

Condition of State Treasury for Fiscal Year Revealed in Report

Receipts of the state treasury department from all sources during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1941, aggregated $86,715,367.59, with disbursements of $83,196,518.85, State Treasurer Leslie M. Scott announced here Wednesday.

Gasoline taxes of $13,741,906.13 provided the largest single item of receipts. Liquor sales, taxes and revenues aggregated $12,179,070.28. Income-excite and intangibles tax received by the treasurer totaled $7,100,000 while unemployment compensation commission trust funds amounted to $7,150,652.38.

Industrial accident commission receipts, including contributions by employers and employees, totaled $5,327,864.32. Federal contributions for assistance aggregated $3,128,309.15 and federal aid state post road funds $2,659,137.11. The motor carrier account was $1,560,970.59.

On the disbursement side warrants paid out through the general fund aggregated $20,473,956.06. Other large disbursements included state highway funds totaling $18,568,115.32, Oregon liquor control commission stores account $10,530,957.05, public assistance fund $6,790,812.91 and unemployment compensation trust fund $7,150,652.38.

The balance of $11,592,621.86 in the state treasury at the beginning of the fiscal year 1940-41 was increased to $15,111,470 at the beginning of the 1941-42 fiscal year.

The bond debt of the state on July 1, 1941, totaled $33,187,435, with a floating debt of $959,317.92. Assessed value of all property in the state in 1940 was $896,787,005.95.

Salem WCTU Protests on Pinball Bill

Protest to enactment by the city council of an ordinance licensing pinball games was expressed by the Salem Central Woman's Christian Temperance union in a letter Wednesday to the mayor and council.

The letter reads: "We respectfully protest passage of the proposed pinball game licensing ordinance now before your honorable body. As citizens interested in the welfare of our youth and mind, especially of our duty to them and to our country's defenders who may be soon located near Salem in large numbers, we feel that passage of this measure will degrade community moral standards, reduce the profits of legitimate business in the city, and lower in the eyes of this state, Salem's reputation as a city free from conditions questionable and detrimental to the public welfare."

"In its repeal of the 'rambling' house' section of the existing law, and its abolition of the present ban on pinball, dart and marble games, this proposed measure, we believe, destroys the very foundations of the statutes which were passed by councils of this city in previous years for individual and community protection."

Club Told Piano Playing Is Easy

"There's something in music for everyone to enjoy." That was the contention of George Hopkins, professor of music at the University of Oregon, when he spoke before the Rotary club at its luncheon Wednesday.

To bear out his point, Hopkins demonstrated at the piano how the masterpieces as well as folk songs are based on simple harmonic foundations that the novice player may learn without spending hours practicing finger exercises and learning notes.

"If you know your alphabet up to the letter 'g' and can count to 11 you can have lots of fun playing the piano," he pointed out.

Five Members Enter Club

Rebekahs Entertain Guests; District Man Presides at Service

LYONS — Five new members were initiated into Faith Rebekah lodge. They are Mrs. Mary Garrison, Mrs. Dorothy Gavette, Mrs. Dorothy Reid, Mrs. Lois Fetherston and Mrs. Helen Anderson.

Guests were present from Molalla, Stayton, Mill City and Mrs. McDonald of Akron, Colo. Members who had birthdays during the month were honored. They were Frances Kruse, Eva Bressler, Alta Bodeker, Mary Garrison, Elizabeth Westenhoe and Alice Huber. The dining room was in charge of Mable Spa, Mable Bass, Mildred Carr and Lois Cornforth.

Dr. Edgar J. Purdy, superintendent of the Salem district, was in charge of the Sunday morning services at the Lyons Methodist church. The Epworth league held a joint meeting with Stayton league at Stayton Sunday night. Elaine Clippell of Lyons was in charge. A large crowd from Lyons attended the Sunday services in Stayton when Dr. Purdy showed pictures from the mission fields.

Fannie Wilson returned to her home here Sunday after spending several weeks in Stayton at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loris Trask and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lettifer.

