Stock Market Buying Slow

Apathy Halts Advance And Prices Generally Finish at Low Level

NEW YORK, Oct. 22-(AP)-Buythe stock market's capacity for Mullen, Linn county agent, lead extending its recent recovery the discussion. and prices generally finished on a lower level.

The decline had no great momentum and only a few of the cultural committee of the Lebanon losses exceeded fractional limits.

Slimness of support was associated with the theory of speculative circles that the rally since last Friday had gone about as far as could be expected under the handicaps and restraints of the war and emergency regulations of Recording its first dip in four sessions, The Associated Press 60stock average finished with a net loss of .2 of a point at 41.1. Transfers totaled 487,340 shares against 581,124 the previous day.

Westinghouse Electric suffered another spell of weakness, dipping 1½ points to a new 1941 low. Narrower declines appeared in General Motors, Chrysler, US Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, DuPont, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, and Great Northern Pfd.

Aviation issues yielded ground despite optimistie ideas on dividends stemming from the voting of a $5 per share payment on Douglas.

A few market implements and merchandising shares ended with small plus marks. Erie Pfd "A," when issued, climbed 1% on approval by the federal court at Cleveland of a $5 distribution under the plan of reorganization.

Pumpkin, Squash Feature Market

PORTLAND, Oct. 22 -(AP)-Pumpkin and squash were featured on the East Side Farmers' Wholesale market Wednesday although prices remained virtually unchanged.

squash brought one cent pound. Pie pumpkins sold for 70-75 cents cantaloupe crate, but sales to wholesalers appeared on the basis of $18 ton. Zucchini squash continued to move at 30-35 cents crate and Danish at 75 cents crate.

Flax Meeting Scheduled At Lebanon

LEBANON-Everyone interested in the production or processing of flax is asked to attend a meeting in the American Legion hall tonight when Professor C. R. Hying apathy Wednesday impaired slop of the state college and Floyd

> The meeting is being arranged by L. E. Arnold, G. N. Gillenwater and Ralph Scroggin, agrichamber of commerce.

> The processing plants in the state are not able to take care of the amount of flax now raised. but an increased acreage will be expected since the price of linen has more than doubled because importations from Europe have been shut off.

> Though flax has been grown here for many years it has been for seed rather than for fibre until recently. While it is said that some local capital might be invested in a processing plant, if such a business is started more growers would be interested in having it a cooperative.

Annual Corn Show Scheduled at Corvallis

Oregon's fifth annual corn show will be held on the Oregon State college campus Friday and Saturday, December 12 and 13, according to definite announcement by the state corn show committee. Premium lists are now being prepared and will be distributed well

The show will be held in the college museum building again, the same place as two years ago. and will include a program of educational features in addition to the exhibits. The popular corn shucking contest will be held again, as will the hybrid yield contest and the various judging events. Exhibits of corn entered in county contests will also be eligible for reshowing in the state show, or a grower may take the additional time to choose a better Hubbard and marblehead exhibit than the one already

Cauliflower Softens At Wholesale Mart

PORTLAND, Oct. 22 -(AP)-Portland wholesalers paid 65-75 cents crate Wednesday for cauli-flower as the market softened somewhat. Little was sold at the extreme top. No. 2 cauliflower was mostly 40 cents crate. Green broccoli was mostly 50 ents dozen bunches. One Ticutdale grower offered a small sup-ply of triple broccili it $1 crate.

Grain Mart Has Slump

CHICAGO, Oct. 22-(AP)-An air of gloomy expectancy pervaded the grain markets Wednesday and prices turned generally downfrom active selling pressure.

Wheat closed about 1/2 cent above the day's lowest levels, reached shortly before the close, but 11/4-13/4 below Tuesday's finish, December 1.15 1/8-1.15, May 1.191/2-16

Tuesday's sharp price swings appeared to have left wheat tired and listless and the volume of trading was much smaller. The May delivery enjoyed fair support at around $1.20 a bushel, with mills reported doing some purchasing, but after soybeans developed weakness, the downturn encountered less opposition.
