

Stanford Ready to Top Coast Again; Oregon Held Dark Horse

By ROBERT MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Pacific Coast conference top team is Stanford. Just like that, Clark Shaughnessy undoubtedly rates as the coach of the conference. And he has much the same team as last year, including All-American Frankie Albert at quarterback and Pete Kmetovic at half.

Betty Winner

Replete with a big smile of victory, Mrs. Betty Hicks Newell of Long Beach, Calif., held the trophy symbolic of the national women's amateur golf championship after her defeat of Helen Sigel of Philadelphia in a title match at Brookline, Mass.

Stanford would be the logical choice to remain undefeated, continuing their 1940 unbeaten record but I don't think they will. It would be asking too much of them. The law of averages—and a schedule in which everyone will be pointing for them—will be too much for the Indians.

Shaughnessy took a pair of stiff blows, too, when two stars left the ranks in addition to those taken by graduation. Dick Palmer, a guard, and Fred Meyer, end, were lost by ineffectuality.

Big Three: Stanford, Southern California, and California in that order. Southern Cal has good material an enough sentiment to win for the late Howard Jones and his successor, Sam Barry. Stubby Allison up at California has his Golden Bears on the march again.

You can't figure Stanford in anything but first place but one team doesn't figure that way and might just drop them to runner-up position. That's Southern California. The Trojans had the Indians stopped until the final moments of their game last year and they'll catch the Shaughnessy boys after successive weekends against Oregon, UCLA, Oregon State, San Francisco U, Washington and Santa Clara. Those last two alone are headache enough for any team and USC goes into the Stanford game with a complete week's rest.

No. 1 Star: Why look any further than Frankie Albert for the conference individual star? He can run, pass, kick off, punt, boot the necessary punts after touchdowns—and run that "T" formation.

Bobbie Robertson of USC, Jim Jurkovich of California, Ernie Steele and Jack Stackpool of Washington, and Bob Reinhard, California's All-American line-man, are sure to star. And don't forget Albert's running mates at Stanford, particularly Kmetovic, Center Vic Lindskog, and a couple of others. Watch these boys go.

Dark Horse Team: The most feared dark horse team will be Tex Oliver's Oregon Webfoet. Oliver, one of the best offensive mentors on the coast, lost his 1940 starting backfield but he's coming back with equally well-seasoned players and the Oliver system now well established at the university.

Inroads on coast football talent by the draft have been comparatively negligible, to date, and should not seriously hamper any team.

Aumsville Plans Water

AUMSVILLE, Sept. 17—(AP)—Installation of a piped water system is being considered by the city council, fearful of an inadequate supply in case of fire. Well water is used now.

Mill City News

MILL CITY—Mrs. Abbie Geertson has left for Philomath, where she will teach school this year, and reside with her parents.

Frank Kinsman, Mehama, has purchased the Henry Labentz property in Mill City and will move into it.