Delegates from Lyons who attended the Federation of Women's clubs in Macleay were Mrs. Percy Hiatt, president of the Lyons club, Mrs. Melbourne Rambo and Mrs. Earl Allen. Mrs. Wassen, field youth worker for NYA gave a talk at the club meeting Thursday.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Surry were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Surry, sisters Mrs. Ralph Frame and Dianne and Mrs. Ed Killinger, Lebanon.

A local orchestra under the direction of Norman Garrison furnished the music for an old time dance Thursday night for Santiam valley grangers and their invited friends. A shadow social furnished fun and the grange profited enough to pay the music.

Ella Southworth, sister of Joe Weitzman, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Weitzman home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thoma and sons are staying for a short time at the home of Mrs. Thoma's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hiatt. Thoma is driving to Stayton to his work. They will return to Stayton as soon as a house is available.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith visited in Shelburn Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Osburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott and Danny spent Saturday and Sunday at the coast.

Mrs. Anna Schwindt and Fritz Jordan, visited at the Dell Westinghouse home. Mrs. Westinghouse is a daughter of Mrs. Schwindt.

Charles Hiatt, who has spent the summer in Hood River, arrived in Lyons Saturday. He is a brother of Amos and Elmer Hiatt, Lyons.

The O. W. Olmstead family has moved in to the apartment house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jacoby. Olmstead has employment at the Murphy timber company camp.

Fishermen Get Rich On Shark Liver Haul

WESTPORT, Oct. 29.—(P)—Two skippers returning with heavy catches of soupfin shark liver from the southern Washington coast received more than $2000 each, a buyer said Wednesday.

Andrew Samuelson, captain of the Clarion, was paid $2410 and Fred Samuelson of the Jennie F. Decker, $2300. The liver brought $8.50 a pound.

Another fisherman landed a $1015 haul and several others had catches worth more than $500.

State College Prepares to Ask For Commerce School Return

CORVALLIS, Oct. 29.—(P)—Oregon State college prepared Wednesday to ask for return of the school of commerce, withdrawn in the 1932 reorganization, as a result of restoration of major work in science at the University of Oregon.

The OSC administrative council unanimously approved a statement Wednesday, barely 24 hours after the state board of higher education restored major science work to the university, declaring that since the board has "abandoned the principle of non-duplication of work in major fields," the commerce school should be returned to OSC as "a first step toward the addition of major work needed to make Oregon State a more nearly complete land grant college."

Formal application will be presented at the Dec. 8 meeting of the board in Portland.

The complete statement, issued by Acting President F. A. Gillfillan, said:

"The state board of higher education, at its meeting in Ashland October 28, authorized the duplication of upper division and graduate degree work in science. It thereby reinterpreted the law of 1929 and abandoned the principle of non-duplication of major fields of work adopted to effect economy and avoid duplication, under a unified system of higher education."

"By the board's action, the University of Oregon has been authorized to establish six upper division and graduate departments, duplicating degree work in science which has been restricted to the college since 1932."

"As stated to the board and reported in the press, the college has not asked at any time for the return of the important major work it lost under the board's former policy of non-duplication."

"Since abandoning the non-duplication policy, the board presumably does not desire the students of one institution to have greater educational opportunities than those at another. If the youth at the university need a more complete program of major work in the traditional sense, it is only fair that the youth who attend Oregon State college have equal privileges."

"In view of these facts, the college, as a first step toward the addition of major work needed to make Oregon State a more nearly complete land grant college, will file application at the day in Portland after an illness of four months.

Son of the late William H. Phillips, old-time Salem fire chief, Phillips was born here June 10, 1882, and lived here until 1916. He was for several years stage manager of the old Grand Opera house where the Grand theatre now stands. Before moving to Portland in 1916 Phillips married Myrtle M. Sumner of Salem. He has been connected with the theatre business in Portland.

Survivors include the widow, Myrtle M.; a son, Paul L. of Salem; two daughters, Mrs. Persis Grim and Mrs. Vella Michaelson of Portland; a sister, Mrs. Emily Camillo of San Diego, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Services will be held from the Jacobson Funeral home in Portland Friday at 1 p.m. Interment is to be in Salem with graveside services at City View cemetery, 3:30 p.m. Friday.
