Camp Disbands For Winter

Mary's Creek CCC Boys Are Sent to Reedsport

DETROIT — The Mary's Creek CCC camp has disbanded for the winter months, the enrollees having gone to Reedsport, and all the officers and foremen with the exception of two also have left. Felix Sparks and Mr. Fountain, the two who remained, are finishing some work before their departure. George Lyman is to be caretaker at the camp during its discontinuance.

Russell Hammon, who is attending school in Portland, spent the weekend with his family here. Mrs. Hammon and Kenneth will join him when he has completed a course in welding.

Mrs. Cora Goodman is in Tacoma, Wash., caring for her grandson while his mother is at a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Krane took Mrs. Matt Geston to Salem to visit her husband, who is hospitalized there. They report that Mr. Geston is getting along "as well as can be expected."

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Goodman spent a day at Rainier, Wash., visiting the latter's mother.

DETROIT — A Thanksgiving program under the direction of Mrs. Guy Armstrong was given by the Bible school with the following numbers:

"Count Your Blessings," sung by junior boys; reading, "Thanksgiving Rest," Mrs. Fisher; recitations, Richard Hansen, Nina Fisher; dialogue, junior girls' class; "Blessed Be the Name," ladies' double duet; "The History of Thanksgiving," Mrs. Strake and Mrs. H. W. Beard; "Faith of Our Fathers," sung by young people's class; "All My Life I Give to Jesus," sung by Nina Fisher.

Guy Armstrong, the pastor, spoke on the subject "Where are the Nine?"

Fireman's Home Unhurt

SILVERTON — The fire department was called out Tuesday night to the Fred Cavender home to assist in driving smoke out of the basement. Mr. Cavender, a prominent member of the fire department, had stoked the furnace and then gone over town for a bit. He returned to find the entire house full of smoke and turned in the alarm at once. No damage was done. Mrs. Cavender, who was attending her bridge club, reported that she knew nothing about the "fire" until she returned home but was then "thrilled to find the house all in one piece."

Crown Mine Sale Looms In Near Future At Scio

SCIO — Tentative authorization to directors of the Crown Mining and Milling company to sell or lease on royalty basis was voted by stockholders of the company at annual meeting held here this week.

Proposal to negotiate sale to a prospective purchaser was presented by Jesse Darling of Eugene, dealer in mining stocks. Stipulated price was stated as $200,000. Called meeting in the near future is to take definite action on the matter.

David Schrock of Tangent was re-elected president of the stockholders, numbering about 300. Merle Gilkey and Cyrus Peery were renamed directors, the latter to serve as secretary.

The Crown mine is located in eastern Linn county near Elkhorn, and is said to contain profitable percentage of copper, now needed in defense, as well as precious metals.

Two chauffeur and seven operator license applications were made in Scio Saturday at a state department examination conducted by Louis E. Camplan of the Portland office. No date has been set for another driver's exam at Scio.

Return From Coast

BETHEL — Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hain have returned from a holiday at Taft. They spent a week there and fished on Siletz bay.
