Thousands Watch Illinois Huskers Win

Hits Senator

James Mulloy (above) former North Dakota official, told members of the senate elections committee in Washington, DC, at a hearing into the fitness of Senator William Langer (R-ND) to hold office that the senator paid $1700 or $1800 to two persons to obtain influence with a federal judge before whom Langer was tried in 1935.

About 75,000 persons gathered in a muddy cornfield near Tonica, Ill., (above) to see the nation's top-notch huskers compete for the national championship. The contest was in progress when this air-view was made. Winning the farm classic was Floyd Wise of near Tonica, Ill., (below) holding a trophy. Just a scant half bushel behind him was Leland Klein (right) of Woodford county, Ill. Wise husked 45,371 bushels in 80 minutes.

Leading US Isolationists at America First Rally

Sinking of the Rubeen James May Embolden Japs

Trouble in the Pacific is considered a distinct possibility as a result of the sinking of the Rubeen James. Frequent German attacks on U. S. war and merchant ships in the Atlantic is seen as undoubted encouragement to Japan to join the Axis war in Asia, thus preventing further transfer of Eastern Siberian troops to European Russia, and diverting General Wavell's attention from the Caucasus to Eastern India.