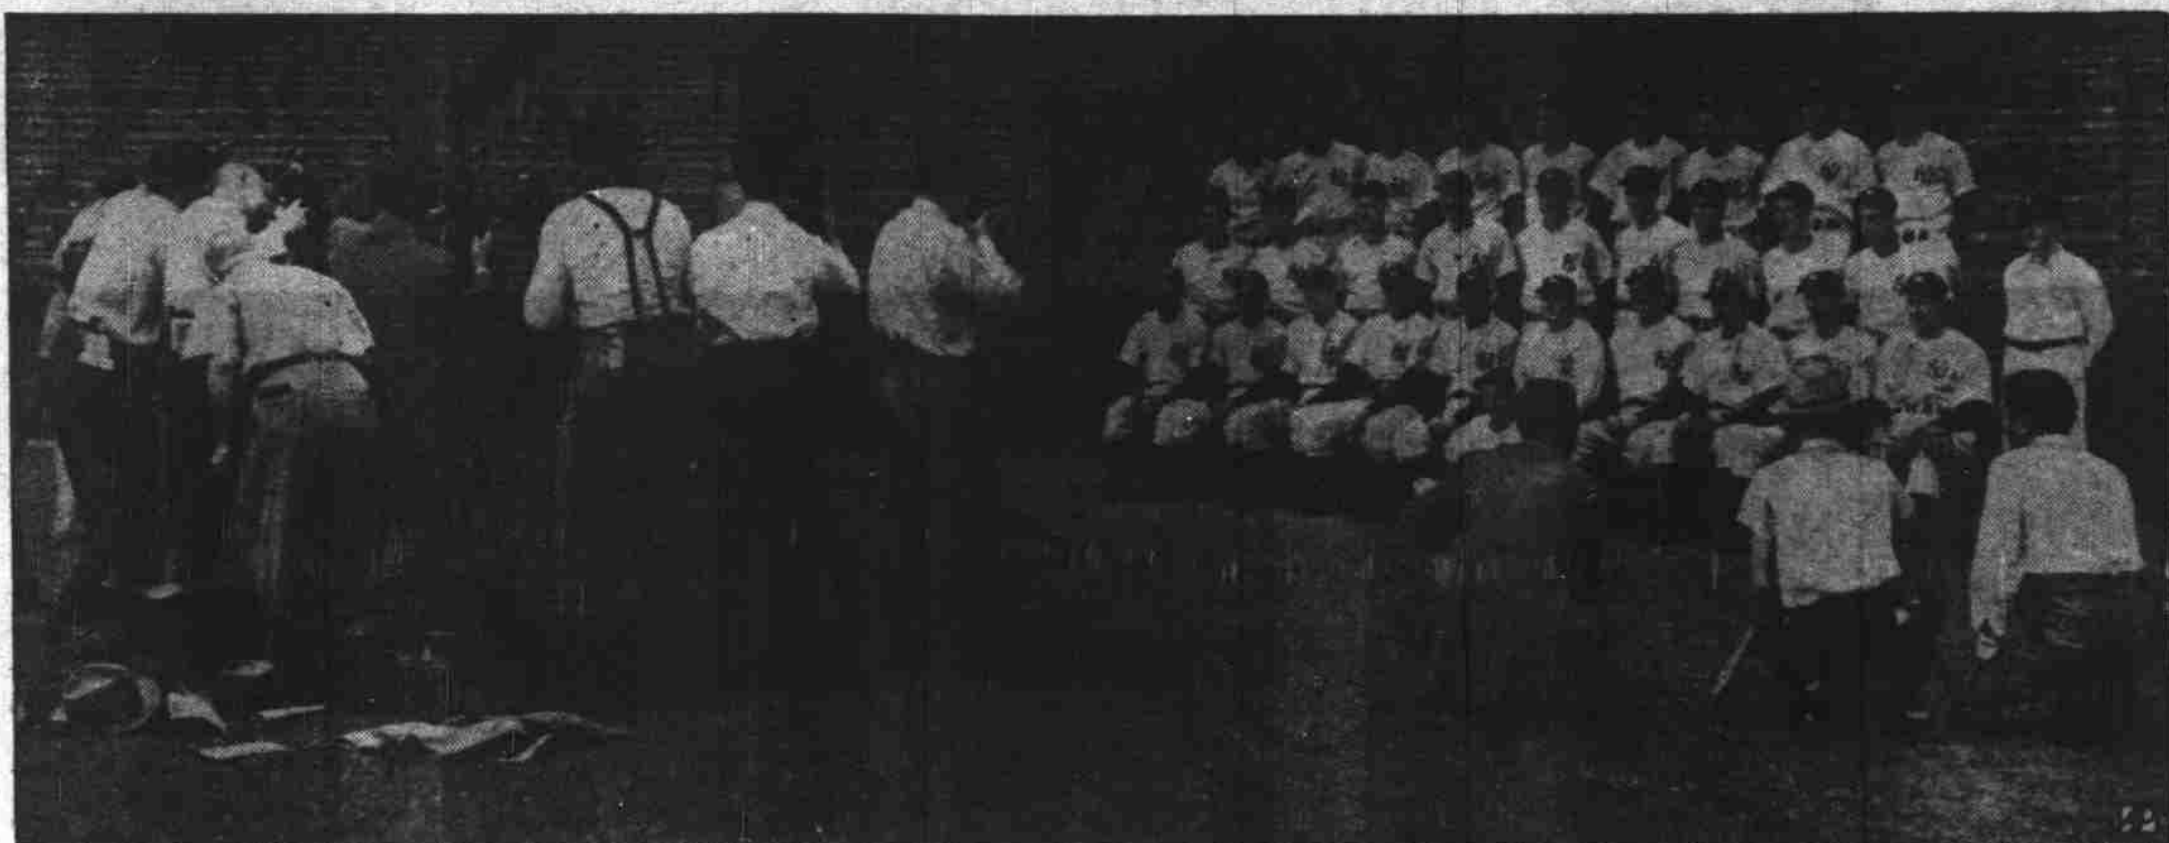

Barbara Jean Letellier, Spokane, who visited in Mill City this summer with her grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Letellier, has entered Washington State college.

Frank Smith and C. E. Mason caught a half-dozen silver jack on Alsea river near the coast last weekend.

