interviewed the local school district board and authorities, requesting that the Airlie high school and grade schools be merged with Monmouth in a form of consolidation. School heads here have taken the request, made in the name of national defense, under advisement, since facilities here are limited, and no expression has as yet been received from the Airlie school patrons.

MONMOUTH—Employees of Pacific and Telegraph this week made further improvements to the company's dial exchange building site at corner of Knox and Jackson streets, preparatory to the tentative start of dial scheduling here October 22.

Installation of dial phones is said to start next week. The office equipment is being installed by Western Electric. Since equipment was purchased a full year ago, no waiting period will be entailed, as has occurred in some communities, due to the utilization of metals essential in telephone manufacture which are needed for national defense purposes.

Bazaar Held September 28

SCIO—St. Bernard's parish at Scio now is in charge of Father Beatus Baur, recently from Wisconsin. Father Baur is making his home with Father Ludger Gloegler at Jordan and has relieved Father Charles Pradarutti, Shaw, who served the parish for a year or more. Holy Mass will be held at the Scio church at 8:30 a.m. on the first, third and fifth Sundays, and 10:30 a.m. at Jefferson on the second and fourth Sundays, according to schedule announced in Scio this week.

Annual bazaar and carnival at Jordan Catholic church is scheduled for September 28. Shaw church has set September 21 as its date.
