

Mishaps Kill One, Hurt Two

Thorne Slain by Tree; Gun, Auto Hurt Two at Lebanon

LEBANON — H. J. Rodgers was taken to the Albany hospital Thursday after the logging truck which he was driving collided with another on a curve on Woodpile hill near the Hammond camp. Both trucks were unloaded and Rodgers was the only one injured.

Homer Thorne, 48, employed as a buckler by the McDowell Creek Logging company, was killed Thursday afternoon when a tree fell and rolled on him. The body was taken to Oregon City where his family lives.

Melvin Wetherell, 14, was taken to the Sacred Heart hospital in Eugene Wednesday where it was said he was to be given a blood transfusion after he accidentally discharged his shotgun into his right arm and chest. The shot carried pieces of clothing and a buckle into the wound, thus increasing the danger of infection. The boy was brought from his home in Sweet Home to the local hospital and then transferred to Eugene.