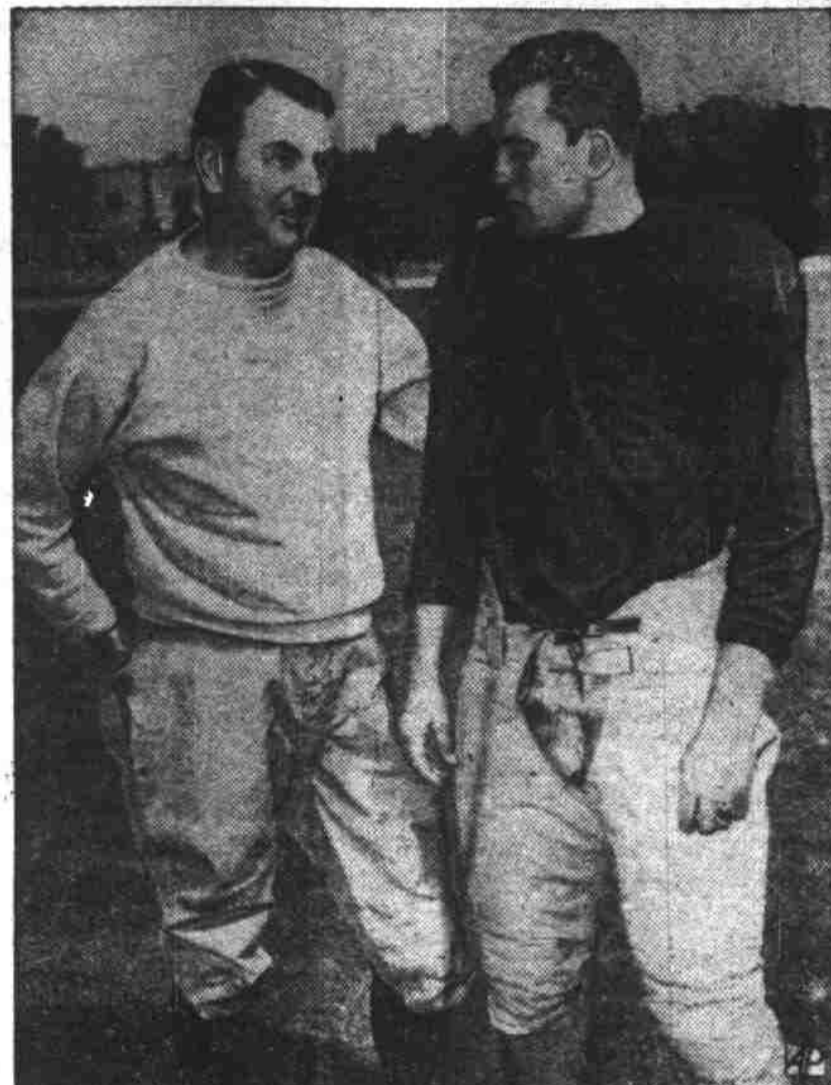

Eleanor Etzel, Sublimity, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Tony Ziebert.

Homer Thacker and his mother, Mrs. Alice Thacker, drove to Portland Tuesday to bring back Ruth Vining, who will visit for three months in Mill City, while her husband, Walter Vining, is confined to a Portland hospital.

