Seize Convicts Who Freed 43

S. J. Scarborough in his cell

Free since Aug. 14, when they escaped from a Georgia prison camp, Forrest Turner and S. J. (Slim) Scarborough, were trapped and captured in south Georgia near Norman Park with another convict captured in south Georgia near Norman Park with another convict they liberated and a woman claiming to be Turner's wife. Federal and state officers seized the group without a shot being fired, although Turner and Scarborough were heavily armed when they had raided a state prison camp the day before, freeing 43 convicts. Scarborough, who was serving a life term for murder and who has escaped nine times, is shown in his jail cell at Moultree, Ga., after his capture. The two also are suspected of the slayings of Marion Miley, noted golfer, and her mother at Lexington, Ky.

Schenck Denies Film Monopoly

Senator Clark, Nicholas M. Schenck and Wendell L. Willkie Appearing before the senate inter-state commerce sub-committee considering charges of "propaganda" and "monopoly" in the film industry, Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., told his listeners that he would consider it "the worst kind of crime" for a group of companies to "get together" to prevent another company,

D. Worth Clark of Idaho, left, chairman of the committee, and Wendell L. Willkie, right, counsel for the movie industry.

Evacuate Pets, too, in Flood

Pets, too, are evacuated by residents along the east Texas coast where gale-driven tides swamped coastal towns, and swept 100 miles inland. The tropical storm struck the Matagorda bay area so severely that the entire population of Matagorda were evacuated.

Above, the Strenge family of Irish Bayou evacuate a rooster, cat, dog and goat.
