Civic Club Hears Duties of School

Oregon has far too many two, three and four teacher high schools, Dr. H. C. Hutchins, head of the department of education at Willamette university, told members of the Salem Kiwanis club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Duties of the secondary school include providing a cultural background and broadening the interests of the students. This is hard to accomplish in a school of less than 100 students, he continued. The most important value to be taught is democracy, Hutchins pointed out, and this can best be achieved not by mere book learning but by bringing the community into the school and by the cooperation of the schools and such agencies as libraries, health services and the home.

NEHALEM - (AP) - This is a mighty tough country, Bill Bloom, Nehalem high school student from Canada, has decided.

Washington Woman Wanted On Bad Check Charges Balks On Waiver of Extradition

A network of complaints from Salem closed in around middle-aged Marie Young in Vancouver, Wash., Tuesday. The woman, who had allegedly written and cashed worthless checks totaling $95 here steadfastly although bail requirements threatened to mount with each service of warrant. Miss Young, who at first denied she had been in Salem during state fair week, is said to have admitted finally that she had been here September 7. Officers believe she is the woman who registered at a capital city hotel during the first week in September, telling attendants there that she was buying stock for her ranch. She is said to have cashed at the hotel a series of checks for which she received close to $100 in money and services.

Three complaints against her are known to have been signed. Salem police said Tuesday they had been notified by her attorney that she had posted $1000 cash bail on the first warrant received in Vancouver. A second warrant, signed by Judge E. M. Page was issued Tuesday, and officers said they had at least one other complaint. Bail on the second charge of obtaining money by false pretenses was set at $500.

Governor Charles A. Sprague was today to be asked to sign extradition papers. Except for the Young charges and a routine "default divorce day" in circuit court before Judge Page, court circles in Salem were quiet Tuesday.

Aunty Brooks Still Winning With Flocks

Mrs. Mazy "Aunty" Brooks perennial exhibitor of dark Cornish game birds and winner of many prizes, again returned home from the Oregon state fair with blue ribbons won by her poultry.

"Aunty" Brooks has exhibited her chickens for 42 consecutive years, and according to her records, has taken 63 blue ribbons, 42 seconds, 19 thirds and two honorable mentions.

Billy, her handsome cockerel, was top bird of his class, with 11 others strutting before the judges to gain coveted places. Topsy the hen was judged third. Billy's claim to fame are his striking iridescent green head and tail.

There are about ten of these game birds in Mrs. Brooks' flock. "Every one is put to bed each night," she said, "and every one will come when I call its name." Billy is of the younger generation, but Babe, the old mother hen, has seen five years of life.

Relatives Entertained BETHEL—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bucurencu, and other relatives in and around Salem, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. J. W. West and Richard West of Minot, ND. The Wests arrived recently in Salem and are looking for a location with the intention of settling here. Mrs. Bucurencu and Mrs. West are sisters, and are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. Shuttleworth, Liberty.