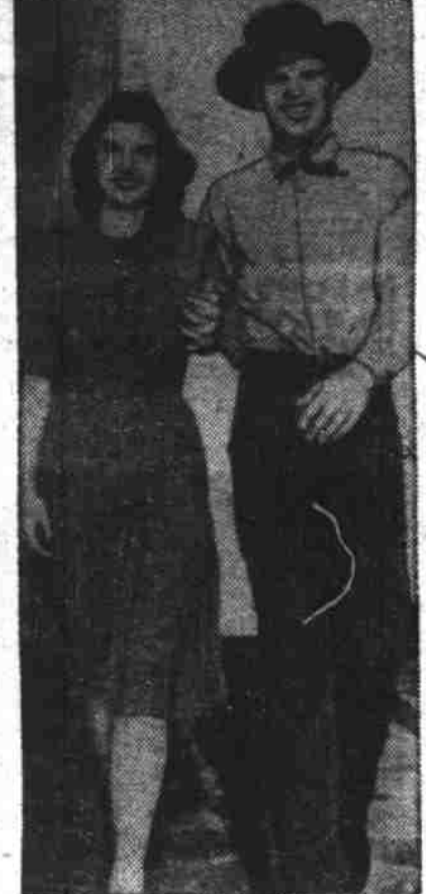

Mrs. Mary Lovett will teach in Scio this year, and her two daughters, Mary and Kathryn left this week for Monmouth to attend the Oregon college of education.

YANKEES SIT FOR A FAMILY PORTRAIT—Spic and span, "Marse Joe" McCarthy's American League champions pose in New York where on Oct. 1 the Yankees will meet the National League champions, to open the 1941 world series. Yanks' last title was in 1939 when they won their fourth series in a row.

TROJAN TWOSOME—Sam Barry (left), who stepped into the Southern California football coaching post to succeed the late Howard Jones, faces the 1941 season with the expert services of Capt. Bob de Lauer, who plays right tackle.

Barbara Golding, John Kimbrough

One of the most publicized among college football stars last fall, John Kimbrough, All-American back at Texas A. & M., is pictured on a Hollywood movie set with Barbara Golding, a Texas girl he will marry. Miss Golding, 18, of Houston, attends Marymount college at Tarrytown, N. Y. Kimbrough is making movies.

The final score of 6 to 4 in favor of the Brooklyn Dodgers pleased Manager Leo Durocher (right) in his battle with the Cardinals at St. Louis, but a lot of other incidents did not. Umpire Al Barlick (left) at the place went through several rounds of oratory such as this with Leo about everything from balls and strikes to a claim of a balk. The Dodger victory placed them two games ahead of the Cardinals in the National league pennant race.

Canning Chief Tells Origin Of Industry

About 132 years ago, at the time of Napoleon Bonaparte, the canning industry had its inception as a result of war, and during the current struggle it will be of incalculable value in furnishing foods to both the armed forces and their heavy background of civilians, Robert C. Pauls, president of the National Canners association and of Pauls Brothers, told members of the Salem Rotary club Wednesday.

Some idea of the immense scope of the industry was given when Pauls pointed out that in approximate figures the annual pack of fruits in the United States is 55,000,000 cases; seafoods, 17,000,000; vegetables, 165,000,000, and meat and other products 12,000,000.

Growth of the bean business in the northwest has been phenomenal, the speaker declared, and further increase is possible but seems to have been arrested this year by the inability of growers to secure harvest help. "Canners are willing to extend their packing facilities but are afraid to take the chance of further expansion as bean machinery is very expensive and idle equipment is costly."

Firemen End Convention

BEND, Sept. 17—(P)—Paul Jarrett, fire chief of Park Rose, near Portland, was elected president of the Oregon Association of Fire-chiefs at the close of the state convention at Elk lake resort west of here Wednesday.

Baker was chosen for the 1942 convention.

Other officers: Charles Foster, Astoria, first vice-president; Edward Grenfell, Portland, second vice-president; Thomas Coates, Tillamook, secretary; Ivan Pearson, McMinnville, treasurer. H. C. Spaulding, Newberg, is the retiring president.

The Oregon State Firefighters' association, meeting in conjunction with the chiefs, also chose Baker for the next convention city and elected J. J. Hix, Portland, president. Robert Mills, Salem, was elected vice-president and T. D. Schunk, Portland, executive secretary.

