Federal Agent Discusses City Military Club

A federal security agency official from San Francisco who inspected proposed sites here Saturday for a service men's club indicated a preference for the city water department property at the southwest corner of Liberty and Trade streets, Mayor W. W. Chadwick reported.

The mayor escorted the visitor, Paul E. Carrice, report analyst for the FSA defense health and welfare service, on a tour of sites, which also include the postoffice grounds and waterfront property near the Marion-Polk county bridge.

Mayor Chadwick said the interest of the FSA in a Salem club site might indicate that the army was seriously considering the immediate construction of the Polk-Benton cantonment. The proposed clubhouse would require a property 139 by 169 feet in size.

Sumner, who joined the navy about four years ago, was able to swim ashore and was on his way to the hospital for treatment of injuries when a bomb exploded about five feet from him.

His letter was mailed from San Francisco, where he arrived with a shipload of injured persons. He wrote that he expected to go back

Navy Warns Of Rumors

Thirteenth district naval thorities today reiterated president's warning against rumors and urged all civilians to "kill a rumor by refusing to carry it further." "The regular news agencies are carrying all legitimate navy news which will not be of aid to the enemy," the spokesman said. "Meanwhile hundreds of street rumors are being circulated, some by enemy agentsin an effort to create panic and confusion-but most by unthinking citizens who do not realize they are aiding the enemy by retailing idle gossip." Along with the rumors, the navy officials pointed out, there are occasional facts which generate from defense plants, waterfronts, and even naval stations, which if given wide oral circulation are of genuine assistance to the axis
