Education in Citizenship Held Requisite by Willamette Head

"If you haven't time for this, then say goodbye to democracy," Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf, new president of Willamette university, warned a Salem chamber of commerce forum audience Monday noon. By "this" he meant education of the type which produces intelligent citizenship.

Technical education too is necessary, Dr. Knopf conceded, but in a democracy even the technician is, as a citizen, on a par with other citizens and his education must provide an understanding which will enable him to cope with the problems citizenship imposes.

Science is a useless study unless it teaches "the big idea" of cause and effect in an orderly world, and history is useless unless it provides perspective. "History doesn't repeat itself; humanity does," the speaker observed.

Political democracy is an experiment the results of which are not yet definitely determined, and the democratization of education is an experiment which has never yet been fully attempted, Dr. Knopf asserted, pointing out that not more than 2 per cent of all young Americans attain higher education.

The speaker was introduced by Prof. R. F. Thompson, dean of freshmen at the university.

Leslie Principal Slated to Take Prominent Part in Oregon High School Association Conclave

Prominent part to be taken in the annual conference of Oregon High School Principals' association by R. W. Tavener of Salem was announced Monday by D. A. Emerson, assistant superintendent of the state department of education.

Tavener, principal of Leslie junior high school, is chairman of the committee on the evaluation of experiences in the fusion of social studies and language-arts in the junior high school.

The conference is set here for October 23, 24 and 25, according to Emerson, executive secretary for both the Oregon High and Junior High School Principals' associations.

This conference will be attended by almost all of the 330 principals of public and private junior, senior, four- and six-year high schools in Oregon, city and county superintendents, and representatives of teacher training institutions.

Martin J. Elle of the State Department of Education is president of the Oregon High School Principals' association and will preside at all general sessions of the conference on Friday and Saturday. The president of the Junior High School Principals' section is Richard T. Hughes, principal of the Marshfield junior high school, who will have charge of the Thursday meeting.

One of the highlights of the conference will be the report by a committee which has been interviewing Oregon employers in an attempt to discover what they believe should constitute the training of high school pupils who plan to enter northwest industries following their graduation from high school. Important reports will also be given by committees which have been studying work opportunities provided by Oregon high schools, high school reading, personal and business relations, health and physical education, coordination of high school activities, school lunches, and legislation.

Final Rites Slated for Gervais Man

Funeral services for Pearl Patterson, 40, fatally injured when his car struck a train Sunday morning, will be Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. from the W. T. Rigdon chapel. He died almost immediately.

Patterson was driving to his residence on Gervais route one from his work at shipyards in Portland, when his pickup truck ran into an Oregon Electric freight train near St. Louis, west of Gervais. The truck was practically demolished.

Survivors are the widow, Hazel Patterson; children, Norman Lee and Charles Richard Patterson of Gervais; mother, Mrs. Lola R. Patterson of Gervais; brother, Raymond Patterson of Gervais; sisters, Mrs. Robert Cole and Mrs. Ward C. Russell of Salem.
