

Vespers Unit Sets Work at Coast Parley

Cabinet of University Vespers, student organization at First Methodist church, left Salem Friday afternoon for a weekend retreat at Road's End on the coast. They are to plan activities for the coming months and conduct the Vespers meeting at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

In addition to Dr. J. C. Harrison, pastor, and Ruth Cramer, director of religious education, the group comprises Leo Baldwin of Fort Shaw, Mont., president; June Woldt of Portland, vice-president; Jean Jackson of Astoria, secretary; Hide Tomita of Portland, treasurer; Doris Laney of Yakima and Martha Hughell of Meridian, Ida., worship; Harriett Monroe of Parkdale, deputation; Helen Davis of Pendleton, Sunday school; Margaret Pemberton of Hillsboro, music; Reeva Schmidt of Pendleton, art; Eleanor Todd of Portland, Cookie Jar; Dix Moser of Tenino, Wash., publicity; Winston Taylor of Salem, past president; Hilma Breuser of Rainier, church secretary and Jean Boyce of Salem, Leslie church.

Civic Groups Told of Lack in US Files

Negligence of Oregon citizens in placing information about the state before government officials was blamed Friday by Ralph E. Moody, Salem attorney, for lack of industry here. Moody spoke before a combined meeting of the Salem Realty board and the Salem Retail Business bureau.

When industries and government bureaus consider locations, they must have necessary data immediately, said Moody, who declared he "stood aghast at the ignorance of government officials concerning Oregon," discovered during a recent visit to Washington, DC.

The state's availability of raw materials, land, water supply, transportation and similar essential factors was brought out by the speaker. Moody averred rivalry between communities in an effort to display possible industrial sites was desirable, but should be replaced, upon selection of one, with backing of the entire state.

Walker Rites Held Today

INDEPENDENCE — Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Independence Presbyterian church for Georgia Ann Walker, 78, mother of Dean Walker, president of the senate, and R. M. Walker, president of the Independence branch of the First National bank.

Mrs. Walker died here Friday after several weeks illness. Rev. D. V. Poling, Corvallis, will officiate at the services and interment will be in the IOOF cemetery.

Organ Recitals To Be Sunday Feature

Every Sunday from 7:15 to 7:30 p.m. Prof. Malcolm Medler, church organist, will give a recital at the Leslie Methodist church. Congregational singing of popular hymns will be led by C. S. Orwig.

Under the direction of Wendell Johnson, Willamette university musician, an orchestra and evening choir is being formed. Rev. Joseph Knotts will preach an inspiring sermon at each service.

More Women Than Men Start 1942 Classes at Willamette

Forty two less men but 36 more women than in 1940 are included in this year's freshman class at Willamette university, Registrar Walter Erickson stated Friday. Registration of the class at the end of the second week of school was 238, compared with 244 a year ago.

Total enrollment this week became six nearer the 1940 level at a comparable date and Friday was only 35 behind last year's figure of 739. The number includes 466 upper classmen, in turn including 30 law students.

The class of '45 has registered 115 men and 123 women so far, said Erickson. The increase of women came entirely from outside Salem. Portland students increased, and Washington high schools sent the highest number in Willamette's history.

Ninety seven are enrolled from Salem in comparison to 107 in 1940. While men dropped from 54 to 44, number of women was 53 both years.

Registration from outside the city showed 26 more women and 33 fewer men this fall. Portland's list increased three to a total of 28. Thirteen more women augmented Washington's representation.

