NEW YORK—(AP)—With an empty stomach and a fresh rose in his lapel, Melvin Freeman, 13, of North Philadelphia, was found asleep recently in a top floor hallway of an apartment house. He told police he ran away from home last Saturday with only 4 cents in his pocket. He used the last part of it to buy the rose. "The two things I like best," he told police, "are roses and New York City."

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill.—(AP)—A midnight "snack" is the subject of a police investigation. John Missavage charged that Maxine, a 4-ton elephant, splintered the doors of his feed store the other night and helped herself to huge portions of hay and other feed. The elephant is the mascot of a celebration in honor of the coal industry here.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Reports of a scantily clad blonde lying among the debris of an automobile sent police scurrying to the scene in a mad rush. On arrival they found a large crowd around the unconscious form with a quantity of delicate feminine underthings scattered about. But it didn't take the cops long to see the blonde was a dummy model dislodged from her usual place in the show-window of a lingerie shop by a taxicab which crashed through the plate glass. No one was injured—only the feelings of a few onlookers.