Orange Prices Rise; Apples in Demand

PORTLAND, Sept. 17—(AP)—As orange prices increased again, apples were in active demand on the Portland wholesale market Wednesday. Oranges went up to 40-50 cents crate, depending on size.

One load of King apples sold quickly for $1.25 box. Delicious, Jonathan and winter Banana apples were plentiful at $1.00-50 box, depending on quality and pack. Most jumbo pack apples sold for $1.00-25 box. Crab apples sold well at $1.25 box.

Schools Given Reprimand on Funds Request

University of Oregon, and Oregon State college as well, drew state board of control criticism Wednesday when a request from the Eugene institution for permission to buy $2800 worth of dormitory equipment without waiting to take bids was flatly turned down.

"They have all summer to contemplate their needs," Gov. Charles A. Sprague commented. "They should have anticipated this last June."

The university's request represented the seventh time that either the Eugene school or the State college had come to the board at enrollment time with requests for emergency expenditures that could have been anticipated ahead of time, Dan J. Fry, board secretary, declared.

Fry said bids could be obtained within three days and a saving made over a purchase on the open market.

The beds and other equipment are to take care, principally, of students who will live in the dormitories a week or so before moving into sorority and fraternity houses, Fry explained.

Nets Fish That Might Have Won

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 17—(P)—Many northwest anglers may point Wednesday to Peter Heikkinen, Brownsmead gillnetter, for proof of the "big one that got away" in the recent Astoria salmon derby.

Heikkinen netted a 51-pound Chinook salmon, six pounds heavier than the fish that won the $575 first prize for Oney Emop, Astoria. In its mouth was a heart-shaped, red-flasher spinner and a wisp of line.

Cauliflower Cleaned Up on Wholesale Mart

PORTLAND, Sept. 17—(AP)—Offerings of cauliflower were cleaned up on the east side farmers' wholesale market Wednesday under generous demand. Most sales of No. 1 quality ranged upward to $1.30 crate.

Offering of unclassified tomatoes were larger and the best quality sold at $1 box. Small pear tomatoes were rather slow at 60 cents lug.

Quince brought 50 cents with asking prices generally a dime higher.

Brussels sprouts were in active demand at $1.25 crate for No. 1. Broccoli was generally 50 cents lug.

Special Tax Proposed
OCEANLAKE, Sept. 17—(AP)—A special tax to finance a fire hall to house the district's new $5000 fire truck was proposed by the local fire district Wednesday.

Religion Classes in Schools to Start This Year September 29

Weekday school of religion classes, sponsored by Salem churches, are to start in the public schools September 29, Leora Strong, instructor, announced Wednesday.

Miss Strong said Old Testament characters and stories are to be introduced to the classes this year. New Testament work has been given during the past two years.

Peak enrollment in 1940-41 was about 1500 pupils, all from third to sixth grades, inclusive, of the elementary schools. The course is optional, and cards for parents' signatures are being distributed this week. Pupils who enroll are released from the classroom for 40 minutes of one day each week.

Miss Strong is to teach in south side schools, and Gertrude L. Hynes in north side buildings. A new device in giving the lesson, the felt-o-graph, is to be used here this year.

Daily schedule for the classes is, with Miss Hynes' building first and Miss Strong's second, is:

Monday and Tuesday, Englewood and Bush; Wednesday, Grant and McKinley; Thursday, Highland and Washington; Friday, Garfield and Richmond.

The program is supervised by a committee appointed by the Salem Ministerial association and headed by Mrs. Roy L. Lockenour.

Harvest Ends in Prune Orchards

ORCHARD HEIGHTS — The majority of large prune orchards in this section completed harvesting during the weekend.

The Robert Adams and Ammon Grice dryers were operated this season but those of L. C. Weathers and Ray Barker were not run as so many picked the fruit green. Most orchardists report a good crop. Crews were composed almost entirely of local workers. A. M. Southwick and L. Weathers picked prunes green for the canneries. Ammon Grice, Mrs. Jessie McDowell, Irvin Simmons and Robert Adams had their crops dried.