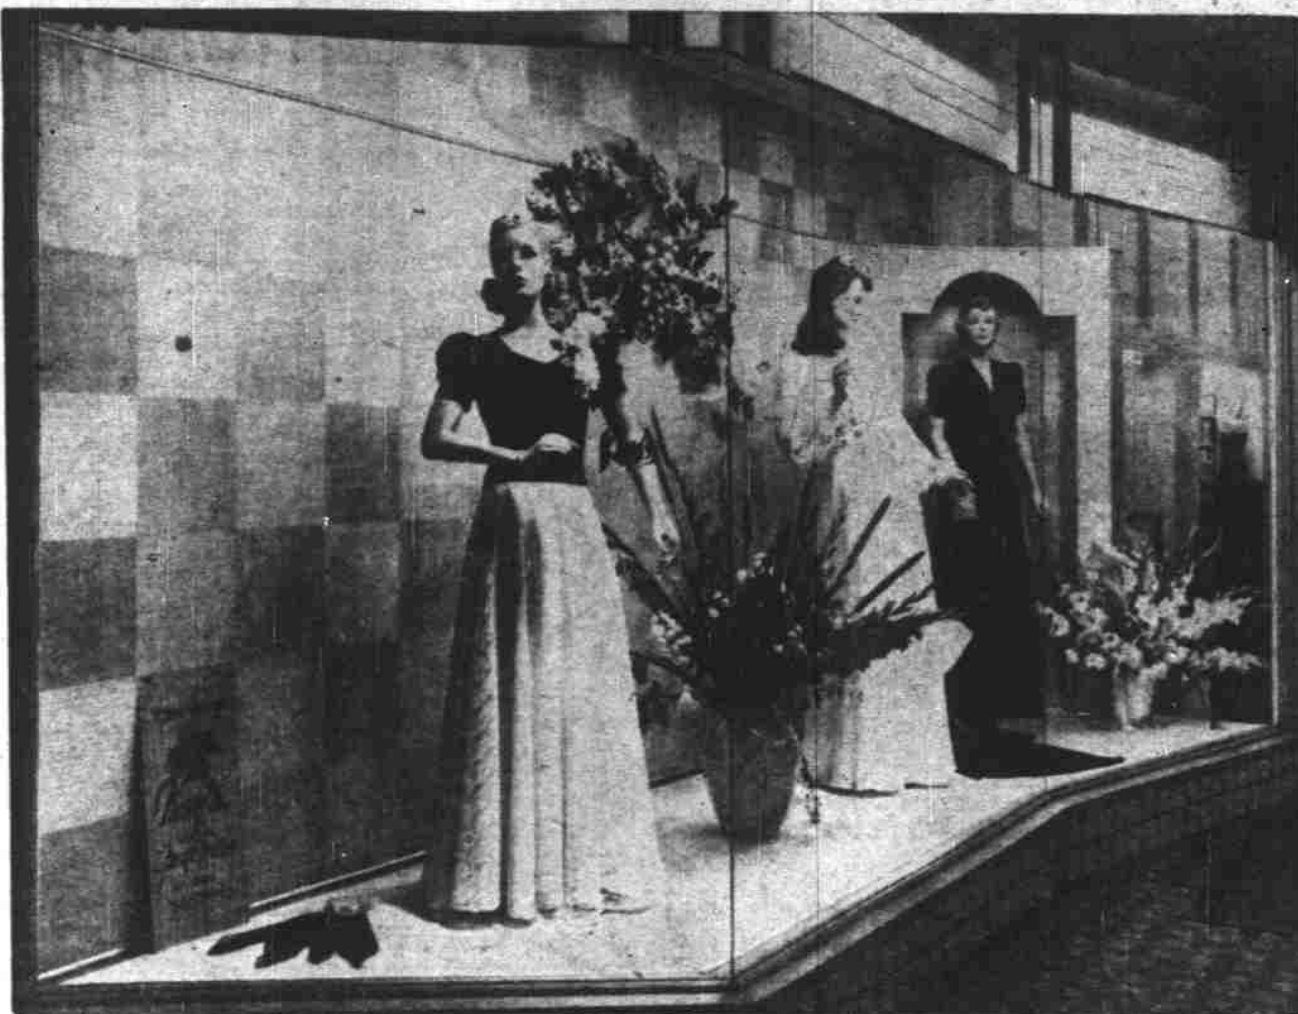

Willamette university's centennial class, now the seniors who pledge to '42, won top academic honors during the spring semester of last year, Registrar Walter Erickson announced Friday.

Juniors placed 11 on the list of 31 who received 12 or more hours of A grades and six of 13 who earned all As.

Straight A students were Dolores Netz, Jean Schell, Ed Church, Robert Pentney, Robert Purbrick and Dean Ellis, all of Salem, Helen Chirgwin of Medford, Elizabeth Hamilton of Seattle, Dorothy Pearl Moore and Eleanor Todd of Portland, Jan Johnson of Canby, Dix Moser of Tenino, Wash.

Those who received 12 or more hours of A were Jeanette Hulst, James K. Anderson, Warne Nunn, Ruth Cramer, Audrey Fehler and Arthur Case, all of Salem, Al Ferren of Cottage Grove, Robert Hinman of Medford, Tom Terjeson of Helix, Winfield Achor of Oregon City, Glenn Oids of Sherwood, Robert Stephy of Osburn, Ida., Joe Van Winkle of Hubbard, Craig Coyner of Bend, Kent and Keith Markes and Kenneth Torgerson of Canby and Verne McCallum of Portland.

View of Modern Store's Apparel Display in Salem

Eye-catching displays of women's wear are even more attractive in modern show windows at Kay's store, on State street. This window is on the left of the entrance, to greet customers.

Latest of display equipment for women's apparel was included when Kay's store was remodeled recently. This interior view shows the modern fixtures and lighting and the new balcony at the rear of the firm.

Modernized Ready-to-Wear Store Pleasing to Customers

Still new and different and catching the eyes of customers is Kay's women's ready-to-wear store at 460 State street, which was remodeled and had its grand opening in conjunction with Fall opening.

Not only has the store, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Holtzman for the past eight years, added floor space but a new balcony for office and alterations has been built in at the rear.

The remodeling included new celotex walls and ceiling, new display racks and fitting rooms and modern display cases. More than 300 feet of tubing was used in the installation of fluorescent lighting. Windows were fitted with venetian blinds, and new carpeting laid.

Kay's employs 16 women, in comparison with the one in the store when it was started in 1934.

K of C Exemplify Three Major Degrees

Under the supervision of State Deputy T. A. Windshar, three major degrees of the Knights of Columbus will be exemplified at St. Joseph's hall, starting at 7 o'clock tonight.

District Deputies Linus Fuller, Portland, and L. A. LeDoux, Mt. Angel, will assist. Grand Knight of the Salem council, Henry Kropp, is general chairman of the committee on arrangements and is being assisted by William LaRoche and Fred Rupp. Membership committees have been directed by John Nathman.

Visiting knights and dignitaries of the Knights of Columbus who will witness the exemplification are coming from Marshfield, Eugene, Bend, McMinnville, Mt. Angel, Sublimity, Woodburn, Albany, Corvallis and Portland. The local council's reception committee is headed by Lecturer Gordon Coffey.

Harvest Meeting Set

Under the direction of Com. and Mrs. A. D. Jackson, divisional commanders, a special harvest meeting has been scheduled for Sunday at 241 State street by the Salvation Army. The public is invited.
